Professional Development for Practitioners in Academia Jill Dickinson, Teri-Lisa Griffiths, 2023-07-31 This multi-disciplinary collection addresses issues relating to current or former practitioners within the context of higher education. Drawing together a range of voices, the contributors explore contemporary issues organised around three core themes: professional identities, professional development, and teaching practice. Underpinned by theoretical frameworks, reporting empirical findings, and adopting a reflective lens, this critical examination draws on a range of experiences to provide a deeper understanding of the contribution of academics within the sector for stakeholders including leaders, policy makers, and professional bodies, and current and future academics. Dedicated to highlighting the potential of the academic contribution, this collection explores key topics including building networks, practice-informed teaching, consultancy, and collaborative research. Contributions investigate some of the practical barriers faced by academics making the transition into higher education, including imposter syndrome, cultural adjustment, and managing dual professional identities. The aim of this collection is to champion the benefits of a diverse academy for everyone involved. The Complete Idiot's Guide to Teaching College Anthony D. Fredericks, 2007 Discover how college
