Managed Grasslands Analytical Studies Ecosystems Of The World 17b:

Grassland: a global resource D.A. McGilloway, 2023-08-28 The concept of grasslands as a global resource is not new. Indeed many recognised authorities have been canvassing for a global approach to understanding managing and exploiting this resource for many years. This is the first book that gathers together leading experts from around the world to outline our current understanding of this complex ecosystem the ways in which it can be enhanced and utilised and where the research challenges are for the future. The following themes unite the book: Efficient production from grassland; Grassland and the environment; Delivering the benefits from grassland. The reader is given an in depth understanding of the biology of the system and how grasslands are crucial for soil stabilisation and water quality. Secondly much attention is given to how grasslands offer the possibility of increasing food supply and income generation which is a hugely important but often ignored facet in today's climate of extensification and biodiversity. Current advances in the grassland sciences have a proven potential to promote the economic development and environmental stability of regions, nations and peoples particularly in some of the most resource limited areas of the world. Approaches for achieving the most effective development and adoption of new technology are reviewed.

Agronomy of Grassland Systems C. J. Pearson, Ray L. Ison, 1997-11-13 Revised edition with an increased emphasis on systems reflects current environmental and ethical concerns.

Managed Grasslands R. W. Snaydon, Alicja I. Breymeyer, 1987 The productivity of temperate grasslands; The productivity of mediterranean and semi arid grasslands; Physiological aspects of pasture growth; Modelling pasture growth; Effects of nitrogen fertilizer; Effects of grazing and cutting; The botanical composition of pastures; Beef production from managed grasslands; Milk production from managed grasslands; Sheep production from managed grasslands; Other domesticated animals; Grazing behaviour; Plant factors affecting intake; Minerals in pastures and supplements; Reproduction; lifespan and efficiency of production; Nitrogen cycling in managed grasslands; Phosphorus cycling in managed grasslands; Return of nutrients by animals; Nitrogen fixation in managed grasslands; Nitrogen losses from managed grassland; Run off and drainage from grassland catchments; Economic considerations in the production and utilization of herbage; Stocking rate; Fertilizer inputs and botanical composition; Herbage conservation and supplements.

The Biogeochemistry of the Amazon Basin Michael E. McClain, Reynaldo Victoria, Jeffrey E. Richey, 2001-11-08 With a complex assemblage of largely intact ecosystems that support the earth's greatest diversity of life the Amazon basin is a focal point of international scientific interest. And as development and colonization schemes transform the landscape in increasing measure scientists from around the world are directing attention to questions of regional and global significance. Some of these questions are: What are the fluxes of greenhouse gases across the atmospheric interface of ecosystems? How much carbon is stored in the biomass and soils of the basin? How are elements from the land transferred to the basin's surface waters? What is the sum of elements transferred from land to ocean and what is its marine fate? This book of original chapters by experts in chemical and biological oceanography, tropical agronomy and biology and the atmospheric sciences will address these and other important questions with the aim of synthesizing the current knowledge of biochemical processes operating within and between the various ecosystems in the Amazon basin Structure and Function in

Agroecosystem Design and Management Masae Shiyomi, Hiroshi Koizumi, 2001-02-21 Structure and Function in Agroecosystem Design and Management presents an advanced discussion of the need to design agricultural systems that 1 increase reliance on biological interactions in agroecosystems as a means of decreasing dependence on the use of large quantities of agrochemicals and the consumption of fossil fuel energy and 2 continue Rangeland Ecology And
