notably Karl Rahner's inclusivism and John Hick and the pluralist paradigm. It is shown that Barth's theological system as a whole can serve as a resource for the Christian approach to and interaction with those of other faiths or no faith at all. This is achieved through maintaining a balance between the commitment to the own faith and the openness to the sovereignty of God impacting the whole of creation. Central to Barth's approach is the challenge to the Christian community to see their presuppositions challenged in the most unexpected circumstances while looking beyond human categories to affirm the dignity bestowed upon all of humanity through the divine Yes in the person Jesus Christ. Barth's theology with its starting point in the person of Jesus Christ is advocated as a framework for the members of the Christian community as they live alongside those with a different faith from their own.

Catholic Perspectives on Reform Seewald, Michael, 2022. The Catholic Church is under great pressure to change. The list of debated topics is long: women's rights, same sex partnerships, the involvement of the laity etc. Michael Seewald makes it clear the Church could be more flexible than it is currently. Discussions about reform move within a narrow dogmatic framework but this is only one of many possibilities. Here Michael Seewald shows how it is possible for the Catholic Church to undergo fundamental reform while at the same time remaining itself.

Revelation Phoenix, 2022-12-20 Revelations is one of the most misunderstood part of the Bible Most people look at the hundreds of images and symbols within it and try to explain it by taking these images and symbols literally Also people read these images and symbols in sequence from first to last this is not correct These images and symbols re structured into 4 scenes Each scene is a time These times are the link to understanding the code of the Bible These four scenes are better understood as Genesis Moses and the Old Testament Jesus until today and What will be in the future This book takes a deeper look at the reality of life as the spirit of mankind evolves form one time to the next and as we evolve from the darkness of the past into a light and bright reality as people learn to forgive one another

Perspectives on theology of religions Jaco Beyers, Piet J. van der Merwe, Wilhelmina Magdalena Shaw, Ronald Allen Baatsen, Johannes Janse van Rensburg, Tessa Freeman, 2017-11-23 In the public theology discourse the concept public square has become significant In today s multicultural and globalised world it is inevitable that people with different religious affiliations will encounter one another in the public square Public theology cannot but become theology of religions Scholars in the field of religion studies are compelled to reflect theologically on the relevance of religiosity in the postmodern secular world. The term theology of religions refers to the academic inquiry into the relationship between religions. The collected essays constitute such an inquiry. In the end, it is not so much about the encounter of religions but rather of people. Religion is no longer regarded as a monolithic body of beliefs and practices. The authors concede that the concept religion is too fluid to be delineated precisely. The book's approach to the relationship between religions, i.e. theology of religions, reflects how the authors understand the origin and nature of religion, a theology of religion in the singular. This book focuses more on theology of religions plural than on theology of religion singular. The main objective of the book is to present a variety of perspectives on how theology of religions manifested in different contexts. This includes historical, i.e. Luther's theology of religions and the Roman Catholic position on other religions as taken by Vatican II, as well as cultural and religious perspectives. In the first chapter, the editor gives a brief overview of the development of the discipline of theology of religions. The postmodern era is characterised by an almost non-foundational approach. The second chapter traces the development of the discipline in the Roman Catholic tradition in particular. This contribution is based on the insights of P. J. van der Merwe (1944-2014), who as researcher and Head of the Department of Science of Religion and Missiology at the University of Pretoria developed a specific theological position on non-Christian religions. A whole generation of theologians was trained in this school of thought. He passed away in 2014, and this publication pays tribute to his life's work on religions and their relations. The contributions that follow are the culmination of the research of postgraduate students at the University of Pretoria. The third chapter presents a perspective on the Reformation with a particular focus on Martin Luther. In this year of the quinqucentenary anniversary of the Reformation, the legacy of Reformed belief is highlighted. The fourth chapter describes the relationship between Christianity and Islam from the perspective of a willingness to embrace. The fifth chapter analyses the relation between Christianity, Judaism, and Islam from the perspective of intergroup threat theory. A model for theology of religions in a South African context is developed in the sixth and final chapter. This scholarly book pays tribute to the academic contribution of P. J. van der Merwe, mentor of the authors of these multifaceted reflections on theology of religions. The target audience is specialists in the field of religion studies. The distinctive contribution of the book is the innovative perspectives on the relationship between Islam and Christianity in both the Roman Catholic and Protestant contexts.

Victor I. Ezigbo, 2013-08-21. Should Christianity's theological face remain largely European and North American in the twenty-first century in the wake of the expansion of Christianity in sub-Saharan Africa, Asia, and Latin America?
