Distinctive College, the Clark, The Revolt of the College Intellectual Everett Lee Hunt, 2007-10 The exuberant explosions of old college days have traditionally been forgiven as somewhat enviable expressions of the high spirits of exultant youth Are young intellectuals now the dominant group in many colleges less adolescent and more mature or do their immaturities merely manifest themselves in different ways As intellectual individualists students do not usually care for group explosions unless they are for social causes such as the rights of minorities But their adolescence often manifests itself individually in a superior condescension or in depressive inferiority complexes This book is a fascinating account of the changes that have taken place in the backgrounds attitudes and temperaments of students at the so called prestige colleges Though Everett Lee Hunt draws heavily upon his observations and experiences during more than thirty years as a dean and professor of Swarthmore College his book is much more than a case study of one outstanding college Hunt presents many concrete examples of student moods customs actions and expressions of values With wisdom and warmth he discusses three successive eras in the college schooling of American adolescents guarded education conformity to accepted ways and intellectual individualism Teachers deans student counselors personnel workers and school psychologists and psychiatrists will find this classic book of continuing interest in guiding their dealings with adolescent students The Revolt of the College Intellectual may also interest students themselves their parents alumni and all who are in anyway concerned with education as a preparation for life in a rapidly changing and troubled world Everett Lee Hunt who died in 1984 taught at Huron Swarthmore College Cornell University and the Universities of Illinois and Colorado His writings include studies of Plato Aristotle and Matthew Arnold He was the eighth president of the Eastern Communication Association Committee of Scholars and one of the founders of the field of communication Twentieth-Century Roots of Rhetorical Studies Jim A. Kuypers, Andrew King, 2001-03-30 Kuypers King and their contributors explore the conception of rhetoric of eleven key American rhetoricians through analyses of their life s work Each chapter provides a sense of that scholar s conception of rhetoric be it through criticism theory or teaching The communication discipline often highlights the work of others outside the discipline however it rarely acclaims the work of its own critics teachers and theorists In this collection the essays explore the innate mode of perception that guided the rhetorical understanding of the early critics In so doing this work dispels the myth that the discipline of Speech Communication was spawned from a monolithic and rigid center that came to be called neo Aristotelianism Scholars and researchers involved with the history of rhetoric rhetorical criticism and theory and American public address uill find this title to be a necessary addition to their collection Dignity, Discourse, and Destiny Darwin H.
