New French Thought:

New French Thought Mark Lilla, 2014-07-14 The past fifteen years in France have seen a remarkable flourishing of new work in political philosophy This anthology brings into English for the first time essays by some of the best young French political thinkers writing today including Marcel Gauchet Pierre Manent Luc Ferry and Alain Renaut The central theme of these essays is liberal democracy its nature its development its problems its fundamental legitimacy Although these themes are familiar to American and British readers the French approach to them which is profoundly historical and rooted in the tradition of continental philosophy is quite different from our customary one Included in this collection is a series of reconsiderations of French critics of liberal society L vi Strauss Foucault Bourdieu and of classical European liberals Kant Constant Tocqueville The continuing controversies over the nature of the modern era and the place of religion within it play a central role throughout the collection The book includes a debate on the foundations of human rights and on the nature of a liberal political order The concluding section presents some of the new sociological writing on modern individualism its pleasures and its discontents An introduction by Mark Lilla provides the historical background to the revival of French political thought about liberalism and offers an analysis of what American and English readers might learn from it Originally published in 1994 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905

Early Modern French Thought Michael Moriarty, 2003 This book is an examination of three major French thinkers of the seventeenth century Descartes Pascal and Malebranche of whom the latter two are comparatively little studied in the English speaking world It deals with a common attitude of suspicion towards everyday experience which they see as dominated and obscured by sensation imagination and the presence of the body This attitude however obliges them to develop detailed and sophisticated accounts of the shaping of experience not only by the body but by interpersonal and social relationships and of the tension between humannature as it is and as we experience it The treatment of Descartes thus challenges the interpretation that sees him as eliminating the body from subjectivity while that of Pascal and Malebranche shows how their critical attitude towards experience a fertile source for twentieth century French thinkers is linked with their religious doctrines especially their Augustinian emphasis on Original

Educational Philosophy and New French Thought David R. Cole, Joff P. N. Bradley, 2019-02-14 Contemporary French philosophy perhaps reached a high point during the 1970s with the likes of Gilles Deleuze Michel Foucault and Jacques Derrida Since that time thinkers such as Francois Laruelle Bernard Stiegler Quentin Meillassoux and Catherine Malabou have continued on in this strong tradition while deepening and rethinking many of the parameters that have made contemporary French philosophy so powerful and useful for understanding the contemporary condition For example new French thought has reengaged with the relationships between thought science and universal commercial interests and has investigated purposefully the possibilities of post capitalist theorising This book while not exhaustive takes the most pertinent aspects of new French thought and applies them to the philosophy of education In contemporary philosophies of education the repetitions of evidence based and neoliberal theories abound This book serves as an antidote to the levelling off and exhaustion in thought that a capitalist takeover implies while keeping sight of the crucial relationships between science the arts and metaphysical speculation Furthermore this book represents a thoroughgoing thinking through of philosophy of education s relationships with neuroscience new scientific paradigms feminist materialisms anti correlationism technology and the socius and as such constitutes a new philosophy of education This book was originally published as a special issue of Educational Philosophy and Theory f and exhaustion in thought that a capitalist takeover implies while keeping sight of the crucial relationships between science the arts and metaphysical speculation Furthermore this book represents a thoroughgoing thinking through of philosophy of education s relationships with neuroscience new scientific paradigms feminist materialisms anti correlationism technology and the socius and as such constitutes a new philosophy of education This book was originally published as a special issue of Educational Philosophy and Theory French Theory in America Sylvère Lotringer, Sande Cohen, 2001 What does it mean to do theory in America In what ways has French Theory changed American intellectual and artistic life How different is it from what French intellectuals themselves conceived and what does all this tell us about American intellectual life Is French Theory still a significant force in America raising conceptual questions not easily answered In this volume of new work including the French writers Julia Kristeva Jacques Derrida Jean Baudrillard and Gilles Deleuze as well as essays by Sylvère Lotringer and Sande Cohen Mario Biagioli Elie

French Thought and Literary Theory in the UK Irving Goh, 2019-10-21 This collection presents a sort of counter history or counter genealogy of the globalization of French thought from the point of view of scholars working in the UK While the dominating discourse would attribute the US as the source of that globalization particularly through the 1966 conference on the Languages of Criticism and the Sciences of Man at Johns Hopkins University this volume of essays serves as a reminder that the UK has also been a principal motor of that globalization The essays take into account how French thought and literary theory have institutionally taken shape in the UK from the 70s to today highlight aspects of French thought that have been of particular pertinence or importance for scholars there and outline how researchers in the UK today are bringing French thought further in terms of teaching and research in this twenty first century In short this volume traces how the country has been behind the reception and development of French thought in Anglophone worlds from the late 70s to the present

Evolutionism in Eighteenth-century French Thought Mary Efrosini Gregory, 2008 This book examines how eighteenth century French theorists Maillet Montesquieu La Mettrie Buffon Maupertuis Diderot Rousseau and Voltaire addressed evolutionism Each thinker laid down a building block that would eventually open the door to the mutability of species and a departure from the long held belief that the chain of beings is fixed This book describes how the philosophes established a triune relationship among contemporary scientific discoveries random creationism propelled by the motive and conscious properties of matter and the notion of the chain of being along with its corollaries plenitude and continuity Also

Headscarves John R. Bowen,2010-12-16 The French government's 2004 decision to ban Islamic headscarves and other religious signs from public schools puzzled many observers both because it seemed to infringe needlessly on religious freedom and because it was hailed by many in France as an answer to a surprisingly wide range of social ills from violence against females in poor suburbs to anti-Semitism Why the French Don't Like Headscarves explains why headscarves on schoolgirls caused such a furor and why the furor yielded this law Making sense of the dramatic debate from his perspective as an American anthropologist in France at the time John Bowen writes about everyday life and public events while also presenting interviews with officials and intellectuals and analyzing French television programs and other media Bowen argues that the focus on headscarves came from a century old sensitivity to the public presence of religion in schools feared links between public expressions of Islamic identity and radical Islam and a media driven frenzy that built support for a headscarf ban during 2003-2004 Although the defense of laïcité (secularity) was cited as the law's major justification politicians, intellectuals and the media linked the scarves to more concrete social anxieties about communalism, political Islam and violence toward women Written in engaging jargon-free prose Why the French Don't Like Headscarves is the first comprehensive and objective analysis of this subject in any language and it speaks to tensions between assimilation and diversity that extend well beyond France's borders Contemporary France David Howarth,Georgios

Varouxakis,2014-03-18 At least since the French Revolution France has the peculiar distinction of simultaneously fascinating, charming and exasperating its neighbours and foreign observers Contemporary France provides an essential introduction for students of French politics and society exploring contemporary developments while placing them in a deeper historical, intellectual, cultural and social context that makes for insightful analysis Thus chapters on France's economic policy and welfare state, its foreign and European policies and its political movements and recent institutional developments are informed by an analysis of the country's unique political and institutional traditions, distinct forms of nationalism and citizenship, dynamic intellectual life and recent social trends Summaries of key political, economic and social movements and events are displayed as exhibits
