Special Education for a New Century Lauren Katzman, Lauren I. Katzman, 2005 Special Education for a New Century pays particularly close attention to how inclusive education practices can best be promoted in the era of standards based accountability An updated version of the best selling Special Education at the Century's End this new volume combines cutting edge research and theory about students with disabilities with classic pieces that have influenced the special education field since the passage of the federal Education for All Handicapped Children Act in 1975 This new edition rediscovers those seminal articles and through a new wave of equally groundbreaking articles brings the issue up to the present day This book looks at special education among English language learners and in early childhood classrooms and offers new strategies for addressing the overrepresentation of African American and Latino students in special education The volume also includes trenchant contributions by Alfredo J Artiles Thomas Hehir and Christopher Kliever et al that challenge existing assumptions about disabilities urging teachers and administrators to cast away tired notions that denigrate students with disabilities and stand in the way of equal education for all Just as Special Education at the Century's End profoundly influenced disability policy and practice when it was published over a decade ago Special Education for a New Century sets the agenda for scholarship and policies concerning students with disabilities and inclusive education today It offers rich resources for policymakers and practitioners alike as they face the challenge of guaranteeing inclusive education for all students in today's schools

Walter, 2018-09-03 First published in 1992 With an ever increasing number of deaf students entering higher education throughout the world major strides need to be made in provision and support for them This book recognises that the integration of deaf students into mainstream higher education raises complex and challenging problems It has proved extremely difficult for deaf students to enter fully into the social and extra curricular fabric of campus life an essential factor in ensuring student success The authors provide an assessment of state of the art practice in postsecondary settings and suggest theoretical and practical approaches to providing support There is discussion of the attainments of deaf graduates with commentaries by deaf persons about their experiences in college In addition statistics support the theoretical contentions and clearly demonstrate the benefits of postsecondary education to deaf people Deaf President Now! John B.
