Muslim New Womanhood in Bangladesh Nazia Hussein, 2022-05-17 This book reveals how categories of gender class culture and religion are modes of power which inform hierarchies of social locations and people's sense of belonging within these spaces and temporalities It offers an alternative and innovative theoretical framework new womanhood for studying middle class urban educated professional women in South Asia The book places respectable femininity at the centre of the construction and performance of new womanhood in Bangladesh a complex and heterogeneous construction of womanhood in relation to women's negotiations with public and private sphere roles and cultural norms of female propriety It establishes new women as part of the neoliberal middle class as they construct their class identity as a status group claiming inter class and intra class distinction from other women It also explains how new womanhood is legitimized by alternative and multiple practices of respectability varying according to women's age stage of life profession household setting and experience of living in Western countries Finally as new women forge alternative forms of respectability theirs is not a straightforward abandonment of old structures of respectability rather they substitute conceal or legitimize particular practices of respectability in particular fields While these new women's gains are vested in the self rather than a wider feminist politics they have the potential to positively influence the terrain of possibilities for other women Finally through a study of cosmopolitan third world women who are part of a new and potentially powerful social group who occupy a privileged position in the society they live in the book critiques Western feminist writing and challenges binary social construction of the Muslim woman either as victims of patriarchal culture and religion or as a danger to Western liberalism developing an understanding of cosmopolitan Muslim women's classed gender identity as a struggle against classifications in the neoliberal times It is the first book length project of its kind to provide an understanding of the concept of new women in the Global South which will be of interest to academics in the fields of sociology gender studies feminist theory postcolonialism inequality studies cultural theory development studies and South Asian Studies

Critical Fashion Practice Adam Geczy, Vicki Karaminas, 2017-02-09 There is a new form of design practice within the contemporary fashion industry which is active in complex forms of social commentary and critique While fashion in the modernist era has shown signs of criticism and subversion these were either in the form of subcultures or perversions such as punk or BDSM styling Today however these genres have been absorbed into the fashion industry itself meaning that critical fashion is now far from limited to the subcultures from which it came This book explores this new space for criticism within the popular fashion sphere to demonstrate how designers are disrupting conventions challenging beliefs and stirring change from within the system itself Critical Fashion Practice considers a range of contemporary designers across the globe from the US to Japan whose conceptual designs embody this critical language including case studies such as Rei Kawakubo's deconstructive silhouettes for Comme des Garçons and Walter Van Beirendonck's sadomasochistic menswear collections amongst other key players such as Miuccia Prada Vivienne Westwood and Viktor Rolf Arguing that the rise of critical fashion coincides with a noticeable decline in the criticality of art Geczy and Karaminas go beyond slotting fashion into previously established art theories Conceiving a new cultural role for fashion that affords insight into identity class race sexuality and gender this book shows how fashion can not only reflect and comment on but can also be a part of social change
