Thomas, Catherine Barr, 2004 Because of their popularity books in series are great vehicles for fostering literacy among all types of readers who are almost always adamant about reading every title in the series in series order Yet traditional information sources on children's and YA literature include very little about series fiction so librarians often have difficulty managing this literature This guide will be a rich resource and time saver for librarians who work with children It introduces users to the best and most popular fiction series of today covering more than 1 000 series with over 10 000 titles appropriate for elementary readers Annotations also indicate series and titles accepted by some of the popular electronic reading programs e g Accelerated Reading Reading First A numbered list of titles in the series follows Paperbound Books in Print, 1991 Frugivores and seed dispersal Alejandro Estrada, T.H. Fleming, 2012-12-06 A wide variety of plants ranging in size from forest floor herbs to giant canopy trees rely on animals to disperse their seeds Typical values of the proportion of tropical vascular plants that produce fleshy fruits and have animal dispersed seeds range from 50-90% depending on habitat In this section the authors discuss this mutualism from the plant's perspective Herrera begins by challenging the notion that plant traits traditionally interpreted as being the product of fruit frugivore coevolution really are the outcome of a response counter response kind of evolutionary process He uses examples of congeneric plants living in very different biotic and abiotic environments and whose fossilizable characteristics have not changed over long periods of time to argue that there exists little or no basis for assuming that gradualistic change and environmental tracking characterizes the interactions between plants and their vertebrate seed dispersers A common theme that runs through the papers by Herrera Denslow et al and Stiles and White is the importance of the fruiting environment i.e. the spatial relationships of conspecific and non conspecific fruiting plants on rates of fruit removal and patterns of seed rain Herrera and Denslow et al point out that this environment is largely outside the control of individual plant species and as a result closely coevolved interactions between vertebrates and plants are unlikely to evolve Nature Magazine Percival Sheldon Ridsdale, Arthur Newton Pack, 1924 An illustrated monthly with popular articles about nature The Florists' Review Gilbert Leonard Grant, 1956 St. Louis Daily Market Reporter and Merchants Exchange Price Current, 1888 The Independent, 1918 Scientific American, 1909 The Garden, 1888 Bazaar Exchange and Mart, and Journal of the Household, 1875 New International
