From Adam Smith to Maynard Keynes Vincent W. Bladen, 1974-12-15 In this survey of the great exponents of the classical tradition Vincent Bladen examines the thought and works of Adam Smith T R Malthus Henry Thornton David Ricardo J S Mill Karl Marx W S Jevons Alfred Marshall and John Maynard Keynes and relates their views to modern situations This is a personal introduction by one of Canada's senior economists to some of the great books in the English literature of political economy Vincent Bladen wrote it to induce an interest in and an understanding of the economic classics in the belief that contemplation of those works will increase our understanding of current economic writing and current economic problems For the purpose of discussing the development of wealth the major concern of economists Bladen defines four periods within the classical tradition and demonstrates that in each there appeared a characteristic preoccupation with a particular area of economics From Adam Smith to John Stuart Mill the principal concern was productivity and growth the neoclassical economists represented by Jevons and Marshall emphasized the problems of allocation of given productive resources depressions in the twenties and thirties and the impact of Keynesian theory led to a preoccupation with employment and after World War II attention shifted to growth Bladen is critical of previous histories of economic thought by isolating the treatment of one element in a complex and integrated system of thought they frequently misrepresent each author's treatment of the particular element In this work he attempts to show each aspect of the work of the economists he has selected in the context of an integrated whole

Undertones of War Edmund Blunden, 2015-07-09 This military memoir from the six time Nobel Prize nominated poet and British WWI soldier is one of the permanent works engendered by the memories of war Paul Fussell National Book Award winning author of The Great War and Modern Memory I took my road with no little pride of fear one morning I feared very sharply as I saw what looked like a rising shroud over a wooden cross in the clustering mist Horror But on a closer study I realized that the apparition was only a flannel gas helmet What an age since 1914 In Undertones of War one of the finest autobiographies to come out of World War I the acclaimed poet Edmund Blunden records his devastating experiences in combat After enlisting at the age of twenty he took part in the disastrous battles at the Somme Ypres and Passchendaele describing them as murder not only to the troops but to their singing faiths and hopes All the horrors of trench warfare all the absurdity and feeble attempts to make sense of the fighting all the strangeness of observing war as a writer of being simultaneously soldier and poet pervade Blunden's memoir. In steely-eyed prose as richly allusive as any poetry he tells of the endurance and despair found among the men of his battalion including the harrowing acts of bravery that won him the Military Cross. Now back in print for American readers the volume includes a selection of Blunden's war poems that unflinchingly juxtapose death in the trenches with the beauty of Flanders's fields. Undertones of War deserves a place on the bookshelves of military buffs and poetry lovers.
