R. Willison,1972-12-07 More than fifty specialists have contributed to this new edition of volume 4 of The Cambridge Bibliography of English Literature The design of the original work has established itself so firmly as a workable solution to the immense problems of analysis articulation and coordination that it has been retained in all its essentials for the new edition The task of the new contributors has been to revise and integrate the lists of 1940 and 1957 to add materials of the following decade to correct and refine the bibliographical details already available and to re shape the whole according to a new series of conventions devised to give greater clarity and consistency to the entries MLA International Bibliography of Books and Articles on the Modern Languages and Literatures Modern Language Association of America,1992 Vols for 1969 include ACTFL annual bibliography of books and articles on pedagogy in foreign languages 1969 Not Without Glory Vernon Scannell,2013-10-28 First published in 1976 Poets from Homer and Virgil to Tennyson and Hardy have written much about armed conflict on land and sea but it was not until the end of the First World War that the term War Poetry was used to describe not merely that verse which took war as its subject but a kind of poetry which had not been written before a literature which did not celebrate the martial virtues but one which was created by those who had endured battle and described in exact and often brutal terms just what it was like to be a fighting man in the first Great War of the twentieth century This is a collection of essays on the following poets Keith Douglas Alun Lewis Sidney Keyes Roy Fuller Alan Ross and Charles Causley Henry Reed and others and American Poets of the Second World War The Unthroned Oracle Jack Blackmore,2016-11-01 Laura Riding was a major poet whose poems though widely admired and influential have been little understood Throughout the 1920s and 1930s she was a devout advocate of poetry believing that to go to poetry is the most ambitious act of the mind Her subsequent renunciation of poetry in the 1940s gave rise to bemusement Jack Blackmore tackles the causes of the neglect of Riding s poetry and establishes new and productive approaches to the poems His close readings of fifteen poems demonstrate the progress of Collected Poems and the remarkable range and scope of her poetry He establishes both the strength and unity of the poems and the continuity between them and her post poetic work in particular her spiritual testament The Telling Mark Jacobs s vivid memoir of a visit to the author in later life at her Florida home complements the work on the poems These essays are interesting and you have done well You seem to me fair and just in what you say about her work Robert Nye This is ambitious work full of insights Professor Michael Schmidt W. S. Merwin Cary Nelson, Ed Folsom, 1987
