People Society And Mass Communications:

People, Society, and Mass Communications Lewis Anthony Dexter, 1964 People, Society, and Mass Communications David Manning White, 1964 People, Society, and Mass Communications Lewis Anthony Dexter, David Manning White, 1966 People, Society, and Mass Communications Lewis Anthony Dexter, David Manning White, 1964 McQuail's Mass Communication Theory Denis McQuail, 2010-02-28

Denis McQuail's Mass Communication Theory is not just a seminal text in the study of media and society; it is a benchmark for understanding and appreciating the long and winding road people and their media have taken to get us here. Mark Deuze, Indiana University and Leiden University. This is a unique work tested by time and generations of students around the world. North, South, East, and West. Kaarle Nordenstreng, University of Tampere. McQuail's Mass Communication Theory continues to be the clearest and best introduction to this sprawling field. Anders Hansen, University of Leicester. With over 125,000 copies sold, McQuail's Mass Communication Theory has been the benchmark for studying media and communication for more than 25 years. It remains the most authoritative and comprehensive introduction to the field and offers unmatched coverage of the research literature. It covers everything a student needs to know of the diverse forms of mass communication today, including television, radio, newspapers, film, music, the internet, and other forms of new media. Denis McQuail shows that more than ever, theories of mass communication matter for the broader understanding of society and culture. Unmatched in coverage and used across the globe, this book includes explorations of new media, globalization, work, economy, governance, policy, media audiences, and effects. New boxed case studies on key research publications to familiarize students with the critical research texts in the field. Definitions, examples, and illustrations throughout to bring abstract concepts to life. McQuail's Mass Communication Theory is the indispensable resource; no student of media and communication studies can afford to be without it. Mass Media and Society in Nigeria Lai Oso, Umaru Pate, 2012-05-30

This collection of essays originates from discussions at various fora about the need for Nigerian media scholars to analyse the country's media industry and practice. Some of the areas covered are: Socio-historical context of the development of Nigerian media; A critical analysis of state press relations in Nigeria; 1999-2005 Journalism ethics in Nigeria; and Newspapers' portrayal of human rights abuses in periods of economic deregulation in Nigeria. The Management of Purpose Lewis Anthony Dexter, 2017-09-08

Lewis Anthony Dexter may well have been one of the better known and least appreciated political scientists of the last century. This outstanding collection of Dexter's writings demonstrates why Dexter remains important. The volume offers solid reasons for researching the topics Dexter pioneered and is a masterful guide to his thought and analyses. Dexter's writings derive from a multifaceted career. The Management of Purpose is organized into three broad subject areas: sociology, political science, and practicing social science. Dexter's notions of what constituted sociology and anthropology and his understandings of these areas and how to use them to illumine political matters are unusual. His use of multiple types of evidence, including history and logic, enables him to make significant contributions to the study of society's response to social problems His work on labeling theory shows that social labels have a power that both transcends and distorts reality Dexter was also a pioneer in the interactionist perspective linking the labeled and those doing the labeling and in demonstrating how organizations tend to compartmentalize and specialize Dexter's work provides the analytic tools to enable readers to better understand many of the issues that remain a part of the American political landscape Power and Policy in Quest of Law Myres S. McDougal, W.M. Reisman, 2024-09-02 Mass Media James B.
