Organized Interests And Self Regulation An Economic Approach

William J. Drake, Ernest J. Wilson (III.)

Organized Interests And Self Regulation An Economic Approach:

Organized Interests and Self-regulation Bernardo Bortolotti, Gianluca Fiorentini, 1999 This collection studies the role of organized interests in collective decision making and the emergence of self regulation It provides a balanced mix of theoretical and empirical papers in traditional public choice addressing the issues of how organized interest affect legislation and self regulation investigating the incentives and the problems related to the private enforcement of law The Anticompetitive Impact of Regulation Giuliano Amato, Laraine L. Laudati, 2001-01-01 This timely book addresses the important issue of the negative effects of anticompetitive regulation on industry and the massive economic harm it causes The distinguished contributors including economic and legal scholars advocate the need for a review of all anticompetitive laws and address several industry and country case studies with the ultimate aim of providing recommendations to eliminate the impact of anticompetitive regulation The first part of the book considers regulations affecting private business and professions part two covers public utility and public services regulation whilst part three discusses the role of institutions and competition authorities in relation to anticompetitive practices The authors draft guidelines based on economic evidence and legal arguments which they believe would provide a starting point for the European Union to address the problem They go on to propose possible implementation strategies for these guidelines from both an institutional and legal perspective The book also includes a historical perspective on the evolution of anticompetitive regulation complemented by an overview of the actions currently being implemented to address and reverse the problem in other jurisdictions Regulation of and by Pharmacists in the Netherlands and Belgium Niels Philipsen, 2003 This book examines the regulation of pharmacists in the Netherlands and Belgium from the perspective of law and economics It starts with an extensive and accessible overview of the economic literature with respect to the regulation including selfregulation of liberal professions Subsequently this book analyses the extent to which the current regulation of Dutch and Belgian pharmacists serves the public interest and the extent to which this regulation is a result of rent seeking behaviour by private interest groups The author concludes that some regulation notably with respect to advertising design of the pharmacy establishment of pharmacies and drug prices does not seem to serve the public interest Moreover he criticises the regulation of reimbursement for the pharmacist which in both countries is still linked to the pharmacist s monopoly in the distribution of drugs despite new tasks of the pharmacist in the field of pharmaceutical care In addition to a theoretical analysis the author carries out an empirical research of rent seeking behaviour in the pharmaceutical market Although the book studies the situation in the Netherlands and in Belgium its conclusions will certainly apply to other countries and other professions The book will therefore be of interest to all economists lawyers and practitioners interested in regulation of the liberal professions as well as practitioners and academics working in the field of health care Lawyers, Markets and Regulation Frank H Stephen, 2013-10-31 The book surveys where the most recent and radical liberalization involving the ownership of law firms by non lawyers is likely to lead and appraises the economic literature on the costs and benefits of regulating markets for professional services It EU Competition Law and Liberal Professions: an Uneasy Relationship? Ida E. Wendt, 2012-10-12 Drawing on the fundamental principles of EU competition law this book comprehensively reassesses the authority and democratic legitimacy of self and state regulation of liberal professions and ultimately challenges the use of a diffuse public interest concept in professional regulation

Professional Services in the EU Internal Market Tinne Heremans, 2012-01-31 Professional services are a key component of the EU internal market economy yet also significantly challenge the legal framework governing this internal market Indeed specific professional regulatory structures which are often the result of a blend of government and self regulation hold clear potential for conflict with EU free movement and competition law rules Hence this book looks at the manner in which both free movement and competition laws might apply to such self and co regulatory set ups and at the leeway given to quality considerations apparently conflicting with free movement or competition objectives In addition since court action will seldom suffice to genuinely integrate a market the book also explores those instruments of EU secondary legislation that are likely to impact the most on the provision of professional services However the book goes beyond a mere inventory to ask how EU Internal Market policy could contribute to the optimal legal environment for professional services A law and economics analysis is employed to investigate the need for specific professional rules the preferred type of regulator self co or government regulation and the level national and or European at which regulation should be adopted As becomes clear the story of the market for professional services is one of market and government failure the author is thus left to compare imperfect situations where market failures compete with rent seeking efforts the tendency towards over centralisation and national protectionism This book offers both an in depth legal analysis of the EU framework as it applies to professional services as well as a more normative evaluation of this framework based on insights from law and economics scholarship It will therefore be a valuable resource for all practitioners policy makers and academics dealing with professional services as well as more generally with questions of quality and self regulation

Ng, 2003-12-19 Yew Kwang Ng looks to make welfare economics more complete by discussing the recent inframarginal analysis of division of labour and by pushing welfare economics from the level of preference to that of happiness making a reformulation of the foundation of public policy necessary A theory of the third best is provided with extension to the equality efficiency issue The remarkable conclusion of treating a dollar as a dollar provides a powerful simplification of public policy formulation in general and in cost benefit analysis in particular

Regulation of Network Utilities Claude Henry, Michel Matheu, Alain Jeunemaître, 2001 Propelled by deep technical economic and cultural changes network utilities have in the last twenty years entered a new era Since competition has been widely introduced and promoted we have experienced a radical change in the structure of the industries and the role of the state authorities Their role in managing monopolies has evolved into regulating new forms of markets which has resulted in the creation of independent regulatory authorities These new public bodies work with governments to try and reconcile the needs of competition and public service missions This suggests the use of recent developments in economic theory to handle complex problems This volume offers an exploration by scholars and regulators of the new regulatory regimes across Europe The first part presents the pioneering experiences of the United Kingdom and Sweden The United Kingdom has quickly chosen to establish powerful and independent individual regulators Reforms in Sweden have been more gradual and regulators have in the first instance acted mainly as mediators Part two is devoted to second wave developments that took place in various European countries i e France Germany Italy and Spain countries where the legal tradition is less conducive to the concept of independent regulators There the regulators are often but not always less powerful and meet more obstacles in their efforts to prevent either the formation of oligopolies or the resistance of incumbent monopolies In Germany another problem has emerged as the federal tradition prevents the creation of independent regulators in certain key sectors The contributions in the third part of the volume throw some light on the problems of coordinating national regulations One can observe the continuous emergence of modes of cooperation between national regulators as well as European authorities Faced with certain categories of problem the European authorities are themselves led to act as common regulators The countries of central and eastern Europe which are progressively converging towards the general economic model of the West are more and more concerned with the accompanying regulation problems Last but not least the Internet raises worldwide problems of regulation that are beginning to be seriously considered

Limits to Privatization Marianne Beishem, Oran R Young, Ernst Ulrich von Weizsäcker, Matthias Finger, 2012-04-27 Limits to Privatization is the first thorough audit of privatizations from around the world It outlines the historical emergence of globalization and liberalization and from analyses of over 50 case studies of best and worst case experiences of privatization it provides guidance for policy
