Practical Methods In Ecology:

Practical Methods in Ecology Peter A. Henderson, 2009-04-13 There are few books available that provide a good introduction to the methods and techniques for ecological research. This book will be invaluable to lecturers teaching field courses and students undertaking project work in ecology. Each chapter will focus on an ecological technique. It will have an introductory section that describes the ecological principles and theory. This will then be followed by example applications. These will focus on three most common habitats where teachers take students for fieldwork: the seashore, ponds and lakes, fields and woodland. Gives specific worked examples from the main ecosystems used for undergraduate study: seashore, lakes, ponds, field and woodland. Only introductory text specifically focused on field techniques. Great how to guide that will show student exactly how to carry out each method. Only text to emphasise the principles behind the techniques taking a methods based approach rather than a taxonomic approach e.g. chapters split into population measures, biodiversity measures, species richness measures rather than methods for invertebrates, methods for mammals, methods for birds etc. Greater emphasis on the equipment involved, how to make it, where to buy it. Good references to further reading and advanced techniques.

Practical Methods in Ecology and Environmental Science R. K. Trivedy, P. K. Goel, C. L. Trisal, 1987 Practical Methods in Ecology Paul Henderson (ekolog.), 2003 The Complete Textbook of Animal Health & Welfare E-Book Jane Williams, 2009-06-25 The Complete Textbook of Animal Health and Welfare is a core text for students in animal care, animal technology or animal science programmes and a supplementary text for related equine, wildlife and veterinary courses. It provides an in depth text for students at Further Education FE levels 2 and 3 and a foundation text for students studying in Higher Education. Each chapter covers the subject in depth, level 3 FE via diagrams, images and text, then summarises it at a foundation level, level 2 FE to engage students of different abilities. Core text for students studying animal care, animal technology or animal science, supplementary text for related equine, wildlife and veterinary courses. Reflects all aspects covered in the animal care curriculum, highly illustrated, written by author with expertise in this area, with many contributions from experienced educationalists and experts to ensure quality, validity, covers all species. Forest Ecology and Conservation Adrian Newton, 2007-05-17 Forest conservation has become one of the most important environmental issues currently facing humanity as a result of widespread deforestation and forest degradation. Pressures on remaining natural forests continue to intensify, leading to high rates of biodiversity loss. Understanding how human activities influence ecological processes within forests is essential for developing effective conservation action. This book describes research methods and techniques relevant to understanding forest ecology, with a particular focus on those that are relevant to practical conservation and sustainable forest management. This information is currently disparate and difficult to locate and as with other books in this series, the intention is to provide a comprehensive synthesis for use by graduate students, researchers and practising conservationists. Methods are presented for assessing forest extent and condition, structure and composition and forest dynamics at a variety of scales Techniques for assessing genetic variation and reproductive ecology and for evaluating the habitat value of forests are also described Particular emphasis is given to state of the art techniques such as remote sensing GIS computer modelling and molecular markers However traditional methods of forest mensuration and ecological survey are also presented The methods and techniques described are generally applicable to all forest types including both temperate and tropical forest ecosystems

Ecoacoustics Almo Farina, Stuart H. Gage, 2017-05-22 The sounds produced by geophonic biophonic and technophonic sources are relevant to the function of natural and human modified ecosystems Passive recording is one of the most non invasive technologies as its use avoids human intrusion during acoustic surveys and facilitates the accumulation of huge amounts of acoustical data For the first time this book collates and reviews the science behind ecoacoustics illustrating the principles methods and applications of this exciting new field Topics covered in this comprehensive volume include the assessment of biodiversity based on sounds emanating from a variety of environments the best technologies and methods necessary to investigate environmental sounds implications for climate change and urban systems the relationship between landscape ecology and ecoacoustics the conservation of soundscapes and the social value of ecoacoustics areas of potential future research An invaluable resource for scholars researchers and students Ecoacoustics The Ecological Role of Sounds provides an unrivalled set of ideas tools and references based on the current state of the field
