Firefight Ginger Adams Otis, 2015-05-26 In 1919 when Wesley Williams became a New York City firefighter he stepped into a world that was 100% white and predominantly Irish As far as this city knew black men in the Fire Department of New York FDNY tended horses Nearly a century later many things in the FDNY had changed but not the scarcity of blacks New York had about 300 black firefighters roughly 3 percent of the 11 000 New York firefighters in a city of two million African Americans That made the FDNY a true aberration compared to all the other uniformed departments like the NYPD Decades earlier women and blacks had sued over its hiring practices and won But the FDNY never took permanent steps to eradicate the inequities which led to a courtroom show down between New York City s billionaire Mayor Mike Bloomberg and a determined group of black activist firefighters It was not until 2014 that the city settled the 98 million lawsuit At the center of this book are stories of courage about firefighters risking their lives in the line of duty but also risking their livelihood by battling an unjust system Among them FDNY Captain Paul Washington a second generation black firefighter who spent his multi decade career fighting to get minorities on the job He faced an insular culture made up of relatives who never saw their own inclusion as favoritism Based on author Ginger Adams Otis years of on the ground reporting Firefight is an exciting blend of the high octane energy of firefighting and critical Civil Rights history Firefighter Exam For Dummies Stacy L. Firefighting the Blitz Aylmer Firebrace CBE KPM, 2021-11-24 The former Chief Officer of London Fire Brigade offers his account of life in fire services in London and around Britain during World War II War was coming Everyone knew that confrontation with Nazi Germany was inevitable and that London was likely to be a prime target of Hitler's bombers. So in January 1939 Aylmer Firebrace the Chief Officer of London Fire Brigade was seconded to the Home Office to plan for the capital's fire defence. Before joining the Fire Brigade Aylmer Firebrace had been a Royal Navy officer who had fought in the Battle of Jutland during the First World War. It was following the Armistice that in 1919 he became principal officer in the London Fire Brigade. He was promoted to deputy chief and finally chief officer in June 1938. That war struck London soon enough but it was on 7 September 1940 that Firebrace's preparations were truly tested with the start of the Blitz. For the next fifty-seven days and nights London was subjected to the longest continuous bombing campaign in history. Then as the Luftwaffe ranged wider and further across Britain's towns and cities Firebrace was tasked with touring the nation to see the effects of the bombing at which point he saw the need for a national response. The result was the creation of the National Fire Service. Formed in August 1941 by the amalgamation of some 1 600 separate brigades this remarkable organisation had at its peak a strength of 370 000 men and women. It was led for its entire existence by Aylmer Firebrace. As the war continued Firebrace became Chief of the Fire Staff and Inspector in Chief of the Fire Services being the first and to date only person to head all the fire fighting services in Britain. This body had to deal with the expansion of the Blitz as well as the so-called Baedeker raids, the tip and run attacks, Baby Blitz and V1 and V2 offensives of the later years of the war. In his fascinating account written immediately after the war Firebrace reflects on the functioning of the fire service at its most testing time. This book is an essential addition to the understanding of the Blitz and how London and the rest of the country survived its darkest hour.
