Re-reading / La relecture Rachel Falconer, Andrew Oliver, 2012-03-15 What happens when we re-read a familiar book Does the second encounter turn us into experts more knowing and confident in our relation to the text Or conversely does it expose the gaps and limits of each reading experience Does re-reading affirm our own sense of identity reconnecting us to earlier memories or does it shock and destabilize revealing discontinuities between past and present selves Is re-reading uncanny a discovery of the familiar in the unfamiliar or the reverse Do certain literary devices and tropes symbols allegories for example depend on re-reading to be activated Are there some texts that can only be re-read Re-reading is rarely discussed in depth yet it forms the core of most conversations about literature for we rarely become passionate or critical about books we have only read once It is also re-reading that consolidates a core of texts into what we recognise to be a canon of literature and it is re-reading again that breaks open the canon and reshapes it We re-read alone but we also re-read communally in the shared space of the theatre or in the translation of a text from one culture to another or one medium to another Re-reading is a necessary part of the professional reader's life yet there is often in the history of the individual scholar some formative relationship with a text read obsessively in childhood This bilingual volume of essays brings together an international group of eminent scholars in order to reflect on this process of re-reading in honour of Graham Falconer Professor of 19th century French literature and long-term re-reader The essays vary from personal reflections on formative childhood reading and self-reflexive scholarly re-readings to analysis of the theme of re-reading in texts and presentation of new theories of re-reading Gustave Flaubert Honoré de Balzac Stendhal Eugène Fromentin Guy de Maupassant Marcel Proust Samuel Beckett Dostoevsky Mikhail Bakhtin W B Yeats William Blake Roland Petit H G Wells and Anthony Hope are amongst the authors re-visited in these reflections on the practice of re-reading
