'Our Glorious Past' David Marples, 2014-09-01 Southern African Liberation Movements and the Global Cold War 'East' Lena Dallywater, Chris Saunders, Helder Adegar Fonseca, 2019-06-17 In the global context of the Cold War the relationship between liberation movements and Eastern European states obviously changed and transformed Similarly forms of material aid and ideological encouragement underwent changes over time The articles assembled in this volume argue that the traditional Cold War geography of bi polar competition with the United States is not sufficient to fully grasp these transformations The question of which side of the ideological divide was more successful or lucky in impacting actors and societies in the global south is still relevant yet the Cold War perspective falls short in unfolding the complex geographies of connections and the multipolarity of actions and transactions that exists until today Acknowledging the complexities of liberation movements in globalization processes the papers thus argue that activities need to be understood in their local context including personal agendas and internal conflicts rather than relying primarily on the traditional frame of Cold War competition They point to the agency of individual activists in both Africa and Eastern Europe and the lessons practices and languages that were derived from their often contradictory encounters In Southern African Liberation Movements authors from South Africa Portugal Austria and Germany ask What role did actors in both Southern Africa and Eastern Europe play What can we learn by looking at biographies in a time of increasing racial and international conflict And which creative solutions need to be found to combine efforts of actors from various ideological camps Building on archival sources from various regions in different languages case studies presented in the edition try to encounter the lack of a coherent state of the art They aim at combining the sometimes scarce sources with qualitative interviews to give answers to the many open questions regarding Southern African liberation movements and their connections to the East The Reception of Ossian in Europe Howard Gaskill, 2008-12-22 Collection of international research surveying the reception of James Macpherson's Ossian poems in European literature and culture Experience and Memory Jörg Echternkamp, Stefan Martens, 2010-12-01 Modern military history inspired by social and cultural historical approaches increasingly puts the national histories of the Second World War to the test New questions and methods are focusing on aspects of war and violence that have long been neglected What shaped people's experiences and memories What differences and what similarities existed in Eastern and Western Europe How did the political framework influence the individual and the collective interpretations of the war Finally what are the benefits of Europeanizing the history of the Second World War Experts from Belgium Germany France Great Britain Italy Luxembourg Poland and Russia discuss these and other questions in this comprehensive volume World Geographical Encyclopedia: Oceania, Polar regions, general geography Sybil P.
