Edited by Malvina Bolus North American Fur Trade Conference, 2D, Winnipeg, Man., 1970, Melvina Bolus (Ed), 1972      The Prairie West: Historical Readings R. Douglas Francis, Howard Palmer, 1992 This collection of 35 readings on Canadian prairie history includes overview interpretation and current research on topics such as the fur trade native peoples ethnic groups status of women urban and rural society the Great Depression and literature and art      Canadian History: Beginnings to Confederation Martin Brook Taylor, Doug Owram, 1994-01-01 In these two volumes which replace the Reader's Guide to Canadian History experts provide a select and critical guide to historical writing about pre and post Confederation Canada with an emphasis on the most recent scholarship Cover      Bridging National Borders in North America Benjamin Johnson, Andrew R Graybill, 2010-04-07 A collection of essays by historians of the Canadian U S border region and those focused on the Mexican U S border examining borderlands events and phenomena from the mid nineteenth century through the mid twentieth      Keepers of the Game Calvin Martin, 2023-11-15 Examines the effects of European contact and the fur trade on the relationship between Indians and animals in eastern Canada from Lake Winnipeg to the Canadian Maritimes focusing primarily on the Ojibwa Cree Montagnais Naskapi and Micmac tribes Examines the effects of European contact and the fur trade on the relationship between Indians and animals in eastern Canada from Lake Winnipeg to the Canadian Maritimes focusing primarily on the Ojibwa Cree Montagnais Naskapi and Micmac tribes      Lake Clark National Park and Preserve, Alaska Harlan D. Unrau, 1994      Frontier Seaport Catherine Cangany, 2024-05-31 Detroit's industrial health has long been crucial to the American economy Today's troubles notwithstanding Detroit has experienced multiple periods of prosperity particularly in the second half of the eighteenth century when the city was the center of the thriving fur trade Its proximity to the West as well as its access to the Great Lakes and the St Lawrence River positioned this new metropolis at the intersection of the fur rich frontier and the Atlantic trade routes In Frontier Seaport Catherine Cangany details this seldom discussed chapter of Detroit's history She argues that by the time of the American Revolution Detroit functioned much like a coastal town as a result of the prosperous fur trade serving as a critical link in a commercial chain that stretched all the way to Russia and China thus opening Detroit's shores for eastern merchants and other transplants This influx of newcomers brought its own transatlantic networks and fed residents' desires for popular culture and manufactured merchandise Detroit began to be both a frontier town and seaport city a mixed identity Cangany argues that hindered it from becoming a thoroughly American metropolis      Plains Indian History and Culture John Canfield Ewers, 1997 Plains Indian History and Culture an engaging collection of articles and essays reflects John C Ewers' multifaceted approach to Indian history an approach that combines his far reaching interest in American history generally his professional training in anthropology and his many decades of experience as a field worker and museum curator The author has drawn on interviews collected during a quarter century of fieldwork with Indian elders who in recalling their own experiences during the buffalo days revealed unique insights into Plains Indian life Ewers use his expertise in examining Indian made artifacts and drawings as well as photographs taken by non Indian artists who had firsthand contact with Indians He throws new light on important changes in Plains Indian culture on the history of intertribal relations and on Indian relation with whites traders missionaries soldiers settlers and the U S Government

The Oxford Handbook of Zooarchaeology Umberto Albarella, Mauro Rizzetto, Hannah Russ, Kim Vickers, Sarah Viner-Daniels, 2017-03-23 Animals have played a fundamental role in shaping human history and the study of their remains from archaeological sites zooarchaeology has gradually been emerging as a powerful discipline and crucible for forging an understanding of our past The Oxford Handbook of Zooarchaeology offers a cutting edge compendium of zooarchaeology the world over that transcends environmental economic and social approaches seeking instead to provide a holistic view of the roles played by animals in past human cultures Incisive chapters written by leading scholars in the field incorporate case studies from across five continents from Iceland to New Zealand and from Japan to Egypt and Ecuador providing a sense of the dynamism of the discipline the many approaches and methods adopted by different schools and traditions and an idea of the huge range of interactions that have occurred between people and animals throughout the world and its history Adaptations of human animal relationships in environments as varied as the Arctic temperate forests deserts the tropics and the sea are discussed while studies of hunter gatherers farmers herders fishermen and even traders and urban dwellers highlight the importance that animals have had in all forms of human societies With an introduction that clearly contextualizes the current practice of zooarchaeology in relation to both its history and the challenges and opportunities that can be expected for the future and a methodological glossary illuminating the way in which zooarchaeologists approach the study of their material this Handbook will be invaluable not only for specialists in the field but for anybody who has an interest in our past and the role that animals have played in forging it

The Fur Trade Revisited Jo-Anne Fisk, 2011-06-01 The Fur Trade Revisited is a collection of twenty eight essays selected from the more than fifty presentations made at the Sixth North American Fur Trade Conference held on Mackinac Island Michigan in the fall of 1991 Essays contained in this important new interpretive work focus on the history archaeology and literature of a fascinating growing area of scholarly investigation Underscoring the work s multifaceted approach is an introductory essay by Lily McAuley titled Memories of a Trapper s Daughter This vivid and compelling account of the fur trade life sets a level of quality for what follows Part one of The Fur Trade Revisited discusses eighteenth century fur trade intersections with European markets The essays in part two examine Native people and the strategies they employed to meet demands placed on them by the market for furs Part three examines the origins motives and careers of those who actually participated in the fur trade Part four focuses attention on the indigenous fur trade culture and subsequent archaeology in the area around

Mackinac Island Michigan while part five contains studies focusing on the fur trade culture in other parts of North America Part six assesses the fur trade after 1870 and part seven contains evaluations of the critical historical and literary interpretations prevalent in fur trade scholarship The Western Canadian Anthropologist, 1984 Partners in Furs Daniel Francis, Toby Elaine Morantz, 1983 An investigation of the effects of the fur trade on the social patterns of the Algonquian peoples living in the eastern James Bay region from 1600 to 1870 Voices from Hudson Bay Flora Beardy, Robert Coutts, 1996 In Voices from Hudson Bay Cree elders recall the daily lives and experiences of the men and women who lived and worked at the Hudson's Bay Company post at York Factory in Manitoba Their stories their memories of family community and daily life define their past and provide insights into a way of life that has largely disappeared in northern Canada

A Bibliography of Northern Manitoba Richard A. Enns, 1991-01-01 Much has been written about the history and the people of northern Manitoba but until now this body of work has not been readily accessible to the researcher or teacher This bibliography identifies published sources such as books and magazine and journal articles as well as unpublished sources that are available to the public including academic theses and government pamphlets reports and studies It includes primarily materials dealing with the area north of 53rd parallel of latitude but it also includes material on the area east of Lake Winnipeg as far south as the 51st parallel a region that is similar to the North References are listed under seven topics bibliographies and research aids the fur trade Aboriginal and Métis populations exploration and travel accounts church and mission histories northern geography and resources and community histories and twentieth century resource exploitation
