Oxygen Transport To Tissue Seven:

Oxygen Transport to Tissue VII F. Kreuzer, S. M. Cain, Z. Turek, T. K. Goldstick, 2013-11-11 Since there are many different tissues and organs in the body a study of oxygen transport to tissue necessarily involves a great diversity of bodily functions Furthermore these tissue functions can be approached from the viewpoint of several disciplines Even though however all of these approaches must be combined to arrive at a comprehensive picture This multidisciplinary effort though imperative has been implemented slowly because traditional biological science has been largely organ or discipline oriented Initiatives to realize an effective international multidisciplinary collaboration have assumed increasing momentum for the past 20 years These include meetings held in Bad Oeynhausen in 1965 book in 1968 edited by D W Lubbers U C Luft G Thews and E Witzleb in Nijmegen in 1968 book in 1969 edited by F Kreuzer in Vancouver in 1970 J Strauss and in Dortmund in 1971 this last was in connection with the 25th International Physiological Congress in Munich book in 1973 edited by M Kessler D F Bruley L C Clark Jr D W Lubbers I A Silver and J Strauss This increasing international cooperation called for a more formal organization of these individual initiatives The credit for taking this decisive step goes to H I Bicher and D F Bruley from the U S A and D W Lubbers and M Kessler from Germany who got together in 1972 to plan a large scale international meeting and to organize an international society Oxygen Transport to Tissue VII Springer, 2014-01-15

Oxygen Transport to Tissue X M. Mochizuki, 2012-12-06 The International Society on Oxygen Transport to Tissue ISOTT was founded in 1973 to facilitate the exchange of scientific information among those interested in any aspect of the transport and or utilization of oxygen in tissues Its members span virtually all disciplines extending from various branches of clinical medicine such as anesthesiology ophthalmology and surgery through the basic medical sciences of physiology and biochemistry to the physical sciences and engineering The fifteenth annual meeting of ISOTT was held in 1987 for three days from July 22 to 24 at Hokkaido University in Sapporo Japan Previously all ISOTT meetings had been held in Europe or the USA alternatively This time however the meeting was held for the first time in an Asian country When we first started preparing for this meeting some of our members were afraid that the number of those attending would not exceed 30 Fortunately the results were quite different We had more than 60 participants from abroad and an even greater number from Japan In addition to three special lectures and two symposia there were a total of 88 posters presented over the three days of the meeting These covered all aspects of physiological oxygen transport including convection diffusion chemical reaction and control of oxygen demand in blood and various tissues as well as the methods models and instrumentation for their study The 92 papers which comprise this volume encompass all of these areas Tissue Oxygen Utilization Guillermo Gutierrez, Jean L. Vincent, 2012-12-06 Disturbances in peripheral O₂ extraction can be produced in dogs treated with 2 endotoxin and thereby provide an opportunity to test theories for the origin of pathological O₂ supply dependency or to try different treatment modalities The 2 most serious deficiency in the current animal models is the inability to mimic the increased O demand that is observed in patients at O₂ delivery rates in excess of 2 normal A particular feature of this increased O demand is that it apparently does not stimulate increased O₂ extraction although the limitation in O extraction has not been explored in patients by lowering O₂ supply for obvious reasons At least two possibilities to account for increased O₂ demand could be investigated in animal models however The amount of O₂ that is utilized in extramitochondrial pathways which is normally on the order of 10% may be greatly increased in ARDS and sepsis by O radical formation There is presently no information concerning how much O₂ might be used in this way Another strong possibility is that mitochondrial injury perhaps as a result of O₂ radical formation uncouples oxidative phosphorylation Some evidence presently in the literature supports this idea 19 Indeed the association of increased blood lactate levels with higher than expected O₂ demands makes uncoupling a very attractive hypothesis that warrants further investigation in animal models using such agents as 2,4-dinitrophenol References 1
