Review Of Early Childhood Development Policy And Programs In Sub Saharan Africa:

Review of Early Childhood Policy and Programs in Sub-Saharan Africa Amy Jo Reinhold, 1997-01-01 The collaborative efforts of Colombia's Department of National Planning DNP and the World Bank has produced the National Evaluation System of Public Sector Performance SYNERGY Put in place by the Special Division for Evaluation in DNP this system has been designed and implemented to change the public sector from an inward looking process oriented body which sometimes restrains economic and social progress into a more dynamic results oriented partner of the community and private sector in development This report explores the critical factors in making SYNERGY a successful evaluation system Such factors include ways of making it an effective management tool promoting civil society participation by focusing on results for people and leveraging on their energy and resource defining a constructive learning process for implementation and providing an enabling environment for a results oriented public sector Early Childhood Development in Sub-Saharan Africa Nat J. Colletta, Amy Jo Reinhold, 2012 This study review of early childhood development policy and programs in Sub Saharan Africa is the second in a series of three studies conducted under the World Bank's Africa regional early child development ECD initiative The first described the condition of young children in Africa and pointed to the benefits of ECD in increased efficiency of primary and secondary school investments children's enhanced economic contribution to society and the reduction of social inequity The third study will synthesize lessons drawn from the preceding two studies and from case studies in Kenya South Africa and Mauritius The findings of this review are that weakened family and public social sector support for child development create a tremendous need for complementary and alternative forms of child care and that there are models The review selects eleven case studies from across the Sub Saharan region to illustrate a range of possibilities for an integrated response to the physical socio emotional cognitive economic and cultural dimensions of young children's development so that impact is maximized through the interconnectedness of investments The SAGE Handbook of Early Childhood Research Ann Farrell, Sharon L Kagan, E. Wolfensohn, 2021-10-25 Sector Investment Programs in Africa Stephen P. Jones, 1997-01-01 South Asia has made much progress in deregulation and liberalization in the 1990s but it still remains one of the least integrated regions in the world However this general trend masks wide disparities among South Asian nations the larger economies tend to be more highly protected with low import penetration rates while the smaller economies are relatively more open If the current reform program continues the benefits of liberalization will translate into higher growth This report reviews the regions economic performance from an international perspective and the steps taken to increase integration especially in terms of financial integration increased foreign direct investment portfolio and capital flows and regional integration intra regional trade regional arrangements Chapters also discuss the economic outlook for the region and prospects for South Asian exports such as textiles and clothing World Bank Group Publications ... Catalog World Bank Group, 1999 World Bank Research Program World Bank, 2008 World Development Report 2018 World Bank Group, 2017-10-16 Every year the World Bank s World Development Report WDR features a topic of central importance to global development The 2018 WDR LEARNING to Realize Education s Promise is the first ever devoted entirely to education And the time is right education has long been critical to human welfare but it is even more so in a time of rapid economic and social change The best way to equip children and youth for the future is to make their learning the center of all efforts to promote education The 2018 WDR explores four main themes First education s promise education is a powerful instrument for eradicating poverty and promoting shared prosperity but fulfilling its potential requires better policies both within and outside the education system Second the need to shine a light on learning despite gains in access to education recent learning assessments reveal that many young people around the world especially those who are poor or marginalized are leaving school unequipped with even the foundational skills they need for life At the same time internationally comparable learning assessments show that skills in many middle income countries lag far behind what those countries aspire to And too often these shortcomings are hidden so as a first step to tackling this learning crisis it is essential to shine a light on it by assessing student learning better Third how to make schools work for all learners research on areas such as brain science pedagogical innovations and school management has identified interventions that promote learning by ensuring that learners are prepared teachers are both skilled and motivated and other inputs support the teacher learner relationship Fourth how to make systems work for learning achieving learning throughout an education system requires more than just scaling up effective interventions Countries must also overcome technical and political barriers by deploying salient metrics for mobilizing actors and tracking progress building coalitions for learning and taking an adaptive approach to reform Catalog of Publications World Bank Group, 2000 Complete current catalog of all print and online journals and monographs Hard Lessons , 1998-01-01 Education is a basic condition for economic and social development Working in Exploring the Role of Public Expenditure in Advancing Female Economic Empowerment and Gender Equality Charla Britt, Danielle Egerer, 2024-05-24. This paper discusses connections between female economic empowerment and government spending. It is an abbreviated overview for non-gender experts on how fiscal expenditure may support female economic empowerment as an interim step toward advancing gender equality. From this perspective, it offers a preliminary exploration of key factors and indicators associated with gender-differentiated impacts in each of five main categories of public spending: education, health, capital expenditure, government employment and compensation, and social protection and labor market programs. It examines and proposes indices within each category that can be used to identify and measure related gender gaps and suggests associations and connections between those indices, public spending, and other available proxy measurements with some benchmarking potential, which is summarized at the end of each category in a Gender Lens Matrix for ease of reference. The paper draws on an extensive literature review and examination of publicly available datasets. It also highlights and discusses gaps in data which limit gender analysis. The purpose of the paper is to advance dialogue on the adoption of a gendered approach to government spending by providing a gender lens that may assist country-level assessments and discussions among IMF staff and member country authorities.

Hunger and Markets United Nations World Food Programme, 2012-05-04. Hunger and Markets is the third volume of the UN World Food Programme's World Hunger Series.

created to help promote a better understanding of the choices confronting leaders as they work to fight hunger. It appears at a crucial time with food prices at high levels, a severe global financial crisis, and vulnerable households around the world endangering their future health, education, and productivity by reducing both the quality and the quantity of their food intake. Hunger and Markets explores the complex and multifaceted interactions between the availability of and access to food and the operations of markets. The structure and dynamics of food markets and the threats and opportunities markets generate are crucial for the access to food for billions of people. Markets are also critical in averting or mitigating food shortages and hunger by adjusting to shocks, reducing vulnerability, and coping with crises. Whether markets help or harm the hungry poor is a function of markets, institutions, infrastructure, and policies. This volume analyzes the workings of markets in order to identify the sources of market failures in addressing hunger and malnutrition and to highlight the ways in which they can be improved. The report sets out the ways in which programme design and policy formulation can build on the strengths of markets to prevent possible negative effects and will be essential reading for all those involved in the fight against world hunger.
