Bremmer,2017-07-13 In this work Jan N Bremmer aims to bring together the worlds of early Christianity and those of ancient history and classical literature worlds that still all too rarely interlock Contextualising the life and literature of the early Christians in their Greco Roman environment he focusses on four areas A first section looks at more general aspects of early Christianity the name of the Christians their religious and social capital prophecy and the place of widows and upper class women in the Christian movement Second the chronology and place of composition of the early apocryphal Acts of the Apostles and Pseudo Clementines are newly determined by paying close attention to their doctrinal contents but also innovatively to their onomastics and social vocabulary The author also analyses the frequent use of magic in the Acts and explains the prominence of women by comparing the Acts to the Greek novel Third an investigation into the theme of the tours of hell suggests a new chronological order shows that the Christian tours were indebted to both Greek and Jewish models and illustrates that in the course of time the genre dropped a large part of its Jewish heritage The fourth and final section concentrates on the most famous and intriguing report of an ancient martyrdom the Passion of Perpetua It pays special attention to the motivation and visions of Perpetua which are analyzed not by taking recourse to modern theories such as psychoanalysis but by looking to the world in which Perpetua lived both Christian and pagan It is only by seeing the early Christians in their ancient world that we might begin to understand them and their emerging communities Publisher s description People Grate Vine,2017-11-07 Dear readers Things said in this book have and will continue to move rapidly
