In preparation for role play during a RIPP class 6th grade students consider the following conflict situation Sharon and Josie who are good friends tryout for the basketball team Josie makes the team but Sharon does not The week after tryouts Sharon tries to pick a fight with Josie calling her a cheater and some one the coach felt sorry for Josie is in a bind she wants to remain friends with Sharon but she is really angry with Sharon for treating her so badly What can Josie do in this situation What type of self talk will help her work out this problem with Sharon and keep the friendship During the role play Sharon calls Josie a cheater Then before Josie responds two students representing her positive and negative sides take turns whispering into her ear

Negative self talk Boy is she a loser What if everyone believes her and thinks that I cheated to get on the team

Positive self talk I know I worked hard to get on the team Sharon must really be hurt that she didn't make it I can talk to her later when she's cooled down and maybe we can do something together after practice Josie listens to the two voices and decides that the best approach is to ignore Sharon's comments for now and to call her later that day to see if they can do something together

This description of students dealing with everyday conflicts is quite real

Building Healthy Individuals, Families, and Communities Ted N. Strader, David A. Collins, Tim D. Noe, 2012-12-06

Youth have nearly always exhibited behaviors that frustrate adults It can be difficult to understand why young people engage in risky or destructive behavior and it is challenging to develop strategies to encourage more healthy and responsible behavior among our youth However it is helpful to realize that despite the fact that large numbers of youth engage in frightful and destructive behaviors for periods of time during adolescence and early adulthood a large proportion of youth find a way not only to survive but also to bounce back and contribute significantly to the furtherance of human development We are not the first generation of adults to experience the pain fear and frustration of dealing with our youth More important we recognize that we are not helpless when faced with the problems youth experience While it is true that adolescents have always exhibited problem behaviors a number of effective tools and approaches have always been at our disposal to assist with appropriate youth development Of course the most effective approaches require a tremendous amount of focused time and energy
