Mobility Climate Developing Environmen:

Organizational Perspectives on Environmental Migration Kerstin Rosenow-Williams, François Gemenne, 2015-10-16

Over the past decade international organizations IOs and non governmental organizations NGOs have increasingly focused their efforts on the plight of environmental migrants in both industrialized and developing countries However to date very few studies have analysed the influence and rhetoric of advocacy groups in the debates on environmental migration

Organizational Perspectives on Environmental Migration fills this lacuna by drawing together and examining the related themes of climate change and environmental degradation migration and organizational studies to provide a fresh perspective on their increasing relevance In order to assess the role of IOs and NGOs in the environmental migration discourse and to understand their interaction and their ways of addressing the topic the book contains a wide range of contributions covering the perspectives of organizational sociologists political scientists anthropologists geographers lawyers and practitioners The chapters are organized thematically around the perspectives of key actors in the area of environmental migration including IOs courts and advocacy groups The geographically diverse and interdisciplinary range of contributions makes this volume an essential foundational text for organizational responses to environmental migration This volume will be of great interest to students and scholars of migration studies international relations organizational sociology refugee law and policy and development studies

The Atlas of Environmental Migration Dina Ionesco, Daria Mokhnacheva, François

Gemenne, 2016-11-25 As climate change and extreme weather events increasingly threaten traditional landscapes and livelihoods of entire communities the need to study its impact on human migration and population displacement has never been greater The Atlas of Environmental Migration is the first illustrated publication mapping this complex phenomenon It clarifies terminology and concepts draws a typology of migration related to environment and climate change describes the multiple factors at play explains the challenges and highlights the opportunities related to this phenomenon Through elaborate maps diagrams illustrations case studies from all over the world based on the most updated international research findings the Atlas guides the reader from the roots of environmental migration through to governance In addition to the primary audience of students and scholars of environment studies climate change geography and migration it will also be of interest to researchers and students in politics economics and international relations departments

Routledge

Handbook of Environmental Displacement and Migration Robert McLeman, François Gemenne, 2018-03-09 The last twenty years have seen a rapid increase in scholarly activity and publications dedicated to environmental migration and displacement and the field has now reached a point in terms of profile complexity and sheer volume of reporting that a general review and assessment of existing knowledge and future research priorities is warranted So far such a product does not exist The Routledge Handbook of Environmental Displacement and Migration provides a state of the science review of research on how environmental variability and change influence current and future global migration patterns and in some instances trigger large scale population displacements Drawing together contributions from leading researchers in the field this compendium will become a go to guide for established and newly interested scholars for government and policymaking entities and for students and their instructors It explains theoretical conceptual and empirical developments that have been made in recent years describes their origins and connections to broader topics including migration research development studies and international public policy and law and highlights emerging areas where new and or additional research and reflection are warranted The structure and the nature of the book allow the reader to quickly find a concise review relevant to conducting research or developing policy on particular topics and to obtain a broad reliable survey of what is presently known about the subject

Pastoralism and Development in Africa Andy Catley,Ian Scoones,Jeremy Lind,2013 Once again the Horn of Africa has been in the headlines And once again the news has been bad drought famine conflict hunger suffering and death The finger of blame has been pointed in numerous directions to the changing climate to environmental degradation to overpopulation to geopolitics and conflict to aid agency failures and more But it is not all disaster and catastrophe Many successful development efforts at the margins often remain hidden informal sometimes illegal and rarely in line with standard development prescriptions If we shift our gaze from the capital cities to the regional centres and their hinterlands then a very different perspective emerges These are the places where pastoralists live They have for centuries struggled with drought conflict and famine They are resourceful entrepreneurial and innovative peoples Yet they have been ignored and marginalised by the states that control their territory and the development agencies who are supposed to help them This book argues that while we should not ignore the profound difficulties of creating secure livelihoods in the Greater Horn of Africa there is much to be learned from development successes large and small This book will be of great interest to students and scholars with an interest in development studies and human geography with a particular emphasis on Africa It will also appeal to development policy makers and practitioners

Geographic Approaches to Climate Change and Mitigation: Urban and Rural Perspectives (Volume 2) Shahfahad,Pir Mohammad,Abraham R. Matamanda,Jesús Rodrigo-Comino,2025-09-26 This book provides an exploration of innovative geographic approaches to address the challenges posed by climate change focusing on solutions across urban and rural contexts Offering actionable insights it bridges diverse disciplines to highlight practical strategies and evidence based policies for a more sustainable and resilient future The volume is organized into key themes that address global issues sustainable governmental policies urban planning rural land use practices transportation systems food security heritage conservation and the socio environmental impacts of climate change From implementing nature based solutions in African cities to reforestation practices in rural landscapes and from reducing meat consumption to preserving cultural heritage at risk from rising sea levels each chapter provides real world case studies and forward thinking strategies The book addresses the importance of integrating diverse perspectives emphasizing the need for cohesive policies and innovative solutions to mitigate climate impacts while fostering sustainable development Topics like participatory democracy in climate action the nexus between tourism and the environment and leveraging shared electric vehicles for transit sustainability illustrate the multifaceted approach required to tackle global challenges By examining methodologies such as fuzzy logic for territorial planning innovative urban design for sustainable education environments and advanced logistics for freight transportation the book sets out to solve complex problems related to resource management community resilience and climate adaptation It also sheds light on the socioeconomic and cultural dimensions of climate change underscoring the importance of interdisciplinary collaboration and global action Driving Quality Management and Sustainability in VUCA Environments João Reis,Tiago Pinho,Vítor Barbosa,Luís Barreto,Sandrina B. Moreira,Pedro Pardal,João Nabais,Carlos Mata,Ana Mendes,2024-05-27 This proceedings volume provides in depth research in the fields of quality innovation sustainability and operations management It features contributions from the 4th International Conference on Quality Innovation and Sustainability ICQIS that explore how research in quality and innovation boost sustainability and includes solutions to complex industrial problems presented by researchers professionals and managers in the field It also examines the drivers of quality management and sustainability in VUCA environments with a special focus on supply chain management and innovation Featuring real business cases on quality and sustainability this book is useful for researchers scholars students and academics interested in quality management supply chain management circular economy and sustainability Climate Change and Displacement Jane McAdam,2010-09-06 Environmental migration is not new Nevertheless the events and processes accompanying global climate change threaten to increase human movement both within states and across international borders The Inter governmental Panel on Climate Change has predicted an increased frequency and severity of climate events such as storms cyclones and hurricanes as well as longer term sea level rise and desertification which will impact upon people s ability to survive in certain parts of the world This book brings together a variety of disciplinary perspectives on the phenomenon of climate induced displacement With chapters by leading scholars in their field it collects in one place a rigorous holistic analysis of the phenomenon which can better inform academic understanding and policy development alike Governments have not been prepared to take a leading role in developing responses to the issue in large part due to the absence of strong theoretical frameworks from which sound policy can be constructed The specialist expertise of the authors in this book means that each chapter identifies key issues that need to be considered in shaping domestic regional and international responses including the complex causes of movement the conceptualisation of migration responses to climate change the terminology that should be used to describe those who move and attitudes to migration that may affect decisions to stay or leave The book will help to facilitate the creation of principled research based responses and establish climate induced displacement as an important aspect of both the climate change and global migration debates Climate Change Adaptation and International Development Ryo Fujikura,Masato Kawanishi,2012-07-26 Climate change impacts upon the world s poorest most heavily It is therefore essential that international development initiatives focus on improving the ability of developing countries to adapt to the effects of climate change This book a product of research by the JICA RI Research Institute of the Japan International Cooperation Agency examines climate change adaptation from the perspective of development cooperation in order to provide useful lessons for those engaged in research policy and practice in this vital area In this book the editors have brought together a wide range of case studies from across Africa and Asia covering urban and rural areas and different sectors including water agriculture and disaster management in order to examine the following o high resolution climate change projection in Asia and how this can be used in planning appropriate adaptation responses o in depth case studies of climate change projections social economic and environmental impact and vulnerability assessment and adaptation in rural Thailand and urban Philippines o cases across Africa for which climate data is less readily available and alternative approaches need to be adopted o the current situation amongst international donors o emerging issues caused by climate change In the introductory section the editors draw together the full implications from the case studies to discuss how international communities can support adaptation in developing countries and to give an assessment of bilateral projects They reflect on the lessons learned and offer recommendations for future research and international development cooperation

Intermediary Cities and Climate Change An Opportunity for Sustainable Development OECD,United Nations Human Settlements Programme,2022-11-16 The consequences of climate change in developing countries are worsening fast many ecosystems will shortly reach points of irreversible damage and socio economic costs will continue to rise To alleviate the future impacts on populations and economies policy makers are looking for the spaces where they can make the greatest difference This report argues that intermediary cities in developing countries are such spaces

Environment, Climate Change and Migration in South Asia Amit Ranjan,Rajesh Kharat,Pallavi Deka,2023-03-31 Climate change has been fueling migration and according to some policy reports there could more than one billion climate migrants refugees across the world by 2050 In South Asia disasters environmental degradation and climate change are increasing the number of migrants every year In South Asia like other parts of the world migrants and displaced people mainly move within their respective countries but some cross the porous border At most places the migrants and displaced people face hostile situation as they are not welcome by their local host population The chapters in the book highlight the challenges and inadequacies of governments and communities in protecting the environment as well as the disproportionate effect that climate change has on the poor and marginalized groups The book also discusses the gendered experiences of climate related migrations and policy measures which need to be implemented to counter forced displacements and environment degradation along with the legal and institutional resources which could help mitigate climate change and protect climate refugees This book will be of interest to students and researchers of development studies ecology and environment migration sociology law and governance human ecology climate change and economics Climate,

Environmental Hazards and Migration in Bangladesh Max Martin, 2017-07-20 The apocalyptic visions of climate change that are projected in the media often involve extreme weather events disasters and mass migration of poor people This book takes a critical look at this notion drawing on research in Bangladesh a country located at the heart of debates on climate change and migration This book argues that rather than leading to dramatic events climatic and environmental impacts often cause incremental changes in people s habitats and livelihoods making them migrate in search of better places and income With or without climate change climatic and environmental factors can impoverish people and drive displacement and migration especially in the global South These influences including disasters need not necessarily make people move but instead sometimes trap the poorest and the most vulnerable people in their places exposed to hazards or make them migrate to even riskier places such as crowded and flood prone urban slums This book argues that restrictions placed on people s mobility options could increase their vulnerability and favours proactive migration policies This timely contribution explains the climate hazard migration nexus in an accessible engaging language for students of geography development studies politics and environmental studies as well as humanitarian and development practitioners and policymakers Research Handbook on Climate Change, Migration and the Law Benoît Maye, François Crépeau, 2017-10-27 This comprehensive Research Handbook provides an overview of the debates on how the law does and could relate to migration exacerbated by climate change It contains conceptual chapters on the relationship between climate change migration and the law as well as doctrinal and prospective discussions regarding legal developments in different domestic contexts and in international governance Climate Action in Southern Africa Philani Moyo, 2023-10-27 Using climate justice as an analytical tool this volume examines the role of local mitigation and adaptation actions in Southern Africa in furthering climate resilient development Climate Action in Southern Africa examines the intrinsic connection between local climate actions climate resilient development and strides towards a just transition The theoretical grounding in climate justice allows the authors to analyse whether current climate actions in Africa are truly effective for the poor and marginalised whose lives and livelihoods are impacted by a climate crisis largely not of their making The authors also question the extent to which pathways to net zero carbon emissions by 2050 are achievable in Africa and ask whether this can be attained without undermining livelihoods and human development Overall this book argues that for any transition to be a just transition it has to be aligned with the pursuit of sustainable development and climate justice for current and future generations on the African continent Drawing out key factors including politics gender and migration this volume will be of great interest to students and scholars of climate change climate justice and African development Climate Change Adaptation in the Built Environment Chamindi Malalgoda, Dilanthi Amaratunga, Richard Haigh, Shavindree Nissanka, Nishara Fernando, Ruben Paul Borg, Mo Hamza, 2025-05-02 Global climate change is one of the greatest environmental threats facing humanity and it is affecting every country on every continent Recent evidence confirms a close liaison between climate change induced hazards and the built environment as the built environment demonstrates a high fragility and vulnerability to hazardous situations The impact of climate change is particularly pertinent to the built environment given the life expectancy of buildings and the fact that it is essential to adapt the existing built environment to deal with a climate that may be significantly different from that in which it evolved Coastal regions are highly vulnerable to climate change because in addition to changes in temperature precipitation and more frequent flooding they will be affected by rising sea levels wave heights and accelerated coastal erosion The built environment exerts considerable influence over coastal communities local climate and environment Coastal areas also tend to be highly populated with many vulnerable urban centres located near the coastal belt In addressing such challenges it is important to better understand the impacts of climate change on the built environment and to develop tangible climate adaptation measures for the built environment Migration in West Africa Joseph Kofi Teye,2022-07-04

This open access Regional Reader examines the dynamics and impacts of international migration within and from West Africa The book presents key theoretical perspectives and empirical findings on historical trends geographical patterns drivers and socio economic impacts of both voluntary and involuntary migration in West Africa a region that is characterised by high level of mixed migration flows The book is divided into three main parts changing patterns and governance of migration managing environmental and forced migration and diaspora transnationalism and development The chapters raise key research questions and outline recommendations for improving migration governance protecting migrants and harnessing the benefits of migration for socio economic development for both countries of origin and destination of migrants As such this Regional Reader provides an interesting read to students academics researchers migration experts development practitioners and policy makers Environmental Impacts of Tourism in Developing Nations Sharma, Ravi,Rao, Prakash,2018-09-07

In the face of rapid industrialisation in the last few decades the tourism economy has blossomed into a major industry with positive impacts such as economic growth infrastructure development employment and income generation However tourism brings negative environmental effects such as degradation of landscapes and habitats increased vulnerability of avifauna and wildlife and pollution leading to the decline of species Environmental Impacts of Tourism in Developing Nations is a pivotal reference source that explores some of the critical challenges faced in the tourism economy particularly with regard to the impacts on the environment in developing nations It also explores the impact tourism plays in the biophysical environment such as the issue of climate change While highlighting topics such as environmental justice ecosystems and ecotourism this book is ideally designed for academicians policymakers environmentalists tourism professionals and graduate level students seeking current research on the environmental and economic impacts of tourism

Accelerating Climate Action in Israel Refocusing Mitigation Policies for the Electricity, Residential and Transport Sectors OECD,2020-07-29 This report analyses the actions necessary in the near and medium term to reduce Israel s GHG emissions in three sectors electricity residential and transport for which specific policy recommendations are developed The report will serve as input to the roadmap that will be developed to support the country's long term low emission strategy LT LEDS Migration and Environmental Change in the West African Sahel Victoria van der Land, 2017-10-12 The West African Sahel is predicted to be heavily affected by climate change in the future Slow onset environmental changes such as increasing rainfall variability and rising temperature are presumed to worsen the livelihood conditions and to increase the out migration from the affected regions Based on qualitative and quantitative data from study areas in Mali and Senegal this book examines the relationship between population dynamics livelihoods and environment in the Sahel region focussing specifically on motives for migration Critiquing the assumption that environmental stress is the dominating migration driver the author demonstrates the important role of individual aspirations and social processes such as educational opportunities and the pull of urban lifestyles In doing so the book provides a more nuanced picture of the environment migration nexus arguing that slow onset environmental changes may actually be less important as drivers of migration in the Sahel than they are often depicted in the media and climate change literature This is a valuable resource for academics and students of environmental sociology migration and development studies Global State of National Urban Policy 2021 Achieving Sustainable Development Goals and Delivering Climate Action OECD, United Nations Human Settlements Programme, United Nations Office for Project Services, 2021-06-25 National Urban Policy NUP is a key instrument to achieve sustainable urban development in a shared responsibility across countries regions and cities The scale and urgency of the current urban challenges has given prominence to NUPs The COVID 19 crisis has amplified the potential of NUPs in shaping more resilient green and inclusive cities as part of countries recovery packages Decentralized Governance of Adaptation to Climate Change in Africa Esbern Friis-Hansen, 2017-07-12 Two perspectives have dominated the social science discourse on climate change adaptation Firstly an international narrative among UN and donor agencies of technical and financial support for planned climate change adaptation Secondly a significant volume of studies discuss how local communities can undertake their own autonomous adaptation Effective and sustainable climate adaptation requires a third focus understanding of the political processes within sub national institutions that mediate between national and local practices This book address the knowledge gap that currently exists about the role of district level institutions in Sub Saharan Africa in providing an enabling institutional environment for rural climate change adaptation
