Boneyards Richard Bak, 2010 An exploration of burial sites and customs in Metro Detroit and the historical and social changes behind our treatment of the dead. From the earliest burial mounds to today's simple street shrines, Boneyards Detroit: Under Ground reveals how Metro Detroiters have interred their dead and honored their memory. Author Richard Bak investigates the history of dozens of local cemeteries and also explores the cultural and business side of dying, from old-fashioned home funerals to the grave robbing resurrectionists of the nineteenth century to modern funeral directors. Bak presents a mix of historic and contemporary photographs to illustrate each site or event alongside lively prose descriptions. Taken together, Bak's informative and often surprising historical snapshots span the entire metro area and three centuries of history. Boneyards visits the area's largest cemeteries, including Elmwood, Woodmere, Mount Olivet, Mount Elliott, and showcases some of their most intricate and unusual monuments. Bak also introduces readers to abandoned graveyards like William Ganong Cemetery in Westland, Millar Cemetery in Clinton Township, and Beth Olem Cemetery inside the GM Poletown Plant. Bak includes photos of some of the city's largest funerals, from those of automaker Henry Ford and orchestra conductor Ossip Gabrilovitch to civil rights icon Rosa Parks and rapper DeShaun Proof Holton. In addition, Bak tells the stories of the ordinary and the unclaimed in local cemeteries along with the social changes, like the creation of a drive-through funeral home in the 1970s, the white flight of interred family members from Detroit cemeteries, and the trend of local cemeteries adding graves that face Mecca to accommodate the growing Muslim population. Ultimately, Bak proves that our treatment of the dead reveals much about our culture and our values. Boneyards will be intriguing reading for Detroit historians, local residents, and anyone interested in the customs of memorializing past generations.

The Expendable Man Dorothy B. Hughes, 2012-07-03 It was surprising what old experiences remembered could do to a presumably educated, civilized man. And Hugh Denismore, a young doctor driving his mother's Cadillac from Los Angeles to Phoenix, is eminently educated and civilized. He is privileged, would seem to have the world at his feet. Even then, why does the sight of a few redneck teenagers disconcert him? Why is he reluctant to pick up a disheveled girl hitchhiking along the desert highway? And why is he the first person the police suspect when she is found dead in Arizona a few days later? Dorothy B.

Hughes ranks with Raymond Chandler and Patricia Highsmith as a master of mid century noir In books like In a Lonely Place and Ride the Pink Horse she exposed a seething discontent underneath the veneer of twentieth century prosperity With The Expendable Man first published in 1963 Hughes upends the conventions of the wrong man narrative to deliver a story that engages readers even as it implicates them in the greatest of all American crimes Official Gazette of the United States Patent Office United States. Patent Office,1974-10 Motion Picture Classic ,1916 America's Classic Ballparks James Buckley Jr.,James Buckley Jr,2022-09-20 America's Classic Ballparks takes you out to the ballgame with the historic and iconic landmarks that amplify American culture and baseball fans alike Cultural Cold Wars and UNESCO in the Twentieth Century W. John Morgan,2024-09-30 Cultural Cold Wars and UNESCO in the Twentieth Century addresses the now considerable interest in the concept of cultural cold war as a means of advancing ideologies The book charts the development of the concept in the twentieth century Structured in two parts Part I considers the League of Nations idealist attempts at international intellectual cooperation It discusses also the first cultural cold war with the Communist International's attempts to advance communism It also analyses the ideological and cultural appeal of Italian fascism German national socialism and Japanese nationalist militarism and the transition from a wartime alliance to a new cold war Part II examines the renewal of international intellectual co operation through the United Nations Educational Scientific and Cultural Organization UNESCO in the context of a second cultural cold war between the capitalist democracies and the communist bloc The book shows that UNESCO became a site of this ideological competition and an example of its tensions Based on original research and a comprehensive review of the literature including in Russian German and French the book will appeal to academics postgraduate researchers advanced undergraduates and others interested in recent international history and the comparative politics of ideas Performances that Change the Americas Stuart Alexander Day,2021-09-16 This collection of essays explores activist performances all connected to theater or performance training that have changed the Americas from Canada to the Southern Cone Through the study of specific examples from numerous countries the authors of this volume demonstrate a crucial shared outlook they affirm that ordinary people change the direction of history through performance This project offers concrete compelling cases that emulate the modus operandi of people like historian Howard Zinn In the same spirit the chapters treat marginal groups whose stories underscore the potentially unstoppable and transformative power of united embodied voices This book will be of great interest to students and scholars of theatre performance art and politics The Compu-mark Directory of U.S. Trademarks ,1989 American Literature in the Era of Trumpism Dolores Resano,2022-08-23 This edited collection offers an exploration of American literature in the age of Trumpism understood as an ongoing sociopolitical and affective reality by bringing together analyses of some of the ways in which American writers have responded to the derealization of political culture in the United States and the experience of a new American reality after 2016 The volume's premise is that the disruptions and dislocations that were so exacerbated by the political ascendancy of Trump and his spectacle laden presidency have unsettled core assumptions about American reality and the possibilities of representation The blurring of the relationship between fact and fiction bolstered by the discourses of fake news and alternative facts has not only drawn attention to the shattering of any notion of shared reality but has also forced a reexamination of the purpose and value of literature especially when considering its troubled relation to the representation of America The authors in this collection respond to the invitation to reassess the workings of fiction and critique in an age of Trumpism by considering some of the most recent literary responses to the new American realities including works by Colson Whitehead Ben Winters Claudia Rankine Gary Shteyngart Jennifer Egan and Steve Erickson to name but a few some of which were composed in the run up to the 2016 election but were able to accurately and incisively imagine the world to come
