Mobility And Travel In The Mediterranean From Antiquity To The Middle Ages:

Harris, 2006-10-27 In this collection of essays an international group of renowned scholars attempt to establish the theoretical basis for studying the ancient and medieval history of the Mediterranean Sea and the lands around it In so doing they range far afield to other Mediterraneans real and imaginary as distant as Brazil and Japan Their work is an essential tool for understanding the Mediterranean pre modern and modern alike It speaks to ancient and medieval historians to archaeologists anthropologists and all historians with environmental interests and not least to classicists

Mandeville's Travails Francis Tobienne Jr., 2016-06-20 This book offers a critical methodology for analyzing travel literature The subject of travel literature as well as travel literatures have not always been regarded with respect or given much critical attention In order to amend this lack of positive reception Francis Tobienne Jr analyzes the late medieval text Mandeville's Travels specifically the Cotton MS This text though not overly popular currently was among the most popular pieces of literature for well beyond its fourteenth century inception in some three hundred manuscripts divided into three groups as well as early printed editions further this text offers a way in which to approach other pieces of travel literature To facilitate this critical process Tobienne proposes a seven part method 1 Identify and Define the Problem 2 Make Observations 3 Look for Regularities 4 Wonder Why Regularities Exist 5 Propose a Hypothesis 6 Use an Experiment and 7 Have Reproducible Results Of note Mandeville's Travels is both the impetus behind this seven part method as well as the object of study Thus Tobienne showcases how each element of the seven part method is at play in the text even as he argues for the text's importance within medieval studies Also included in this examination is the application of this seven part method to medieval and post period pieces of literature The book culminates in an argument for the canonization and importance of Mandeville's Travels in and beyond medieval studies

Lykophron's Alexandra, Rome, and the Hellenistic World Simon Hornblower, 2018-06-07 This volume takes as its subject one of the most important Greek poems of the Hellenistic period the Alexandra attributed to Lykophron probably written in about 190 BC At 1474 lines and with a riddling narrative and a preponderance of unusual vocabulary it is a notoriously challenging prospect for scholars but it also sheds crucial light on Greek religion in particular the role of women and on foundation myths and myths of colonial identity Most of the poem purports to be a prophecy by the Trojan princess Cassandra who foretells the conflicts between Europe and Asia from the Trojan Wars to the establishment of Roman ascendancy over the Greek world in the poet's own time The central section narrates in the future tense the dispersal of returning Greek heroes throughout the Mediterranean zone and their founding of new cities This section culminates in the Italian wanderings and foundational activity of the Trojan refugee Aeneas Cassandra's own kinsman Following Simon Hornblower's detailed full length commentary on the Alexandra OUP 2015 paperback 2017 this monograph asserts the poem's importance as not only a strongly political work but also as a historical document of interest to cultural and religious historians and students of myths of identity Divided into two Parts the first explores Lykophron's geopolitical world paying special attention to south Italy perhaps the bilingual poet's own area of origin Sicily and Rhodes it suggests that the recent hostile presence of Hannibal in south Italy surfaces as a frequent yet indirectly expressed concern of the poem The thematic second Part investigates the Alexandra's relation to the Sibylline Oracles and to other apocalyptic literature of the period and argues for its cultural and religious topicality The Conclusion puts the case for the 190s BC as a turning point in Roman history and contends that Lykophron demonstrates a veiled awareness of this especially of certain peculiar features of Roman colonizing policy in that decade

assembled Drawing on unique archive material it shows how a forum of diplomats and civil servants constructed the transit country as a site in which the illegal migrant became the main actor to be vilified Policy makers are divided between those who oppose migration and those who support it so long as it is properly managed Any other position is generally seen at best as utopian This volume advances a new way of conceptualizing policy making in international migration at the regional and international level Introducing the concept of informal plurilateralism Oelgem ller explores how the Inter Governmental Consultations on Asylum Migration and Refugees IGC created the hegemonic paradigm of Migration Management thus enabling today s specific ways the migrant has their juridico political status violently denied This raises crucial questions about what democracy is and about the way in which the value of a human being is established granted or denied Inviting debate in a field which is often under theorized this work will be of great interest to students and scholars of International Relations Migration Studies and International Relations Theory Urban Rituals in Sacred Landscapes in Hellenistic Asia Minor

Europe, 950-1250 Claire Weeda, 2021 An investigation into how racial stereotypes were created and used in the European Middle Ages Students in twelfth century Paris held slanging matches branding the English drunkards the Germans madmen and the French as arrogant On crusade army recruits from different ethnic backgrounds taunted each other s military skills Men producing ethnography in monasteries and at court drafted derogatory descriptions of peoples dwelling in territories under colonisation questioning their work ethic social organisation religious devotion and humanness Monks listed and ruminated on the alleged traits of Jews Saracens Greeks Saxons and Britons and their acceptance or rejection of Christianity In this radical new approach to representations of nationhood in medieval western Europe the author argues that ethnic stereotypes were constructed and wielded rhetorically to justify property claims flaunt military strength and assert moral and cultural ascendancy over others The gendered images of ethnicity in circulation reflect a negotiation over self representations of discipline rationality and strength juxtaposed with the alleged chaos and weakness of racialised others Interpreting nationhood through a religious lens monks and schoolmen explained it as scientifically informed by environmental medicine an ancient theory that held that location and climate influenced the physical and mental traits of peoples Drawing on lists of ethnic character traits school textbooks medical treatises proverbs poetry and chronicles this book shows that ethnic stereotypes served as rhetorical tools of power crafting relationships within communities and towards others
