River Road To China The Mekong River Expedition 18661873:

River Road to China Milton Osborne, 2007-12-01 A compelling finely researched account of an adventure that was hailed as one of the grandest explorations of the nineteenth century The Washington Post A New York Times Notable Book In 1866 six Frenchmen set out on a dangerous mission to seek a trade route up the Mekong During the two years that followed they would journey through more than four thousand miles of unmapped territory from the tropical heat of the swamps of Vietnam and Cambodia to the bitter cold of the mountain ranges of southwestern China Their historic expedition is the dramatic subject of River Road to China a story of courage endurance and determination in the face of unpredictable dangers and near insurmountable odds This edition has been updated to include a new postscript by the author and more than thirty full color illustrations by the expedition's artist The highest of high adventure Osborne's documentation is flawless The New Yorker As exciting as it is historically illuminating A tale of heroism that has seldom been duplicated spurred by the continuing fatal attraction of the Great River The New Republic River Road to China Milton E. Osborne, 1976 Narrative of the nineteenth century expedition along the Mekong River River Road to China Milton E. Osborne, 1996 The Mekong: A Socio-legal Approach to River Basin Development Ben Boer, Philip Hirsch, Fleur Johns, Ben Saul, Natalia Scurrah, 2015-12-22 An international river basin is an ecological system an economic thoroughfare a geographical area a font of life and livelihoods a geopolitical network and often a cultural icon It is also a socio legal phenomenon This book is the first detailed study of an international river basin from a socio legal perspective The Mekong River Basin which sustains approximately 70 million people across Cambodia China Laos Myanmar Thailand and Vietnam provides a prime example of the socio legal complexities of governing a transboundary river and its tributaries The book applies its socio legal analysis to bring a fresh approach to understanding conflicts surrounding water governance in the Mekong River Basin The authors describe the wide range of uses being made of legal doctrine and legal argument in ongoing disputes surrounding hydropower development in the Basin putting to rest lingering caricatures of a single ASEAN way of navigating conflict They call into question some of the common assumptions concerning the relationship between law and development The book also sheds light on important questions concerning the global hybridization or crossover of public and private power and its ramifications for water governance With current debates and looming conflicts over water governance globally and over shared rivers in particular these issues could not be more pressing River Road Through Laos James A. Hafner, Joel Martin Halpern, Barbara Kerewsky- Halpern, 1986 Negotiated Power in Late Imperial China Jennifer Rudolph, 2010-02-28 Negotiated Power in Late Imperial China The Zongli Yamen and the Politics of Reform explores the nature and functioning of reform during the nineteenth century of China's Qing dynasty 1644 1911 By analyzing the bureaucratic modes of management that developed around the creation and evolution of the Zongli Yamen or Foreign Office 1861 1901 the book demonstrates the vitality of not only the Chinese State but also the institutional traditions of its Manchu rulers Drawing on precedent and the flexibility of the administrative system in their efforts to manage the conduct of foreign affairs high Qing ministers transformed opportunities for institutional dynamism into the reality of a functioning central Zongli Yamen with a foreign affairs field administration supporting it in the provinces In the process they altered the governmental hierarchy and changed the definition of institutional power in the multi faceted area of foreign affairs and more generally for the Qing bureaucracy As the most significant example of institutional development in China s critical period of the nineteenth century the Zongli Yamen s experience serves as valuable background for understanding reform efforts in late imperial China and beyond

Asian Borderlands Charles Patterson Giersch,2006 With comparative frontier history and pioneering use of indigenous sources Giersch provides a groundbreaking challenge to the China centered narrative of the Qing conquest He focuses on the Tai domains of the Yunnan frontier on the politically fluid borderlands where local indigenous leaders were crucial actors in an arena of imperial rivalry

Regionalism in China-Vietnam Relations Oliver Hensengerth,2009-09-10 This book analyses collaboration in the Greater Mekong Subregion It explores inter state cooperation and the role of subnational units provincial and local governments and transnational actors NGOs firms in building and maintaining the subregion It also considers the relationships between actors on the three levels their influences within the structures of decision making in the GMS their policy pronouncements and roles in the GMS After exploring the historical background of cooperation in the GMS the author discusses how far cooperation in the GMS has developed from the mere promotion of the national interest of individual states towards an institution as an independent actor able to influence relationships between its member states instead of only being influenced by them Hensengerth scrutinises the nature of GMS cooperation and the character and capabilities of the institution of the GMS exemplified by the bilateral relations between China and Vietnam Here the study will combine the analysis of subregionalism and institution building in the GMS with an analysis of China Vietnam relations by combining theoretical approaches to regional integration in the form of the regime approach with foreign policy analysis This book will appeal to academics within international relations Southeast Asian regional and China or Vietnam country specialists The Range of the River Iftekhar Iqbal, 2025-12-02 Spanning nearly 4 million square kilometers the Tibetan river system including the Brahmaputra Irrawaddy Salween Mekong Red and Yangzi forms the largest contiguous network of rivers on the planet stretching across eastern South Asia mainland Southeast Asia and southern China The Range of the River uncovers the entwined histories of these vast waterways and the empires human actors and other than human forces that have shaped Asia since the 1850s Both ethnodiverse and biodiverse these rivers were more than contested imperial spaces they were also channels of communal and material exchange linking near and distant contact zones They fostered connections across Asia driving commerce mobility and cultural encounters that transformed them into shared living commons bridging societies political powers and economic interests Tracing six major rivers across eight countries Iftekhar Iqbal argues that these river systems formed the core of a discursive space where empires regional political forces ethnic groups boaters peddlers explorers merchants and mules encountered each other in layered meanings and movements This groundbreaking book reimagines the river not as merely a tool of empire but as a dynamic force in itself shaping a truly transregional Asia By weaving together diverse riverine life worlds The Range of the River invites us to rethink Asia's spatial history River Road to China Milton Osborne, 1975

Cambodia and the West, 1500-2000 T. O. Smith, 2018-03-19 This volume brings together an interdisciplinary team of established and emerging scholars from the disciplines of history political science and communication studies to provide a historical reappraisal of Cambodia's relationships with the West Contributors to the volume examine moments of historical import in Cambodia's history from the sixteenth to the twenty first century These include Cambodia's first contacts with European mercantilism the establishment of formal French colonialism and commercialism British peace enforcement and diplomacy after the Second World War independence modernisation and the onset of the Cold War and the United Nations peace process and the Khmer Rouge genocide tribunal of more recent times The result is a unique and significant new analysis of some of Cambodia's most controversial interactions with the West demonstrating how far the West has shaped the development of Cambodia in the contemporary epoch Smallholders and Stockbreeders P. Boomgaard, David E.F. Henley, 2021-11-15 Historians of Southeast Asia have traditionally preferred to write about politics and culture rather than economics and ecology and where they have looked at the history of agriculture they have most often concentrated on cash crops like sugar coffee and rubber which figure prominently in colonial records Smallholders and stockbreeders by contrast provides a rare survey of the history of foodcrop farming and a unique look at the history of animal husbandry in the Southeast Asian region Thirteen contributions by an international selection of expert authors cover topics ranging from the agricultural economy of precolonial Java to the growth of rice production in the Mekong Delta since 1950 and from the breeding of horses on the northern borderlands of mainland Southeast Asia to the production and consumption of beef in the Philippines New light is shed on old questions regarding the directions in which Southeast Asian agriculture has evolved over the centuries and new questions raised regarding the cultural demographic economic and political determinants of farming practices While the geographical and chronological scales of analysis vary most chapters deal with relatively large areas and with developments over periods of 100 years or more Besides production for subsistence commercial aspects of livestock and foodcrop farming are also given due attention and prove to have been important in many parts of the region from very early periods Smallholders and stockbreeders is essential reading for anyone interested in the agricultural history of Southeast Asia whether for its own sake or in connection with other aspects of regional history or for purposes of comparison with other parts of the world Before the Killing Fields Leslie Fielding, 2007-10-24 This is a gripping portrait of a country poised between peace and war In the mid 1960s Cambodia's position within South East Asia was highly vulnerable The Americans were embroiled in war in Vietnam the Viet Cong were gaining clandestine control over Cambodian frontier areas while the Cambodian government under the leadership of a charming but difficult Head of State Prince Norodom Sihanouk wanted nothing more than to preserve their neutrality and keep out of the war Highly distrustful of any perceived foreign interference the Cambodians had even rioted and attacked the American and British Embassies in Phnom Penh and their debris was still strewn on the streets when Leslie Fielding arrived in the city Yet against this grim and dramatic backdrop the daily round of international foreign policy somehow had to continue and Before the Killing Fields offers a compelling and fascinating account of how this was achieved As well as a political history this is also a portrait of an exotic but overlooked country at a critical stage in its development Violence intrigue and even the supernatural mingle with issues of day to day management and office morale From diplomatic meetings conducted in opium dens and dancing lessons with beautiful princesses at the Royal Palace to candid portraits of the rest of the international community of Phnom Penh Before the Killing Fields is an illuminating insight into a lost world Dreams of the Hmong Kingdom Mai Na M. Lee,2015-06-16 Authoritative and original Dreams of the Hmong Kingdom is among the first works of its kind exploring the influence that French colonialism and Hmong leadership had on the Hmong people s political and social aspirations The Archaeology of Mainland Southeast Asia Charles Higham,1991 This important new synthesis focuses on the social world of early mainland Southeast Asia Critical Landscape Planning during the Belt and Road Initiative Ashley Scott Kelly,Xiaoxuan Lu,2021-09-29 This open access book traces the development of landscapes along the 414 kilometer China Laos Railway one of the first infrastructure projects implemented under China s Belt and Road Initiative BRI and which is due for completion at the end of 2021 Written from the perspective of landscape architecture and intended for planners and related professionals engaged in the development and conservation of these landscapes this book provides history planning pedagogy and interdisciplinary framing for working alongside the often opaque planning design and implementation processes of large scale infrastructure It complicates simplistic notions of development and urbanization frequently reproduced in the Laos China frontier region Many of the projects and sites investigated in this book are recent firsts in Laos Laos s first wildlife sanctuary for trafficked endangered species its first botanical garden and its first planting plan for a community forest Most often the agents and accomplices of neoliberal development the planning and design professions including landscape architecture have little dialogue with either the mainstream natural sciences or critical social sciences that form the discourse of projects in Laos and comparable contexts Covering diverse conceptions and issues of development including cultural and scientific knowledge exchanges between Laos and China nature tourism connectivity and new town planning this book also features nine planning proposals for Laos generated through this research initiative since the railway s groundbreaking in 2016 Each proposal promotes a wider landscape approach to development and deploys landscape architecture s spatial and ecological acumen to synthesize critical development studies with the planner s capacity if not naive predilection to intervene on the ground Ultimately this book advocates the cautious engagement of the professionally oriented built environment disciplines such as regional planning civil engineering and landscape architecture with the landscapes of development institutions and environmental NGOs Asia in the Making of Europe, Volume III: A Century of Advance. Book 4 Donald F. Lach,Donald Frederick Lach,Edwin J. Van Kley,1965 First systematic inclusive study of the impact of the high civilizations of Asia on the development of modern Western civilization
