Schooling As A Ritual Performance:

Schooling as a Ritual Performance Peter McLaren, 1999 One of the most compelling ethnographies of school ever written Schooling as a Ritual Performance has for over a decade made its mark among educators sociologists and those seeking to understand the cultural meaning of classroom practices Written by one of the major world figures on the educational left Schooling as a Ritual Performance is a pioneering study of the partnership between capitalism and religion and the educational offspring it produces Not since Paul Willis Learning to Labor has an educational ethnography about schooling so pushed the limits of current social theory Now in a new edition to this classic text McLaren engages with some of the latest anthropological thinking and presents readers with a powerful manifesto for critical ethnography in the coming millennium Schooling as a Ritual Performance Peter McLaren, 1986 Rituals and Student Identity in Education R. Quantz, 2011-01-31 An exploration of how the nonrational aspects of schooling especially ritual s have been harnessed to construct a commonsense which serves the interests of transnational corporations leaving those educators committed to democracy to develop a new pedagogy that rejects the technical solutions that present reforms demand Towards Critical Environmental Education Aristotelis S. Gkiolmas, Constantine D. Skordoulis, 2020-11-03 This volume discusses theory philosophy praxis and methods in Environmental and Ecological education and considers the junction with the main visions and issues of Critical Pedagogy The volume and its separate chapters address four axes which can also be seen as the guidelines of the content as well as the central objectives of the book The first axis concerns the missing theoretical and practical pieces at this point in time The volume considers the issues that are not included in contemporary Environmental Education and thus deprive it from critical orientations This implies that in Environmental Education very little discussion exists about the political economic racial gender and class issues that in most cases govern the actions of leaders and stakeholders The second axis concerns what has been done so far and in what directions This involves descriptions of theoretical approaches or actual applied methodologies in the classroom such as curricula or syllabus used or the kind of actions certain educators have taken to infuse the issues of justice and critical reflection within the Environmental Education teaching agenda The third axis examines proposals It looks at ways to enrich domains of Environmental Education with the argumentations of Critical Pedagogy The fourth axis concerns the way in which proposals can be effectuated This part contains specific methodologies and teaching sequences depicting ways of including major aspects of Critical Pedagogy and Critical Education in Environmental Education Examples are Non anthropocentric ecological approaches in the classroom political activism in the Curricula mixture of field activities and political activities Performance and Appropriation Michel Conan, 2007 Breaking with the idea that gardens are places of indulgence and escapism these studies of ritualized practices reveal that gardens in Europe Asia the United States and the Caribbean have in fact made significant contributions to cultural change This book demonstrates methods and the striking results of garden reception studies The first section explores how cultural changes occur and devotes chapters to public landscapes in the Netherlands seventeenth century Parisian gardens Freemason gardens in Tuscany nineteenth century Scottish kitchen gardens and the public parks of Edo and modern Tokyo The second part provides striking examples of construction of self in vernacular gardens in Guadeloupe and American Japanese style gardens in California Finally the third section analyzes struggles for political change in gardens of Yuan China and modern Britain

Racial Categorization of Multiracial Children in Schools Jane A. Chiong, 1998-05-21 Multiracial students have unique needs that are not being met in schools because teachers and school personnel assume that those needs are the same as those of monoracial minority children Children of multiple races are in fact invisible in the schools On school and federal forms they are racially categorized based on one race only and such categorizations are not limited to documents Schools and teachers may unknowingly transmit monoracial identity messages to multiracial students which is problematic for some students who may want to identify with more than one race Our racial categorization process reflects the deficiencies of the concept of race in American culture and needs to be renegotiated The multiracial child is a microcosm of the American cultural identity Current racial categorization of multiracial children reflects a society that is still renegotiating its own racial and ethnic identities and these children bear the burdens of the difficulties As America continues to become increasingly populated by diverse peoples what it means to be American is in transition Americans are moving away from a fixed notion of the American cultural identity toward an expanded more inclusive resolution

On Study: Giorgio Agamben and educational potentiality Tyson E. Lewis, 2013-06-26 In an educational landscape dominated by discourses and practices of learning standardized testing and the pressure to succeed what space and time remain for studying In this book Tyson E Lewis argues that studying is a distinctive educational experience with its own temporal spatial methodological aesthetic and phenomenological dimensions Unlike learning which presents the actualization of a student s potential in recognizable and measurable forms study emphasizes the experience of potentiality freed from predetermined outcomes Studying suspends and interrupts the conventional logic of learning opening up a new space and time for educational freedom to emerge Drawing upon the work of Italian philosopher and critical theorist Giorgio Agamben Lewis provides a conceptually and poetically rich account of the interconnections between potentiality freedom and study Through a mixture of educational critique phenomenological description and ontological analysis Lewis redeems study as an invaluable and urgent educational experience that provides alternatives to the economization of education and the cooptation of potentiality in the name of efficiency The resulting discussion uncovers multiple forms of study in a variety of unexpected places from the political poetry of Adrienne Rich to tinkering classrooms to abandoned manifestos and finally to Occupy Wall Street By reconnecting education with potentiality this book provides an educational philosophy that undermines the logic of learning and assessment and turns our attention to the interminable paradoxes of studying The book will be key reading for scholars in the fields of educational philosophy critical pedagogy foundations of education composition and rhetoric and critical thinking and literacy studies
