Third Series Library of Congress. Copyright Office,1976 Loanwords in the World's Languages Martin Haspelmath,Uri Tadmor,2009-12-22 This book is the first work to address the question of what kinds of words get borrowed in a systematic and comparative perspective It studies lexical borrowing behavior on the basis of a world wide sample of 40 languages both major languages and minor languages and both languages with heavy borrowing and languages with little lexical influence from other languages The book is the result of a five year project bringing together a unique group of specialists of many different languages and areas The introductory chapters provide a general up to date introduction to language contact at the word level as well as a presentation of the project s methodology All the chapters are based on samples of 1000 2000 words elicited by a uniform meaning list of 1460 meanings The combined database comprising over 70 000 words is published online at the same time as the book is published For each word information about loanword status is given in the database and the 40 case studies in the book describe the social and historical contact situations in detail The final chapter draws general conclusions about what kinds of words tend to get borrowed what kinds of word meanings are particularly resistant to borrowing and what kinds of social contact situations lead to what kinds of borrowing situations Resources in Education ,1984-10 Using English Words P. Corson,1996-03-31 Using English Words examines the impact that the life histories of people have on their vocabulary Its starting point is the taken for granted fact that the vocabulary of English falls into two very different sections Randolph Quirk mentions this striking incompatibility between the Anglo Saxon and the Latinate elements in English the familiar homely sounding and typically very short words that we learn very early in life and use for most everyday purposes and the more learned foreign sounding and characteristically rather long words 1974 p 138 It is mainly the second type of word that native speakers start learning relatively late in their use of English usually in the adolescent years of education and keep on learning It is mainly the one type of word rather than the other that ESL EFL students have more difficulty with depending on their language background This book shows how discursive relations outside education position people through their vocabularies Some are prepared for easy entry into lifetime prospects of relative privilege and educational success while others are denied entry In writing this book I share an aim with other writers who observe the many discontinuities that exist between discursive practices in communities outside schools and the discursive demands that schools make e g Hamilton et al 1993 Heath 1983 Luke 1994 Philips 1983 Romaine 1984 Scollon Scollon 1981
