Managing Credit Programs In Continuing Higher Education

Victor M. Corman

Managing Credit Programs In Continuing Higher Education:

Managing Credit Programs in Continuing Higher Education Joe F. Donaldson, 1990 In this discussion of managing continuing education credit programming units three themes emerge The first theme is that unit administrators must rely upon leverage or influence to coordinate programs effectively and to gain the institution's acceptance of policies and procedures that support the credit programming unit and the adult learners it serves The second theme is the comprehensive nature of organizing and administering credit courses and programs Administrators must simultaneously juggle needs assessment budgeting marketing student recruitment and retention program development program coordination faculty participation and development budgeting and financing various modes of course and program delivery student support services and course and program evaluation while also attending to the demands and constraints imposed by external agencies and by the parent institution The third theme is opportunity Continuing education credit programming has reached a stage of maturity during the past decade The potential for stimulation and personal and professional growth through such opportunities is boundless Unit administrators must be willing to participate fully and proficiently in leading higher education into a new era of educational service to adults 34 references CML

Resources in Education, 1994 Leadership in Continuing Education in Higher Education Cynthia C. J. Shoemaker, 2007-12-27 The author has organized 33 years of expertise in Continuing Education into a comprehensive and practical guide to the leadership skills behaviors and knowledge needed to guide any Continuing Education enterprise past the pitfalls and toward the opportunities available To meet the needs of adults ages 22 to 85 who are flocking back to school nearly every college and university has been establishing and growing their Continuing Education entity Yet until now there has been very little education for leadership in this rapidly growing field From management and marketing knowledge to an understanding of the academic culture and creating a work environment that encourages creativity current theory is intertwined with its implications for the specific task of leading a successful Continuing Education effort The book begins with the process of developing a vision for the Continuing Education enterprise and conveying that vision to the staff faculty and the rest of the institution then moves on to setting the direction and goals of the organization staff development understanding and influencing the political environment and developing the skills of participative management that lead to program strength and creativity Readers will find insightful discussions of the challenges Continuing Education enterprises face in the years ahead and difference between administration and leadership Also included is an in depth presentation of management theory and techniques and marketing concepts as they apply to higher education The book's extraordinary contribution is a wealth of detailed information on the specifics of creating a thriving Continuing Education program Topics include ways to motivate staff members develop crucial liaisons and build resources and budgets guidelines for strategic planning managing change and creating dynamic work groups specific techniques for creative and analytical problem solving and an extensive collection of useful tools including questionnaires models diagrams charts summaries and direct interactive marketing tips Features include Specifically targets leadership skills needed in Continuing Education Discusses internal and external challenges and processes Applies important research in leadership behaviors to the specific environment of Continuing Education enterprises within higher education institutions Offers dozens of tools models questionnaires diagrams charts summaries and samples Includes how to information on strategic planning budgeting proposal writing and direct marketing Catalog of Activities Emergency Management Institute (U.S.),2000 Federal Financial Management Status Report and 5-year Plan , Revenue Generation Strategies: Leveraging Higher Education Resources for Increased Income Jeffrey W. Alstete,2014-12-31 Achieving successful financial viability by broadening revenue sources is one of the most important issues facing colleges and universities today Increasing operating costs along with the reliance on traditional student tuition government support and philanthropy are challenging universities One way administration leaders and faculty are meeting this challenge is to establish supplemental revenue streams from a variety other sources such as continuing education credit and noncredit certificates degree completion and upgrade programs study abroad domestic and international branch campuses distance education auxiliary services technology transfer and partnerships or alliances with other organizations These types of activities formerly considered secondary ventures are now integral to lasting and responsible financial strategic planning This monograph examines a wide variety of supplemental income options and opportunities as well as examples of restructuring financial planning schema While not negating the value of traditional college education these new revenue sources in fact lead to greater institutional effectiveness This is the 1st issue of the 41th volume of the Jossey Bass series ASHE Higher Education Report Each monograph is the definitive analysis of a tough higher education issue based on thorough research of pertinent literature and institutional experiences Topics are identified by a national survey Noted practitioners and scholars are then commissioned to write the reports with experts providing critical reviews of each manuscript before publication
