Rostra Sarg Und Predigtstuhl:

Poetry and Parental Bereavement in Early Modern Lutheran Germany Anna Linton, 2008-04-10 In early modern Europe it has been estimated that up to one in two children did not survive to the age of ten. In the light of this high mortality rate some historians have argued that parents did not form close relationships with their children especially the very young. This is clearly refuted by the testimony of bereaved parents such as Martin Luther and by the volume of consolatory writings produced for grieving families in early modern Lutheran Germany. The authors clergymen and lay people regarded grief as a deep wound which required treatment and they applied the balm of consolation through sermons tracts and occasional poetry. This study analyses these writings focusing particularly on the neglected genre of the epicedium funeral poem. It asks how and why poetry was used to counter the affective impact of parental bereavement and considers what makes it a suitable vehicle for consolation. The poems which are analyzed against the contemporary theological philosophical and poetological background are taken from Leichenpredigten printed funeral booklets as well as from collections by two contrasting poets Paul Fleming 1609-40 an unmarried man who wrote to console others and Margarethe Susanna von Kuntsch 1651-1717 who lost thirteen of her fourteen children. The study seeks to rehabilitate a neglected genre and participates in discussions on the sociology of death Lutheran teachings about death and mourning literary presentations of mortality and loss and the depiction of children and parent child relations in literature. Enduring Loss in Early Modern Germany, 2010-07-05 This anthology assembles cross disciplinary perspectives on the experience of and responses to forms of material and spiritual loss in early modern Germany tracing how individuals and communities registered coped with and made sense of such events as war religious reform bankruptcy religious marginalization the death of spouses and children and the loss of freedom of movement through a spectrum of activities including writing poetry keeping diaries erecting monuments collecting books singing painting reconfiguring space repeatedly migrating and painting and thereby not only turned loss into gain but self consciously made history. Emerging from the 2008 interdisciplinary conference of Fr he Neuzeit Interdisziplin r the essays reveal how loss helped to create identity and gave rise to agency and creativity on the cusp of modernity. One of the chief reasons for his relative obscurity outside Germany is that almost all studies devoted to him are written in German. Another problem has to do with the inaccessibility of the recondite forms of Baroque literature. This book is designed especially for students and scholars in disciplines other than German particularly those in comparative literature and the modern languages where a lack of knowledge about this major

German writer distorts a proper international perspective on major figures of the 17th century But it also addresses the Germanist especially scholars in Germany they will find interpretations and a way of presenting them entirely new
