Penguin Of New Russian Writing:

The Penguin Book of New Russian Writing Viktor V. Erofeev, Andrew Reynolds, 1995 In his remarkable introductory essay Russia's Fleurs du Mal Victor Erofeev discusses the alternative literature the new Russian writing that is supplanting both the hothouse flowers of Soviet socialism and the polemics of dissidence The new Russian literature as evidenced by this collection is characteristically raw abrasive and sceptical calling everything into question including the Boring West Writer such as Andrei Sinyavsky have concentrated on reinventing a dead language one of them Vladimir Sorokin refuses to be called a writer at all acceding only to his vocation as a leading monster of the new Russian literature Within this collection can be found the particular cynicism of Dovlatov and Limonov the voluptuous style of Tatyana Tolstaya and the poignant wit of Evgeny Kharitonov among many others A landmark in new Russian fiction this volume brings together the works of twenty one leading writers some already acclaimed many others reaching a new audience in the West for the first time It has been edited by Victor Erofeev with Andrew Reynolds who has also translated some of the works BOOK JACKET Title Summary field provided by Blackwell North America Inc All Rights Reserved

Reference Guide to Russian Literature Neil Cornwell, 2013-12-02 First Published in 1998 This volume will surely be regarded as the standard guide to Russian literature for some considerable time to come It is therefore confidently recommended for addition to reference libraries be they academic or public

The Routledge Companion to Russian Literature Neil Cornwell, 2002-06-01 The Routledge Companion to Russian Literature is an engaging and accessible guide to Russian writing of the past thousand years The volume covers the entire span of Russian literature from the Middle Ages to the post Soviet period and explores all the forms that have made it so famous poetry drama and of course the Russian novel A particular emphasis is given to the nineteenth and twentieth centuries when Russian literature achieved world wide recognition through the works of writers such as Pushkin Dostoevsky Tolstoy Chekhov Nabokov and Solzhenitsyn Covering a range of subjects including women's writing Russian literary theory socialist realism and migr writing leading international scholars open up the wonderful diversity of Russian literature With recommended lists of further reading and an excellent up to date general bibliography The Routledge Companion to Russian Literature is the perfect guide for students and general readers alike

Women and Russian Culture Rosalind Marsh, 1998-11-01 The image of women in Russian culture has undergone profound changes from the origins of modern Russian literature in the eighteenth century until the Revolution of 1917 when women were a source of fascination for Russian writers to the socialist realism period during which public discussion of the representation of women in literature rapidly declined and the woman question was declared to have been resolved to a reappraisal of the position of women since the 1980s This collection of essays by leading western and Russian specialists contains new insights and updates previous research into the role of women in Russian culture in the last two centuries and contributes to two exciting and growing research areas the feminist critique of work by Russian male authors and the study of Russian women writers Moreover whereas most previous studies have concentrated on the aesthetic qualities of works by women writers this collection includes both close textual analysis and the discussion of biographical historical and political questions relating both to the representation of women and women's culture The aim is not to present a unified manifesto but rather to bring together a spectrum of approaches and positions within their common focus on the relationship between women and culture in Russia Contributors R Marsh A Barker J Andrew D Greene I Kazakova C Schuler S Graham K Hodgson N Kolchevska N Cornwell J Curtis M Katz M Ledkovsky P I Barta A Darmodekhina D Gillespie N Zhuravkina B Lanin S Carsten A Tait

In the House of the Hanged Sasha Sokolov, 2012-01-01 This present collection contains fourteen texts written by Sokolov between 1981 and 2010 and published in various papers and journals in Russia and in the West P x An Age of Progress? Walter G. Moss, 2008-05-03 An Age of Progress is an advanced examination of major twentieth century global developments regarding subjects as diverse as violence capitalism socialism and communism imperialism racism nationalism westernization globalization international finance freedom and human rights physical and mental environmental changes culture science education religion and social criticism This momentous study also explores the ways in which the twentieth century made significant progress and the ways in which it did not Identities, Nations and Politics after Communism Roger E. Kanet, 2013-10-18 This book focuses on questions of identity that have confronted the countries of Central and Eastern Europe after the collapse of the communist system that had previously provided them with an identity This development both facilitated and necessitated a reassessment of the now independent nations history orientation symbols and identity In some cases new states were created without a clear national identity while in others the nation was regaining statehood but not always within borders that had an historical association with the nation concerned The multiethnic character of the space of the former Soviet Union and its erstwhile satellites and the long historical legacy of complex relations boundary changes population migration and economic and social changes presented different challenges to the various nations and states concerned The essays in this volume attempt to elucidate and understand the issues of ethnic and national identity and their relationship to the emerging statehood in various regions of the post communist world This study makes clear that some nation states were far better prepared to handle these issues than others and that the longer term impact of the communist experience has varied This book was previously published as a special issue of Nationalities Papers The Testimonies of Russian and American Postmodern Poetry Albena Lutzkanova-Vassileva, 2016-06-30 This book challenges the belief in the purely linguistic nature of contemporary poetry and offers an interpretation of late twentieth century Russian poetry as a testimony to the unforeseen annulment of communist reality and its overnight displacement by a completely unfathomable post totalitarian order Albena Lutzkanova Vassileva argues that because of the sudden invalidation of a reality that had been largely seen as unattained and everlasting this shift remained secluded from the mind and totally resistant to cognition thus causing a collectively traumatic psychological experience The book proceeds by inquiring into a school of contemporary

American poetry that has been likewise read as cut off from reality Executing a comparative analysis Vassileva advances a new understanding of this poetry as a testimony to the overwhelming and traumatic impact of contemporary media which have assailed the mind with far more signals than it can register digest and furnish with semantic weight The Town of N Leonid Dobychin,1998 This text represents an extraordinary example of late Russian literary development It is populated with characters who are petty grasping perfidious and cruel quite unlike the positive heroes of contemporary socialist and realist novels Contextualizing Transition Serafima Roll,1998 The recent disintegration of the Soviet Empire has caused not only the redrawing of its geographical borders but has also destabilized its cultural boundaries Contextualizing Transition offers the reflections by the writers and critics who are reshaping contemporary Russian culture on the negotiations of borders between art and criticism high and popular culture visual and verbal media commercial and state sponsored publishing ideological and corporeal identities and universal and gendered subjects Everything Has Already Been Written Gerald Janecek,2018-12-15 Innovative poets such as Vsevolod Nekrasov Lev Rubinstein and Dmitry Prigov are among the most prominent literary figures of Russia in the 1980s and 1990s yet they are virtually unknown outside Russia The same is true of the numerous active Russian performance art groups especially the pioneering Collective Actions group led by the brilliantly inventive Andrei Monastyrsky Everything Has Already Been Written strives to make Moscow Conceptualism more accessible to break the language barrier and to foster understanding among an international readership by thoroughly discussing a broad range of specific works and theories Janecek s study is the first comprehensive analysis of Moscow Conceptualist poetry and theory vital for an understanding of Russian culture in the post Conceptualist era Russian Postmodernist Fiction Mark Lipovetsky,Eliot Borenstein,2016-09-16 This text offers a critical study of postmodernism in Russian literature It takes some of the central issues of the critical debate to develop a conception of postmodern poetics as a dialogue with chaos and places Russian literature in the context of an enriched postmodernism Translating Great Russian Literature Cathy McAteer,2021-01-03 Launched in 1950 Penguin s Russian Classics quickly progressed to include translations of many great works of Russian literature and the series came to be regarded by readers both academic and general as the de facto provider of classic Russian literature in English translation the legacy of which reputation resonates right up to the present day Through an analysis of the individuals involved their agendas and their socio cultural context this book based on extensive original research examines how Penguin s decisions and practices when translating and publishing the series played a significant role in deciding how Russian literature would be produced and marketed in English translation As such the book represents a major contribution to Translation Studies to the study of Russian literature to book history and to the history of publishing An Anthology of Russian Literature from Earliest Writings to Modern Fiction Nicholas Rzhevsky,2019-09-16 Russia has a rich huge unwieldy cultural tradition How to grasp it This classroom reader is designed to respond to that problem The literary works selected for inclusion in this anthology introduce the core cultural and historic themes of Russia's civilisation. Each text has resonance throughout the arts in Rublev's icons, Meyerhold's theatre, Mousorgsky's operas, Prokofiev's symphonies, Fokine's choreography and Kandinsky's paintings. This material is supported by introductions, helpful annotations and bibliographies of resources in all media. The reader is intended for use in courses in Russian literature, culture and civilisation as well as comparative literature.

Transnational Russian-American Travel Writing Margarita Marinova, 2012-05-22. In this study, Marinova examines the diverse practices of crossing boundaries, tactics of translation and experiences of double and multiple political and national attachments evident in texts about Russo-American encounters from the end of the American Civil War to the Russian Revolution of 1905. Marinova brings together published writings, archival materials and personal correspondence of well or less known travelers of diverse ethnic backgrounds and artistic predilections from the quintessential American Mark Twain to the Russian Jewish ethnographer and revolutionary Vladimir Bogoraz, from masters of realist prose such as the Ukrainian-born Vladimir Korolenko and the Jewish Russian-American Abraham Cahan to romantic wanderers like Edna Proctor, Isabel Hapgood or Grigoriy Machtet. By highlighting the reification of problematic stereotypes of ethnic and racial difference in these texts, Marinova illuminates the astonishing success of the Cold War period's rhetoric of mutual hatred and exclusion and its continuing legacy today.

Literature, History and Identity in Post-Soviet Russia, 1991-2006 Rosalind J. Marsh, 2007. The aim of this book is to explore some of the main preoccupations of literature, culture and criticism dealing with historical themes in post-Soviet Russia, focusing mainly on literature in the years 1991 to 2006.

Culture-Bound Translation and Language in the Global Era Aleksandra Nikčević Batrićević, Marija Knežević, 2009-10-02. The title of this collection, Culture-Bound Translation and Language in the Global Era, suggests the wide scope and spirit of our culture and times. The essays gathered here are divided under two headings: Translation and Language, five on each area, making up Part One and Part Two of this book. They examine in detail some of the problems implied by the interaction between translation, language and culture, while providing both breadth and depth to the cultural dimension, an area which has strangely been neglected together with translation studies despite their recognized importance until the early eighties. The authors' insights into the complex phenomenon of cross-cultural communication is as interesting as fascinating and perhaps even more so because the scholars who have contributed to this book come from various countries including Austria, Bosnia and Herzegovina, Italy, Latvia, Russia, Serbia and Slovenia.

The Archaeology of Anxiety Galina Rylkova, 2007-12-09. The Silver Age c. 1890-1917 has been one of the most intensely studied topics in Russian literary studies and for years scholars have been struggling with its precise definition. Firmly established in the Russian cultural psyche, it continues to influence both literature and mass media. The Archaeology of Anxiety is the first extended analysis of why the Silver Age occupies such prominence in Russian collective consciousness. Galina Rylkova examines the Silver Age as a cultural construct, the byproduct of an anxiety that permeated society in reaction to the social, political and cultural upheavals brought on by the Bolshevik Revolution, the fall of the

Romanovs the Civil War and Stalin's Great Terror Rylkova's astute analysis of writings by Anna Akhmatova Vladimir Nabokov Boris Pasternak and Victor Erofeev reveals how the construct of the Silver Age was perpetuated and ingrained Rylkova explores not only the Silver Age's importance to Russia's cultural identity but also the sustainability of this phenomenon In so doing she positions the Silver Age as an essential element to Russian cultural survival

Voices of Russian Literature Sally Laird, 1999-04-29 Voices of Russian Literature presents in depth interviews with ten of the most interesting figures writing in Russian today They range from established authors such as Fazil Iskander and Andrei Bitov who began their careers in the post Stalinist Thaw to newcomers like Viktor Pelevin hailed as one of the most original writers of the present era It offers an insiders account of the fate of Russian literature over the past four decades Rather than cataloguing the opinions of dissidents or defenders of the former regime it presents the views of artists who have sought against the odds to express their unique visions of a changing world Each interview acquaints us with the author's distinctive voice and provides important insights into the genesis and interpretation of individual works Sally Laird has prefaced the interviews with biographical and critical sketches of each writer and her introductory essay sets the whole in historical context Voices of Russian Literature will be fascinating reading for anyone interested in Russia's contemporary literary experience

The Oxford Handbook of the Russian Novel Julie A. Buckler, Justin Weir, 2025 The Oxford Handbook of the Russian Novel brings together top specialists in Russian literature to treat the Russian novel from the late 18th to the 21st century using a range of interpretive perspectives The Russian novel is a distinctive tradition by virtue of its formal eccentricities as well as the boldness with which these works approached the most complex philosophical political and moral questions This Handbook treats well known works and authors but also explores the much broader tradition of the Russian novel up to the present The essays in the Handbook provide cultural and historical perspectives on the Russian novel as well as showcasing emergent modes of analysis including postcolonialism ecocriticism and posthumanism
