Seeing Curriculum In A New Light Essays From Science Education:

Seeing Curriculum In A New Light Hugh Munby, Graham Orpwood, Thomas L. Russell, 1984-08-14 This book originally published by OISE Press in 1980 is designed for all those concerned with curricular issues particularly through graduate study or research And because the essays reflect in a disciplined and systematic manner on aspects of educational experience the book will have a wide appeal to those interested in qualitative research methodologies Routledge Library Editions: Education Mini-Set O Teaching and Learning 14 vols Various, 2021-12-02 Originally published between 1973 and 1993 the 14 books in this set discuss a number of themes such as policy practice and evaluation in schools dealing with disruptive behaviour issues regarding the teaching of arts and sciences ethnographic studies of life in primary and secondary schools and critical events in teaching and learning EBOOK: TEACHING AND LEARNING SCIENCE Derek

Hodson, 1998-12-16 This book extends and unifies recent debate and research about science education in several disparate fields including philosophy of science cognitive psychology and motivation theory Through an approach based on the personalization of learning and the politicization of the curriculum and classroom it shows how the complex goal of critical scientific literacy can be achieved by all students including those who traditionally underachieve in science or opt out of science education at the earliest opportunity Current thinking in situated cognition and learning through apprenticeship are employed to build a sociocultural learning model based on a vigorous learning community in which the teacher acts as facilitator co learner and anthropologist Later chapters describe how these theoretical arguments can be translated into effective classroom practice through a coherent inquiry oriented pedagogy involving a much more critical and wide ranging use of hands on and language based learning than is usual in science education Doing Science (RLE Edu O) Robin Millar, 2012-05-31 Doing Science is unique in seeking to make explicit the links between science education and science studies These fields of study and their respective academic communities whilst appearing to have many potential points of contact remain surprisingly separate with little apparent recognition of the relevance to the interests of each of the work done within the other tradition Presenting detailed accounts of current research the book highlights the significance of modern science studies for classroom practice and conversely the importance of the classroom and teaching laboratory as a context for science studies The thread which runs through the collection as a whole is children s experience of doing science and the image of science which learners pick up along with the science knowledge understanding and skills they require

The RoutledgeFalmer Reader in Science Education John Gilbert, 2004 This Reader brings together a wide range of material to present an international perspective on topical issues in science education today In order to identify what themes should be addressed in the book thirty eight science educators from around the world responded to the question What issues are currently important in science education in your country The outcome is this lively and authoritative Reader which features topics as varied as globalisation assessment pupil s views on science education environmental education teaching approaches teacher development multimedia and ICT constructivism With a specially written introduction from the editor providing a much needed context to the current education climate students of science education will find this Reader an important route map to further reading and understanding Science Communication in Theory and Practice S.M. Stocklmayer, M.M. Gore, C.R. Bryant, 2012-12-06 Hereafter you will find a first a comprehensive textbook on the communication of science in theory and practice Is there a need for such a textbook Obviously yes Whether you are a scientist a science journalist a science teacher a science museum specialist a scientific website designer a science historian a science entertainer a member of a scientific society or club a science tinkerer there is always a chance that you will be enthusiastic about the job of communicating science but uncertain about whether you do it well This book exposes you to the practices of others by reviewing science communication case studies or by inviting you to plunge into the underlying rationale of theoretical approaches to science communication These are different opportunities for comparing your experience with the practices or reflections of others The conversation can even be established and furthered with the authors of some of these case studies or of the theories presented in this book by using their website and possibly their email addresses This book like a composite gathers contributions from experts from most of the above mentioned fields A lot of practices are discussed and they are among the very best practices according to common professional wisdom in the field Those practices are also reflected upon in an attempt to be somewhat theoretical New Directions in African Education S. Nombuso Dlamini, 2008 A collection of essays which critically examines education in the African context and presents possible courses of action to reinvent its future Routledge Library Editions: Education Management Various, 2021-07-29 Reissuing works originally published between 1975 and 1997 this collection includes books covering all aspect of managing schools from primary to further education With an international selection of authors some volumes present case studies while others address wider areas of concern in the management of educational institutions Individual volumes concern special schools and specific types such as the grant maintained system in the UK Topics cross over from finance to staff development to politics and governance to innovation This is an excellent varied set for any education management bookshelf Rethinking Schooling Ian Westbury, Geoff Milburn, 2006-11-22 Taking a collection of seminal articles from the Journal of Curriculum Studies this book offers readers a vantage point for thinking about the worlds of schools and curricula focusing in particular on the concept of seeing schools curricula and teaching in new ways Each of the chapters sheds fresh light on the ways of thinking the aforementioned Themes include classrooms and teaching pedagogy science and history education school and curriculum development students lives in schools Written by an international group of distinguished scholars from Britain North America Sweden and Germany the chapters draw on the perspectives offered by curriculum and pedagogical theory history ethnography sociology psychology and organisational studies and experiences in curriculum making Together they invite many questions about why teaching and curricula must be as they are Rethinking Schooling provides new futures for education and alternative ways of seeing them History, Philosophy and Science Teaching Michael R. Matthews, 2017-08-30 This anthology opens new perspectives in the domain of history philosophy and science teaching research Its four sections are first science culture and education second the teaching and learning of science third curriculum development and justification and fourth indoctrination The first group of essays deal with the neglected topic of science education and the Enlightenment tradition These essays show that many core commitments of modern science education have their roots in this tradition and consequently all can benefit from a more informed awareness of its strengths and weaknesses Other essays address research on learning and teaching from the perspectives of social epistemology and educational psychology Included here is the first ever English translation of Ernst Mach s most influential 1890 paper on The Psychological and Logical Moment in Natural Science Teaching This paper launched the influential Machian tradition in education Other essays address concrete cases of the utilisation of history and philosophy in the development and justification of school science curricula These are instances of the supportive relation of HPS a subject long discussed in philosophy of education but inadequately in science education This book is a timely reminder of why history and philosophy of science are urgently needed to support understanding of science From major traditions such as the Enlightenment to the tensions around cultural studies of science the book provides a comprehensive context for the scientific endeavour drawing on curriculum and instructional examples Sibel Erduran University of Oxford UK The scholarship that each of the authors in this volume offers deepens our understanding of what we teach in science and why that understanding matters This is an important book exploring a wide set of issues and should be read by anyone with an interest in science or science education Jonathan Osborne Stanford University USA This volume presents new and updated perspectives in the field such as the Enlightenment Tradition Cultural Studies Indoctrination in Science Education and Nature of Science Highly recommended Mansoor Niaz Universidad de Oriente Venezuela This volume provides an extremely valuable set of insights into educational issues related to the history and philosophy of science Michael J Reiss University College London UK
