Pink, George W. Noblit, 2008-09-03 It is evident that urban education has become the central focus of educators at the present time In the U S for example almost one third of all school age children attend schools in large urban school districts It is in these urban schools where the diversity of cultures and languages is highest and where student learning is most problematic What has emerged from recent work to improve urban schools is the insight that there is no one size fits all panacea Rather we have discovered that the local context shapes in critically important ways what will be effective at the school level The universality of the problematics with urban education together with the importance of understanding the local or situated context of improvement interventions brings into sharp focus the importance and timeliness of an undertaking like the International Handbook of Urban Education An important focus of the International Handbook of Urban Education will be the interrogation of both the social and political factors that lead to different problem posing and subsequent solutions within each region An important question to be answered for example is what it takes in terms of resources political will and policy actions to improve urban education The Routledge Falmer Reader in Gender & Education Madeleine Arnot, Martin Mac An Ghail, 2006-09-27 This new Reader brings together classic pieces of gender theory as well as examples of the sophistication of contemporary gender theory and research methodologies in the field of education Leading international gender researchers address current debates about gender power identity and culture and concerns about boys and girls schooling gender achievement patterns the boys education debate and gender relationships in the curriculum the classroom and youth cultures The Reader is divided into six sections which reflect contemporary concerns about Gender and Education Gender and Educational Theory Difference and Power Identity Work Knowledge and Pedagogy Reflexivity and Risk Gender and Citizenship A specially written Introduction from the editors both experts in feminist and masculinity research provides a much needed context to the current educational climate Undergraduates postgraduates and academics interested in education gender studies and women s studies will find this a stimulating and important resource The analysis of the gender dimensions of the curriculum teaching and alternative pedagogies also provide important insights for practitioners wishing to promote gender equality

Critical Histories in Care and Education Kate Brooks, 2025-02-07 This groundbreaking and thought provoking book puts the care experience at the centre of education history Engaging and accessible Critical Histories in Care and Education provides historical insight to the growing field of care studies and reveals how nineteenth century assumptions and prejudices about care experienced pupils helped shape education policy and continue to do so today Drawing together original archive research with critical theory and written by an academic researcher and writer who is a foster carer herself the book challenges some of the key myths and stereotypes involving the care experience and shines an illuminating light on their origins Aimed primarily at undergraduate and postgraduate students in education this book identifies discursive threads and provides a fresh insight through a critical retelling of the history of the care system In combining the histories of care and education it challenges some taken for granted assumptions about both Throughout the book students are invited to critically examine relationships between gender class care and work and how they continue to impact on the role today The book is a vital resource for anyone involved in studying childhood education welfare and care and will appeal to anyone wanting to broaden their knowledge and critical understanding of this complex topic

The RoutledgeFalmer Reader in Education Policy and Politics Bob Lingard, Jenny Ozga, 2007-01-24 This Reader brings together selected papers from leading scholars to address the most significant recent development in educational policy and politics the impact of globalisation The papers discuss document and analyse evidence of globalisation s effects on the new direction of education policies and practices and in the production of globalised agendas for the redesign of state provision and the governance of education The Reader is organised in two parts The first part provides a selection of articles that interrogate globalisation and its effects from a variety of analytical perspectives and explore what kind of politics are possible in the framing context of globalisation The second part documents and discusses different types of engagement with politics and policy in a variety of settings and sectors including numerous European and Pacific Rim policy contexts This important collection underlines the need to approach globalisation education policy and politics from numerous perspectives and offers analytical empirical and theoretical resources for the reframing of contemporary education politics Students of educational policy and politics will find this Reader an invaluable resource for understanding theorising and researching in these academic fields Religious Schools in Europe Marcel Maussen, Floris Vermeulen, Michael Merry, Veit Bader, 2017-10-02 The European Convention on Human Rights guarantees freedom of education including the opportunities to create and operate faith based schools However as European societies become more religiously diverse and less religious at the same time the role of faith based schools is increasingly being contested Serious tensions have emerged between those who ardently support religious schools in their various forms and those who oppose them Given that faith based schools enjoy basic constitutional guarantees in Europe the controversy around them often surrounds issues of public financing degrees of organisational and pedagogical autonomy and educational practices and management This volume is about the controversies surrounding religious schools in a number of Western European countries The introductory chapter briefly analyses the structural pressures that affect the position of religious schools outlining the relevant institutional arrangements in countries such as Denmark Germany France Ireland the Netherlands and Scotland The following chapters provide a detailed analysis of the discussions and controversies surrounding faith based schools in each country Finally the two concluding chapters aim to provide a bigger comparative picture with regard to these debates about religious education in liberal democratic states and culturally pluralist societies This book was originally published as a special issue of Comparative Education
