Economics of Deforestation Sven Wunder, 2000-07-19 Tropical forests are disappearing at an unaltered pace giving way to alternative land uses This book gives an economic perspective on deforestation Following a survey of different deforestation definitions theories and empirical evidence a case study of Ecuador provides a versatile historical picture of factors affecting forest loss throughout different periods regions and ecosystems It is shown that policy and market failures alone cannot explain rapid deforestation decision makers follow a composite economic rationale in their continuous clearing of forests which can only be counteracted by concerted action

The Economics of Optimal Growth Pathways S. Niggol Seo, 2023-02-25 Every society aspires to be prosperous It also endeavors to minimize the side effects of economic growth This book entitled The Economics of Optimal Growth Pathways addresses numerous trade offs faced by society to achieve prosperity and explores the best possible growth pathways The theories explored in this book serve as a springboard to better understand key challenges and aspects of the economy including food security land use forest and resource management capital markets and interest rates oil and gas extraction fish and marine resources saving and investment and climate change This book elucidates the concept of optimal economic growth pathways while addressing the challenges faced in natural resources and life on the planet It will be relevant to students and researchers interested in resource and environmental economics

Economics of Land Degradation and Improvement - A Global Assessment for Sustainable Development Ephraim Nkonya, Alisher Mirzabaev, Joachim von Braun, 2015-11-11 This volume deals with land degradation which is occurring in almost all terrestrial biomes and agro ecologies in both low and high income countries and is stretching to about 30% of the total global land area About three billion people reside in these degraded lands However the impact of land degradation is especially severe on livelihoods of the poor who heavily depend on natural resources The annual global cost of land degradation due to land use and cover change LUCC and lower cropland and rangeland productivity is estimated to be about 300 billion USD Sub Saharan Africa SSA accounts for the largest share 22% of the total global cost of land degradation Only about 38% of the cost of land degradation due to LUCC which accounts for 78% of the US 300 billion loss is borne by land users and the remaining share 62% is borne by consumers of ecosystem services off the farm The results in this volume indicate that reversing land degradation trends makes both economic sense and has multiple social and environmental benefits On average one US dollar investment into restoration of degraded land returns five US dollars The findings of the country case studies call for increased investments into the rehabilitation and restoration of degraded lands including through such institutional and policy measures as strengthening community participation for sustainable land management enhancing government effectiveness and rule of law improving access to markets and rural services and securing land tenure The assessment in this volume has been conducted at a time when there is an elevated interest in private land investments and when global efforts to achieve sustainable development objectives have intensified In this regard the results of this volume can contribute significantly to the ongoing policy debate and efforts to design strategies for achieving sustainable development goals and related efforts to address land degradation and halt biodiversity loss

Economics, Natural-Resource Scarcity and Development (Routledge Revivals) Edward B Barbier,2013-06-26

Global warming is an increasing problem tropical forests are being wiped out and major upper watersheds are being degraded Using insights provided by environmentalism ecology and thermo dynamics this book first published in 1989 outlines an economic approach to the use of natural resources and particularly to the problem of environmental degradation Edward Barbier reviews and critiques the long past of environmental and resource economics and then goes on to elaborate an economics which allows us to develop alternative strategies for dealing with the problems faced With examples drawn from Latin America and Indonesia he not only develops a major theoretical advance but shows how it can be applied Barbier's work is an important and relevant contribution to the discussion surrounding the economics of environmental sustainability

Introduction to Development Economics Subrata Ghatak,2003 Charged with analysing and criticising the way

economies develop and grow development economists play a vital role in attempting to reduce inequality across the world The fourth edition of this classic textbook introduces students to this vital field All of the popular aspects of earlier editions are retained with new additions such as the introduction of endogenous growth theory The book also includes the very latest World Bank development data With vastly improved and updated pedagogical features such as new topical case studies and questions for discussion Subrata Ghatak introduces what can be a difficult topic with a welcome clarity Economics of Forestry Roger A. Sedjo,2018-02-06 This title was first published in 2003 The Economics of Forestry is a specialized subset of resource economics addressing a specific natural resource the forest which is usually a relatively long time period Hence forest economics has characteristics similar to nonrenewable resources but also has those of a renewable resource in some cases approaching those of agriculture This volume comprises some of the most significant journal essays in forest economics and forest policy The International Library of Environmental Economics and Policy explores the influence of economics on the development of environmental and natural resource policy In a series of twenty five volumes the most significant journal essays in key areas of contemporary environmental and resource policy are collected Scholars who are recognized for their expertise and contribution to the literature in the various research areas serve as volume editors and write essays that provides the context for the collection Volumes in the series reflect three broad strands of economic research including 1 Natural and Environmental Resources 2 Policy Instruments and Institutions and 3 Methodology The editors in their introduction to each volume provide a state of the art overview of the topic and explain the influence and relevance of the collected papers on the development of policy This reference series provides access to the economic literature that has shaped contemporary perspectives on land use analysis and policy Handbook of Environmental Economics Karl-Goran Maler,Jeffrey R. Vincent,2003-05-20 The Handbook of Environmental Economics focuses on the economics of environmental externalities and environmental public goods Volume I examines environmental degradation and policy responses from a microeconomic institutional standpoint Its perspective is dynamic including a consideration of the dynamics of natural systems and global with attention paid to issues in both rich and poor nations In addition to chapters on well established topics such as the theory and practice of pollution regulation it includes chapters on new areas of environmental economics research related to common property management regimes population and poverty mechanism design political economy of regulation experimental evaluations of policy instruments and technological change The Economics of Biodiversity Partha Dasgupta,2024-07-11 Explains the current state of play in relation to biodiversity loss and explores a sustainable path for the future Proceedings of the 9th International Conference on Accounting, Management, and Economics 2024 (ICAME 2024) Mursalim Nohong,Fitra Roman Cahaya,Phung Minh Tuan,Arifuddin Mannan,Anas Iswanto Anwar,Rianda
