A. Giunta, 2012-05. Author J. A. Giunta's epic story of The Ascension continues from The Last Incarnation in book two The Mists of Faeron. Betrayed for a sentient sword called Aislin, his friends dead or dying, Barr woke in the waters and starry dark of a strange realm. A place where living shadows moved about a plane between planes, it was a world of swirling mist that allowed for travel by thought alone. Its benefits were not without cost. There was a balance to maintain, a price in furie to be paid by the Matron of the Mists, Barr's mother. Without Aislin, her strength waned. Each use of the mists opened a portal to the Dark, a brief moment when umbrals could pass through. More than the Matron's life, all of Faeron's, also every life on every world was in danger of being consumed. Rather than face losing the mother he had only just met, Barr was determined to find and return the sword. Meanwhile, Markus and his revenants did the bidding of a mad god. Little stood in their way, but Barr, his friends, and The Mists of Faeron.

In this book, the fourth and final volume of The Summer of Magic Quartet, the Dark Being is poised to conquer Earth, and after that, the Universe. She takes one of the four Magic Children hostage. The others must restore the balance between Light and Dark, but at what cost.

It has often been said that the western Cree came into the west in the wake of the Fur Trade to exploit a position as middlemen. Actual history shows the Cree to have been here long before and to have adapted their historic way of life to take advantage of the fur trade, not for profit but for novelty.
