Food Production in the People's Republic of China Anthony M. Tang, Bruce Stone, 1980 Abstract A population of one billion people has the potential for enormous impact on the world food supply but demographic and food production data for the People's Republic of China have been difficult to obtain. In an effort to fill this gap two papers are presented which attempt to synthesize and analyze as much information as is available and make predictions of probable trends in agriculture and related fields in the year 2000 and for the 1985 grain program. Records from 1952-77 are used to estimate cultivated land, animals, energy consumption, farm machinery, fertilizer, and output of grains, soybeans, and cotton. The effects of industrialization and resources are considered. Trends are toward population control although total demand will continue to grow. Emphasis on agriculture seems to indicate that production will be capable of keeping up with demand, may result in some dietary improvement but will not provide for emergency supplies.

Handbook for Asian Studies Specialists Noriko Asato, 2013-10-08 An indispensable tool for librarians who do reference or collection management, this work is a pioneering offering of expertly selected print and electronic reference tools for East Asian Studies. Chinese, Japanese, and Korean. Handbook for Asian Studies Specialists. A Guide to Research Materials and Collection Building Tools is the first work to cover reference works for the main Asian area languages of China, Japan, and Korea. Several leading Asian Studies librarians have contributed their many decades of experience to create a resource that gathers major reference titles both print and online that would be useful to today's Asian Studies librarian. Organized by language group, it offers useful information on the many subscription-based and open source electronic tools relevant to Asian Studies. This book will serve as an essential resource for reference collections at academic libraries. Previously published bibliographies on materials deal with China or Japan or Korea but none have coalesced information on all three countries into one work or are written in English. And unlike the other resources available, this work provides the insight needed for librarians to make informed collection management decisions and reference selections.
