Property and Human Rights in a Global Context Ting Xu, Jean Allain, 2016-03-24 Property as a human rights concern is manifested through its incorporation in international instruments and as a subject of the law through property related cases considered by international human rights organs Yet for the most part the relationship between property and human rights has been discussed in rather superficial terms lacking a clear substantive connection or common language That said the currents of globalisation have witnessed a new era of interrelation between these two areas of the law including the emergence of international intellectual property law and the recognition of indigenous claims which in fundamental ways speak to an engagement with human rights law This collection starts the conversation between human rights lawyers and property lawyers and explores analytical approaches to the increasing relationship between property and human rights in a global context The chapters engage with key theoretical and policy debates and range across three main themes The re evaluation of the public private divide in the law the tensions between the market and social justice in development and the balance between the rights of individuals and those of communities The chapters adopt a global comparative perspective and engage in case studies from countries including India Philippines Brazil the United States the United Kingdom and includes various regions of Africa and Europe property rights guarantees Property and The Human Rights Act 1998 Tom Allen,2005-10-01 By giving further effect to the European Convention on Human Rights the Human Rights Act 1998 has had a significant effect on property law Article 1 of the First Protocol to the Convention is particularly important as it protects against the interference with the enjoyment of possessions Compulsory acquisition insolvency planning taxation environmental regulation and landlord and tenant laws are just some of the fields where the British and European courts have already had to assess the impact of the Protocol on private property The Human Rights Act 1998 also restricts the scope of property rights as some Convention rights conflict with rights of private property For example the Article 8 right to respect for the home has been used to protect against environmental harm in some cases at the expense of property and economic rights This book seeks to provide a structured approach to the extensive case law of the European Court of Human Rights and the UK courts on these issues and to provide guidance on the direction the law is likely to take in future Chapters cover the history and drafting of the relevant Convention rights the scope and structure of the rights especially Article 1 of the First Protocol and how through the Human Rights Act 1998 the Convention rights have already affected and are likely to affect developments in selected areas of English law
