Relationships between human creativity natural growth and industrial production are at the heart of Roxy Paine's body of work surveyed here for the first time by critic Eleanor Heartney It includes stainless steel Dendroids tree-like sculptures installed in urban or sylvan environments hand fabricated Replicants uncannily mimicking plant life and elaborate machines that simulate human art making and natural erosion Together they serve often with doses of black humour as vehicles to consider profound dilemmas we face in a future where nature and technology inextricably are fused From the book jacket Roxy Paine Roxy Paine, Scott Rothkopf, 2001 Roxy Paine, 2018-11-13 Sculptor Roxy Paine's installations can feel like a cross between an alien landscape or a mad scientist's laboratory inside of a Twilight Zone episode Bringing together science and the natural world his surreal and sometimes eerie work has garnered him an elevated place in the pantheon of uber creative artists who create their own fantastical universes This monograph the most comprehensive on the market expertly surveys nearly 20 years of work Since 1989 Roxy Paine has been filling galleries museums and sites worldwide with his dark whimsical installations and sculptures melding the industrial and the organic to explore manmade and natural systems and their ramifications Paine divides his work into categories Art Making Machines mad scientist mini factories that produce works of art Replicants replicas of flora and fungi made out of industrial materials Fungal Fields painterly compositions of his fungi sculptures Specimen Cases vitrines filled with his fungal and floral replicas and Dendroids metal tree-like forms Through these industrial natural visions Paine reveals the horror and wonder when science and nature collide Roxy
