Subjectivity Ruth Robbins,2005-04-20 Who do you think you are In Subjectivity Ruth Robbins explores some of the responses to this fundamental question In readings of a number of autobiographical texts from the last three centuries Robbins offers an approachable account of formations of the self which demonstrates that both psychology and material conditions often in tension with one another are the building blocks of modern notions of selfhood Key texts studied include William Wordsworth s Prelude Thomas De Quincey s Confessions of an English Opium Eater James Joyce s A Portrait of the Artist as a Young Man Oscar Wilde s De Profundis Jung Chang s Wild Swans Robbins also argues that our subjectivity far from being the secure possession of the individual is potentially fragile and contingent She shows that the versions of subjectivity authorized by the dominant culture are full of gaps and blindspots that undo any notion of universal human nature subjectivity is culturally and historically specific we are in part what the culture in which we live permits us to be

Concise and easy to follow this introduction to the concept of subjectivity and the theories surrounding it shows that in spite of the insecurity of selfhood there is still much to be gained from the textual encounter with other selves It is essential reading for all those studying autobiography or autobiographical writing Writing Feminist Lives Malin Lidström Brock,2017-05-05 This book draws attention to the controversy that surrounds Betty Friedan Germaine Greer Gloria Steinem and Simone de Beauvoir s lives and the important role that their life stories have played in their feminist writing Directly and indirectly the four women have contributed to battles over feminism s meaning through autobiographically informed political writing Inevitably therefore their biographers are also participants in these battles yet not always on the same side as their subjects Writing Feminist Lives introduces a further fold of nuance into considerations of biography and feminism by showing that the biographers of the four women have made methodological choices that reflect their loyalty to or their scepticism towards competing ideological definitions of the exemplary feminist life Writing Out of Limbo Nina Sichel,Elaine Neil Orr,Faith Eide,2011-09-22 Crossing borders and boundaries countries and cultures they are the children of the military diplomatic corps international business education and missions communities They are called Third Culture Kids or Global Nomads and the many benefits of their lifestyle expanded worldview multiplicity of languages tolerance for difference are often mitigated by recurring losses of relationships of stability of permanent roots They are part of an accelerating demographic that is only recently coming into visibility In this groundbreaking collection writers from around the world address issues of language acquisition and identity formation childhood mobility and adaptation memory and grief and the artist s struggle to articulate the experience of growing up global And woven like a thread through the entire collection runs the individual s search for belonging and a place called home This book provides a major leap in understanding what it s like to grow up among worlds It is invaluable reading for the new global age Warrior Poet Alexis De Veaux,2004 The long awaited first biography of the author of The Cancer Journals an American icon of womanhood poetry African American arts and survival Making Trouble Lynne Segal,2017-06-06 What happens when angry young rebels become wary older women ageing in a leaner meaner time a time which exalts only the new in a ruling orthodoxy daily disparaging all it portrays as the old Delving into her own life and those of others who left their mark on it Lynne Segal tracks through time to consider her generation of female dreamers what formed them how they left their mark on the world where they are now in times when pessimism seems never far from what remains of public life Searching for answers she studies her family history sexual awakening ethnic belonging as well as the peculiarities of the time and place that shaped her own political journeys with all their urgency significance pleasures and absurdities Reflective Reading and the Power of Narrative Karyn Sproles,2018-07-11 Reflective Reading and the Power of Narrative Producing the Reader is an interdisciplinary exploration into the profound power of narratives to create and recreate how we imagine ourselves It posits that the process of producing a text also produces the reader Written from the perspective of a psychoanalytic feminist Sproles considers a wide array of examples from literature popular culture and her own experiences to illustrate what she calls reflective reading a metacognitive reading practice that recognizes the workings of the unconscious to push the reader toward a potentially transformational engagement with narrative This may manifest as epiphany recovery from loss or resolution of repressed trauma Each chapter draws on examples of characters and authors who model a reflective reading process from Jane Austen and Virginia Woolf to Johnny Cash and Alison Bechdel By reclaiming the role of the unconscious Karyn Sproles reinvigorates the theoretical work begun by reader response criticism and develops a deep understanding of identification and transference as an integral part of the reading process For students and researchers of cultural studies psychoanalysis gender studies and feminist literature and theory Reflective Reading and the Power of Narrative offers innovative and accessible ideas on the relationship between reader and text The Open Access version of this book available at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4.0 license

Adaptation, Intermediality and the British Celebrity Biopic Márta Minier, Maddalena Pennacchia, 2016-03-23 Beginning with the premise that the biopic is a form of adaptation and an example of intermediality this collection examines the multiplicity of source texts and the convergence of different media in this genre alongside the concurrent issues of fidelity and authenticity that accompany this form The contributors focus on big and small screen biopics of British celebrities from the late twentieth and twenty first centuries attending to their myth making and myth breaking potential Related topics are the contemporary British biopic's participation in the production and consumption of celebrated lives and the biopic's generic fluidity and hybridity as evidenced in its relationship to such forms as the bio docudrama Offering case studies of film biographies of literary and cultural icons including Elizabeth I Elizabeth II Diana Princess of Wales John Lennon Shakespeare Jane Austen Beau Brummel Carrington and Beatrix Potter the essays address how British identity and heritage are interrogated in the re telling and showing of these lives and how the reimagining of famous lives for the screen is influenced by recent processes of manufacturing celebrity

Magedera, 2014-09-01 Concerning itself with biography and bio fiction written in English and in French and also taking in American and Australian subjects Outsider Biographies focuses on writers who have a criminal record and on notorious criminals who authors of bio fiction consider as writers It pursues an understanding of the formal effects of life writers struggles between championing their subjects and a deep ambivalence towards their subjects crimes The book analyses the challenge that these literary outsiders present to the mainstream French and English language traditions where many biographers assign merit to productive lives well lived The book s approach illuminates both differences in those traditions from the mid eighteenth to the twenty first century and a convergence between them evident in the experimental cum fictional devices in recent English language biography Outsider Biographies advances wide ranging new interpretations of the biographical writing on each of its seven subjects but does so in a way that invites the reader picking up the book out of a passion for just one of those subjects to follow the thread onto another and yet another

Racial Asymmetries Stephen Hong Sohn, 2014 Challenging the tidy links among authorial position narrative perspective and fictional content Stephen Hong Sohn argues that Asian American authors have never been limited to writing about Asian American characters or contexts Racial Asymmetries specifically examines the importance of first person narration in Asian American fiction published in the postrace era focusing on those cultural productions in which the author s ethnoracial makeup does not directly overlap with that of the storytelling perspective Through rigorous analysis of novels and short fiction such as Sesshu Foster s Atomik Aztex Sabina Murray s A Carnivore s Inquiry and Sigrid Nunez s The Last of Her Kind Sohn reveals how the construction of narrative perspective allows the Asian American writer a flexible aesthetic canvas upon which to engage issues of oppression and inequity power and subjectivity and the complicated construction of racial identity Speaking to concerns running through postcolonial studies and American literature at large Racial Asymmetries employs an interdisciplinary approach to reveal the unbounded nature of fictional worlds Stephen Hong Sohn is Assistant Professor of English at Stanford University He is the co editor of Transnational Asian American Literature Sites and Transits The Chartist General Edward Beasley, 2016-11-03 General Charles James Napier was sent to confront the tens of thousands of Chartist protestors marching through the cities of the North of England in the late 1830s. A well known leftist who agreed with the Chartist demands for democracy, Napier managed to keep the peace. In South Asia the same man would later provoke a war and conquer Sind. In this first ever scholarly biography of Napier, Edward Beasley asks how the conventional depictions of the man as a peacemaker in England and a warmonger in Asia can be reconciled. Employing deep archival research and close readings of Napier's published books, ignored by prior scholars, this well written volume demonstrates that Napier was a liberal imperialist who believed that if freedom was right for the people of England, it was right for the people of Sind, even if freedom had to be imposed by military force. Napier also confronted the messy aftermath of Western conquest, carrying out nation building with mixed success, trying to end the honour killing of women and eventually discovering the limits of imperial interference.

Public and Popular History Jerome De Groot, 2013-09-13 This interdisciplinary collection considers public and popular history within a global framework, seeking to understand considerations of local domestic histories and the ways they interact with broader discourses. Grounded in particular local and national situations, the book addresses the issues associated with popular history in a globalised cultural world, such as how the study of popular history might work in the future, new ways in which the terms popular and public might inform one another, and nuance scholarship transnational intercultural models of pastness, cultural translatability, and the demand for high quality work on new technologies and history. A wide range of international contributors consider a broad selection of locale and media, from American television and Canadian heritage to the representation of history in contemporary Chinese culture. They consider the way in which the study of public or popular texts invoke multiple historiographies and demonstrate our need to think about public and popular aspects of the past in new emerging locales, such as China, Eastern Europe, and South America. This book was originally published as a special issue of the journal Rethinking History.

Watching YouTube Michael Strangelove, 2010-04-30 An anonymous musician plays Pachelbel's Canon on the electric guitar in a clip that has been viewed over sixty million times. The Dramatic Gopher is viewed over sixteen million times, as is a severely inebriated David Hasselhoff attempting to eat a hamburger. Over 800 variations, parodies, and parodies of parodies are uploaded of Beyoncé Knowles' Single Ladies dance. Tay Zonday sings Chocolate Rain in a video viewed almost forty million times and scores himself a record deal. Obama Girl enters the political arena with contributions such as I Got a Crush on Obama and gets coverage in mainstream news networks. In Watching YouTube, Michael Strangelove provides a broad overview of the world of amateur online videos and the people who make them. Dr Strangelove, the Governor General Literary Award nominated author that Wired Magazine called a guru of Internet advertising, describes how online digital video is both similar to and different from traditional home movie making and argues that we are moving into a post television era characterized by mass participation. Strangelove draws from television, film, cultural, and media studies to help define an entirely new field of research: Online practices of representation confessional video diaries gendered uses of amateur video and debates over elections religion and armed conflicts make up the bulk of this groundbreaking study which is supplemented by an online blog at strangelove.com blog An innovative and timely study Watching YouTube raises questions about the future of cultural memory identity politics warfare and family life when everyday representational practices are altered by four billion cameras in the hands of ordinary people
