Around the World in Eighty Days Jules Verne, 2020-12-17 Annotated Around the World in Eighty Days is an adventure novel by the French writer Jules Verne first published in French in 1872. In the story Phileas Fogg of London and his newly employed French valet Passepartout attempt to circumnavigate the world in 80 days on a 20 000 wager. In 2019 set by his friends at the Reform Club. It is one of Verne's most acclaimed works.

Around the World in Eighty Days Jules Verne, 1999-03-25 Having assured the members of London's exclusive Reform Club that he will circumnavigate the world in 80 days Fogg stiff repressed English starts by joining forces with an irrepressible Frenchman Passepartout and then with a ravishing Indian beauty Aouda. Together they slice through jungles over snowbound passes even across an entire isthmus only to get back five minutes late. Fogg faces despair and suicide but Aouda makes a new man of him able to face even the Reform Club again. Around the World in Eighty Days 1872 contains a strong dose of post Romantic reality plus extensive borrowing from the author's own Journey to England and Scotland but not a shred of science fiction. Its modernism lies instead in the experimental literary technique with parallel plots a narrator constantly made to look foolish four characters in search of their own unconscious and a unique twisting of space and time. Verne's classic a bestseller for over a century has never appeared in a critical edition before William Butler's stylish new translation moves as fast and as brilliantly as Fogg's own journey.

ABOUT THE SERIES For over 100 years Oxford World's Classics has made available the widest range of literature from around the globe. Each affordable volume reflects Oxford's commitment to scholarship providing the most accurate text plus a wealth of other valuable features including expert introductions by leading authorities helpful notes to clarify the text up to date bibliographies for further study and much more.

Round the World in Eighty Days Jules Verne, 2016-08-21 Translated by Henry Frith Show Excerpt firearms nor any other weapons in the house everything proclaimed the owner to be a man of peaceable habits. After having examined the house thoroughly Passepartout rubbed his hands joyously a genial smile overspread his rounded face and he muttered This suits me completely. It is the very thing We understand each other thoroughly Mr Fogg and I. He is a thoroughly regular and domestic man a true machine. Well I am not sorry to serve a machine.

Around the World in Eighty Days Jules Verne, 2011-05-04 AROUND THE WORLD IN EIGHTY DAYS a noted romance by Jules Verne Phineas Fogg an English gentleman wagers that a man can travel around the world in 80 days. He wins his wager after a series of exciting adventures Many years have elapsed since Fogg as Jules Verne's mythical hero accomplished the supposedly impossible task of circumnavigating the globe in 80 days a feat which won for him a wager of 100 000 and incidentally a wife Since that time however so many improvements have been made in methods of transportation so many new routes like that of the Trans Siberian Railway have been completed that Mr Fogg's once remarkable trip now appears in the light of an extremely commonplace achievement In fact the person who to day could not travel around the world in less than 80 days would be regarded as a very inexperienced globe trotter The first serious attempt to lower Jules Verne's imaginary record was made in 1890 when Miss Nellie Bly who represented the New York World made the trip around the world against time She was followed by the late George Francis Train and both succeeded in accomplishing the tour in less than 70 days Ten years later Mr George Griffith of Chiswick England established a new record at 64 days but this record stood for less than a year it having been reduced in 1901 to 60 days and few hours by Charles C Fitzmorris who made the trip at the request of Hearst's Chicago American The success of Fitzmorris was the means of inspiring many persons to participate in this unique form of record breaking among the contestants there being several journalists the representatives of European and Canadian papers All attempts to lower this last record were unsuccessful however until December 1903 when Mr James Willis Sayre of Seattle Wash earned the honor for record breaking by girdling the globe in 54 days 9 hours and 42 minutes an achievement that lowered the Fitzmorris record by more than six days and three hours On 17 July 1911 Andre Jager Schmidt a reporter on Excelsior a Paris daily newspaper left that city under instructions to lower this record The trip was made without an accident or any unnecessary delay and the traveler arrived in Paris on 26 August having succeeded in establishing a new record in girdling the earth M Jager Schmidt's official time was 39 days 19 hours 43 minutes and 37 4 5 seconds but this time would have been lowered to the extent of a few hours if he had not stopped at Cherbourg to attend a reception
