Reverberations Robert M. Jacobson, 1974 Psychology for Musicians Andreas C. Lehmann, John A. Sloboda, Robert H. Woody, 2007-02-08 What is it that accounts for the differences between musical beginners advanced music makers and world class performers Virtually everyone likes music and has the capacity to be musical in some way despite what some may say about themselves Yet far fewer people come to be so involved with it that they identify themselves as musicians and fewer still become musicians of international class Psychology for Musicians provides the basis for answering this question Examining the processes that underlie the acquisition of musical skills Lehmann Sloboda and Woody provide a concise accessible and up to date introduction to psychological research for musicians The Imaginary Museum of Musical Works : An Essay in the Philosophy of Music Lydia Goehr, 1992-03-26 What is the difference between a performance of Beethoven's Fifth Symphony and the symphony itself What does it mean for musicians to be faithful to the works they perform To answer such questions Lydia Goehr combines philosophical and historical methods of enquiry Finding Anglo American philosophy inadequate for the task she shows that a historical perspective is indispensable to a full understanding of musical ontology Goehr examines the concepts and assumptions behind the practice of classical music in the nineteenth century and demonstrates how different they were from those of previous centuries She rejects the finding that the concept of a musical work emerged in the sixteenth century placing its emergence instead around 1800 She describes how the concept of a work then came to define the norms expectations and behaviour that we now associate with classical music Out of the historical thesis Goehr draws philosophical conclusions about the normative functions of concepts and ideals She also addresses current debates among conductors early music performers and avant gardists Introduction I The Analytic Approach Status and identity Analytical positions I Analytical positions II Critique and transition II The Historical Approach Normativity and Practice The central claim Musical meaning I Musical meaning II Musical production I Musical production II Werktreue Confirmation and challenge Practicing Perfection Roger Chaffin, Gabriela Imreh, Mary Crawford, 2005-04-11 The memory feats of famous musicians seem almost superhuman Can such extraordinary accomplishments be explained by the same principles that account for more ordinary everyday memory abilities To find out a concert pianist videotaped her practice as she learned a new piece for performance the third movement Presto of the Italian Concerto by J S Bach The story of how the pianist went about learning memorizing and polishing the piece is told from the viewpoints of the pianist the second author and of a cognitive psychologist the first author observing the practice The counterpoint between these insider and outsider perspectives is framed by the observations of a social psychologist the third author about how the two viewpoints were reconciled The CD that accompanies the book provides for yet another perspective allowing the reader to hear the polished performance Written for both psychologists and musicians the book provides the first detailed description of how an experienced pianist organizes her practice identifying stages of the learning process characteristics of expert practice and practice strategies The main focus however is on memorization An analysis of what prominent pianists of the past century have said about memorization reveals considerable disagreement and confusion Using previous work on expert memory as a starting point the authors show how principles of memory developed by cognitive psychologists apply to musical performance and uncover the intimate connection between memorization and interpretation
