Pennsylvania Impressionism:

Pennsylvania Impressionism William H. Gerdtz, Sylvia Yount, 2002-10-25 This magnificent new book has assembled a definitive collection of impressionistic works from the Bucks Country region of eastern Pennsylvania Excellent Bloomsbury Review

The Pennsylvania Impressionists Thomas Folk, 1997 The Pennsylvania Impressionists is the first book to focus on the Pennsylvania School of Landscape Painting Starting in 1898 a group of Impressionist painters began to settle on the outskirts of New Hope Pennsylvania Although largely forgotten by the 1950s these artist comprised a major school of landscape painting Today considerable interest has been generated by this school The leading figure in this group Edward Redfield was noted for his large broadly and vigorously painted snow scenes which he completed at one go or in a single afternoon He developed a major reputation in American art and was awarded more honors and prizes than any other American artist with the exception of John Singer Sargent

The Darby School of Art Mark W. Sullivan, 2023-11-15 This first full length account of the Darby School of Art overturns Philadelphia s long held unwarranted reputation and demonstrates that Philadelphia was a hub of avant garde painting in the early twentieth century This first full length account of the Darby School of Art overturns Philadelphia s long held unwarranted reputation as artistically stodgy unwilling and unable to embrace Impressionism post Impressionist and abstract art and demonstrates that Philadelphia was more avant garde in the early twentieth century than previously thought This is the story of an almost completely forgotten summer art school that flourished first in Darby PA and then in Fort Washington PA between 1898 and 1918 The Darby School of Art was founded and operated by Thomas Anshutz and Hugh Breckenridge two artists who taught during the academic year at the Pennsylvania Academy of the Fine Arts Anshutz and Breckenridge brought a lot of new ideas about painting back to Philadelphia after their European sojourns and introduced those ideas to a public that was initially not very responsive to Impressionism Post Impressionism and semi abstract art But an appreciation for modern styles of painting began to slowly grow among Philadelphia artists and collectors and Anshutz and Breckenridge were in the forefront of this development They also sympathized with what some have called the New Woman movement which backed women who wanted to pursue careers outside of the home In this new history expert Mark Sullivan argues that the Philadelphia area was a genuine hub of avant garde painting in the early twentieth century even though it has earned the reputation of lagging far behind New York City in its openness to new styles of painting It also discusses how the Darby School should be recognized as an institution that got behind the idea of women as professional artists at a time when that concept was quite radical
