Bauer, 2010-07-22 The ceque system of Cusco the ancient capital of the Inca empire was perhaps the most complex indigenous ritual system in the pre Columbian Americas From a center known as the Coricancha Golden Enclosure or the Temple of the Sun a system of 328 huacas shrines arranged along 42 ceques lines radiated out toward the mountains surrounding the city This elaborate network maintained by ayllus kin groups that made offerings to the shrines in their area organized the city both temporally and spiritually From 1990 to 1995 Brian Bauer directed a major project to document the ceque system of Cusco In this book he synthesizes extensive archaeological survey work with archival research into the Inca social groups of the Cusco region their land holdings and the positions of the shrines to offer a comprehensive empirical description of the ceque system Moving well beyond previous interpretations Bauer constructs a convincing model of the system s physical form and its relation to the social political and territorial organization of Cusco

Schwartz,1996 Library holds volume 2 part 2 only Image - Object - Performance Astrid Windus,Eberhard Crailsheim,2013 Images objects and performances represent essential forms of mediality which frequently escape our traditional understanding of historical communication

This volume discusses from an interdisciplinary perspective the varying structures and media of communication and representation in transcultural spaces of Latin America and the Philippines Based on different topics and methodological approaches of the contributors the articles reflect on the perspectives and problems of the integration of visibility materiality and performance as categories of cultural analysis in historical settings between the sixteenth and nineteenth centuries In that regard both the methodological and regional comparative approaches of this volume claim to contribute beyond the regional focus of the studies to the general debate about cultural theories and to make general statements about the mechanisms of cross cultural communication in cultural contact zones of the modern period At Home with the Sapa Inca

Stella Nair,2015-07-01 By examining the stunning stone buildings and dynamic spaces of the royal estate of Chinchero Nair brings to light the rich complexity of Inca architecture This investigation ranges from the paradigms of Inca scholarship and a summary of Inca cultural practices to the key events of Topa Inca s reign and the many individual elements of Chinchero s extraordinary built environment What emerges are the subtle often sophisticated ways in which the Inca manipulated space and architecture in order to impose their authority identity and agenda The remains of grand buildings as well as a series of deft architectural gestures in the landscape reveal the unique places that were created within the royal estate and how one space deeply informed the other These dynamic settings created private places for an aging ruler to spend time with a preferred wife and son while also providing impressive spaces for imperial theatrics that reiterated the power of Topa Inca the choice of his preferred heir and the ruler s close relationship with sacred forces This careful study of architectural details also exposes several false paradigms that have profoundly misguided how we understand Inca architecture including the belief that it ended with the arrival of Spaniards in the Andes Instead Nair reveals how amidst the entanglement and violence of the European encounter an indigenous town emerged that was rooted in Inca ways of understanding space place and architecture and that paid homage to a landscape that defined home for Topa Inca Narrative and Critical History of
