Albanese,2023-01-17 Can you draw a clear line through American history from the Puritans to the Nones of today On the surface there is not much connective tissue between the former who often serve as shorthand for a persistent religious fanaticism in the United States and the almost one quarter of the population who now regularly check the None or None of the above box when responding to surveys of religious preference But instead of seeing a disconnect between these two groups separated by time historian Catherine Albanese insists there is a deep connection that spans the centuries With a targeted romp through American history from the seventeenth century to the present Albanese ties together these seemingly disparate groups through a shared and distinctively American preoccupation with delight and desire Albanese begins our journey with the role of delight and desire in the brand of Calvinism championed by renowned Puritan minister Cotton Mather and later Jonathan Edwards She then traces the development of these themes up through the present treating the reader to revelatory readings of Ralph Waldo Emerson Horace Bushnell Andrew Jackson Davis William James Emma Curtis Hopkins Elizabeth Towne and others revealing the contours of an evolving theology of desire The result is an original and entertaining take on an underexamined through line in American history
