H. Stacy, 1974-04-01 Russian Literary Criticism is a survey of the various ways in which representative Russian critics from the eighteenth century to the twentieth century have viewed not only the literary works of other Russian and non Russian writers but also the problems of literature in general Primarily intended for readers who do not know Russian this book discusses the major Russian critics and critical movements The author provides sufficient historical and political background to enable the reader to understand both the literary situation and the problems facing Russian critics at any given time whether the influx of various ideologies official Soviet views or dissident opinion form the Decembrists to Solzhenitsyn Central and Eastern European Literary Theory and the West Michał Mrugalski, Schamma Schahadat, Irina Wutsdorff, 2022-12-05 Literary theory flourished in Central and Eastern Europe throughout the twentieth century but its relation to Western literary scholarship is complex This book sheds light on the entangled histories of exchange and influence both within the region known as Central and Eastern Europe and between the region and the West The exchange of ideas between scholars in the East and West was facilitated by both personal and institutional relations both official and informal encounters For the longest time however intellectual exchange was thwarted by political tensions that led to large parts of Central and Eastern Europe being isolated from the West A few literary theories nevertheless made it into Western scholarly discourses via exiled scholars Some of these scholars such as Mikhail Bakhtin become widely known in the West and their thought was transposed onto new Western cultural contexts others such as Olga Freidenberg were barely noticed outside of Russian and Poland This volume draws attention to the schools circles and concepts that shaped the development of theory in Central and Eastern Europe as well as the history of translations transformations and migrations that conditioned its relationship with the West

Psychomotor Aesthetics Ana Hedberg Olenina, 2020 In the late 19th century modern psychology emerged as a discipline shaking off metaphysical notions of the soul in favor of a more scientific neurophysiological concept of the mind Laboratories began to introduce instruments and procedures which examined bodily markers of psychological experiences like muscle contractions and changes in vital signs Along with these changes in the scientific realm came a newfound interest in physiological psychology within the arts particularly with the new perception of artwork as stimuli able to induce specific affective experiences In Psychomotor Aesthetics author Ana Hedberg Olenina explores the effects of physiological psychology on art at the turn of the 20th century The book explores its influence on not only art scholars and theorists wishing to understand the relationship between artistic experience and the internal processes of the mind but also cultural producers more widely Actors incorporated psychology into their film acting techniques the Russian and American film industries started to evaluate audience members physical reactions and literary scholars began investigations into poets and performers articulation Yet also looming over this newly emergent field were commercial advertisers and politicians eager to use psychology to further their own mass appeal and assert control over audiences Drawing from archival documents and a variety of cross disciplinary sources Psychomotor Aesthetics calls attention to the cultural resonance of theories behind emotional and cognitive experience theories with implications for today's Literature as Communication and Cognition in Bakhtin and Lotman Allan Reid, 2016-08-19 This title first published in 1990 argues for the existence of a significant connection between the theories of literature and culture of Mikhail Mikhailovich Bakhtin 1895-1975 and Iurii Mikhailovich Lotman 1922-1993 There is general agreement in the academic or scholarly community that there is such a connection however it is generally held to refer to Bakhtin's influence on Lotman which he expressed late in his life The major aim of this study meanwhile is to demonstrate that the critical theories of Lotman and Bakhtin are highly compatible independent of and prior to any direct influence This title will be of interest to students of literature and literary theory

Literary Structure, Evolution, and Value Jurij Striedter,1989

Criticism and Objectivity Raman Selden,2023-07-14 First published in 1984 Criticism and Objectivity argues that literary critics should not abandon the concept of knowledge English literary criticism has long considered theory to be alien to the felt experience of readers and writers the Romantic attitude towards reason and feeling has continued to inhibit the conceptual development of criticism The similarities between the role of theory in science and in literary criticism imply the need for objectivity to be redefined rather than abandoned While accepting that tests are relatively open structures defying final interpretations Dr Selden argues that their plurality is as much the effect of historical conditions as of the nature of language or subjectivity He calls for an historical criticism capable of conducting the voices of the text without resorting to formalism or reducing the text to its background This book will be of interest to students of literary theory
