Revelations Teresa M. Redd, 1991 A Socially Just Classroom: Transdisciplinary Approaches to Teaching Writing Across the Humanities Kristin Coffey, Vuslat Katsanis, 2022-08-16 This edited collection provides a range of transdisciplinary approaches to the teaching of writing across the Humanities through the lens of inclusion and equity in higher education In three parts From Disciplinary Practice to Transdisciplinary Application The Collective We Transparent Pedagogy in Praxis Power in Presence From Chalkboard to Pavement the chapters focus on teaching triumphs and challenges specific learning objectives and best practices theories and their applications and concrete examples of campus action within specific institutional or socio historical contexts In whole the book represents what a socially just classroom looks like from first year university writing classes to advanced graduate studies and the impact of learning beyond the university Building on the scholarship of equity in higher education the book forefronts transdisciplinary pedagogies with chapters representing language and literature creative writing cultural and ethnic studies women and gender studies and media studies While we understand social justice as a multifaceted and ever expanding effort we affirm the essential role of classroom instructors as the foundational actors in cultivating and sustaining inclusion and equity We also acknowledge the current challenges of teaching brought on by the COVID 19 pandemic which intensifies previously existing issues surrounding housing employment healthcare and the legal residency status of many students By fostering a conversation around writing pedagogy in a comparative and transdisciplinary context we encourage educators to translate the resources available in their fields in a collective effort to close the equity gaps At the same time we intend for this book to provide a context where younger faculty and diverse students can redefine the college classroom while empowering each other within their chosen institutions

Hall, 2018-09-05 The Ethiopiae tawny Tartar the woman blackamoore and knotty Africanisms allusions to blackness abound in Renaissance texts Kim F Hall s eagerly awaited book is the first to view these evocations of blackness in the contexts of sexual politics imperialism and slavery in early modern England Her work reveals the vital link between England s expansion into realms of difference and otherness through exploration and colonialism and the highly charged ideas of race and gender which emerged How Hall asks did new connections between race and gender figure in Renaissance ideas about the proper roles of men and women What effect did real racial and cultural difference have on the literary portrayal of blackness And how did the interrelationship of tropes of race and gender contribute to a modern conception of individual identity Hall mines a wealth of sources for answers to these questions travel literature from Sir John Mandeville's Travels to Leo Africanus's History and Description of Africa lyric poetry and plays from Shakespeare's Antony and Cleopatra and The Tempest to Ben Jonson's Masque of Blackness works by Emilia Lanyer Philip Sidney John Webster and Lady Mary Wroth and the visual and decorative arts Concentrating on the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries Hall shows how race sexuality economics and nationalism contributed to the formation of a modern white male identity in English culture The volume includes a useful appendix of not readily accessible Renaissance poems on blackness
