[English Ed. \[catalogue\]](#). Wai wen chu ban she, 1967. Mao Tse-Tung's Theory of Dialectic F.Y.K. Soo, 2012-12-06. The year 1979 ushered in a new phase in China's long and continuous revolution. Currently this new phase is being symbolically referred to by the Chinese leaders themselves as the New Long March, a continuation of the legendary and historical Long March in terms of modernization which comprises the Four Modernizations: Agriculture, Industry, Science and Technology, and Military Defense. Such an all-encompassing attempt at modernization may appear to some at least to be something new or may indicate a radical shift in her policy. But upon closer examination this decision seems only to reflect an historical continuity in terms of the two major long-term goals of the Chinese Revolution: national independence and modernization or industrialization. The former would make China strong, the latter wealthy. For ever since the Opium War in 1840 and throughout the Revolutions of 1911 and 1949, China has always pursued these two revolutionary goals, though with different emphases at different times. This has been especially true during the past three decades as this twofold goal has dictated all of China's important policies, both domestic and foreign. In other words, while the concrete policies may have appeared to be lacking in unity at times, they have been formulated with the specific intent of achieving national independence and modernization. From this perspective, the New Long March marks the passage of post-Mao China beyond the transition of succession toward the continued pursuit of the same revolutionary goals. SELECTED WORKS OF MAO TSE-TUNG (INTERLOAN 363181)., China And The World Samuel S Kim, 2018-02-02. As the postwar international system continues its dramatic transformation, the fundamental question of what role China will play is becoming increasingly central. Contributors to the volume focus on the developments of the post-Tiananmen years, addressing the issues raised by China's expanding and increasingly complex relationships with a rapidly changing global environment. They consider such questions as: What is the principal challenge of post-Tiananmen foreign policy? How will China cope with the call for a more peaceful, equitable, democratic, and ecological world order? How has the nexus between China and the world changed in this transition period, and why? What are the implications for China's future and for the future of the rest of the world? Combining a broad theoretical framework with specific case studies, this text tackles themes that have long puzzled Westerners. Seeking the often elusive sources of Chinese foreign policy, the contributors assess the relative influences of domestic and foreign factors in shaping policy goals. They also examine the changes and continuities that have characterized Chinese foreign relations over the years, identifying the patterns underlying China's interactions with the major global actors and its policies on specific international issues. Special attention is paid to the word-deed and at times word-word disjuncture in Chinese foreign relations with several chapters probing the discrepancies between rhetoric and reality policy pronouncements and policy performance and intent and outcome The human rights component of China s foreign policy and China s foreign policy options for the last decade of the century are also discussed New to this revised and updated edition of China and the World are discussions concerning Chinese foreign policies and international relations theories the relationship between China and the Third World and China s environmental diplomacy

China, Football, and Development Emanuel Leite Junior, Carlos Rodrigues, 2023-08-18 This book uses football as a lens through which to examine China s economic development its political economy and its political thought Focusing on the Chinese Football Development Plan this book opens up new perspectives on the concepts of hegemony soft power socialism with Chinese characteristics and China s rise to the position of geopolitical superpower Presenting a critical Marxist analysis of soft power and drawing on Gramsci s conceptualisation of hegemony this book argues that football can be seen as a resource for seduction and persuasion and therefore as an instrument to be used in the hegemonic clash Reflecting on the idea of soft power in relation to imperialism and ideology and standing in contrast to prevailing Western orthodox analyses of Chinese development this book shows how the Chinese Football Dream is a significant component of the Chinese Dream of rejuvenation of the nation and shows how football can help us to better understand the role of the state as an inducer of development and creative destruction This is fascinating reading for anybody with an interest in sport policy public policy sport and society football development studies political economy or political thought

Endogenous Origins of Economic Reforms in India and China Rajiv G. Maluste, 2011-07 Attitudinal change in the context of economic reforms has been referred to in Rodrik and Subramanian 2005 DeLong 2003 Kohli 1989 and Panagariya 2004 2008 This dissertation provides empirical support for this literature establishing an earlier start for India s economic policy liberalisation than presented in stylized accounts It demonstrates the endogenous nature of the origins of these policy shifts Attitudinal change literature had directed attention to the need for further research into India s policy changes of the early 1980s and for studying broader comparability issues in other developing countries This research makes a contribution towards filling these gaps This dissertation shows that India started its economic liberalisation under the Indira Gandhi administration from 1980 to 1984 These findings depart from the conventional view that India s economic policy changes were initiated by the Narasimha Rao government in 1991 or by the Rajiv Gandhi administration in the mid to late 1980s The dissertation establishes that policy shifts of the early 1980s had endogenous origins in the political leadership s attitudinal changes The Indira Gandhi administration of the early 1980s revisited the statist policies of its previous tenure from 1966 to 1977 The new approach entailed more openness towards private enterprise scaling back the role of the public sector and starting India s integration into the global economy The dissertation also discusses the comparable role of attitudinal changes at the start of China s policy liberalisation led by Deng Xiaoping from 1978 to 1982 It focuses on the significance and challenges faced by China s political leadership in bringing about societal attitudinal change The dissertation concludes by drawing comparisons between India and China developing a linkage between their endogenous attitudinal changes and economic policy liberalisation

A Continuous Revolution Barbara Mittler, 2020-03-17 Cultural Revolution Culture often denigrated as nothing but propaganda was liked not only in its heyday but continues to be enjoyed today A Continuous Revolution sets out to explain its legacy By considering Cultural Revolution propaganda art music stage works prints and posters comics and literature from the point of view of its longue dur e Barbara Mittler suggests it was able to build on a tradition of earlier art works and this allowed for its sedimentation in cultural memory and its proliferation in contemporary China Taking the aesthetic experience of the Cultural Revolution 1966 1976 as her base Mittler juxtaposes close readings and analyses of cultural products from the period with impressions given in a series of personal interviews conducted in the early 2000s with Chinese from diverse class and generational backgrounds By including much testimony from these original voices Mittler illustrates the extremely multifaceted and contradictory nature of the Cultural Revolution both in terms of artistic production and of its cultural experience

War in Modern China Harold M Tanner, 2025-09-30 This book offers comprehensive coverage of China s military history from the Qing dynasty 1644 1912 to present China has become one of the great world powers of the twenty first century As a result Chinese leaders and observers outside of China alike seek to explain China s strategic thought and action In doing so they routinely refer to China s military history This volume examines this history beginning with the Qing dynasty s era of imperial expansion and subsequent decline continuing with the wars against foreign aggression and internal uprisings of the nineteenth century the revolutionary overthrow of the Qing in 1911 and seemingly constant wars of the first half of the twentieth century and concluding with the Chinese Communist Party s use of military power from 1950 to present This history is generally presented as a narrative of imperial greatness followed by a century of national humiliation followed by a recovery of national wealth and power under Communist Party leadership While acknowledging this narrative Harold Tanner digs deeper to reveal a fundamental continuity of interests underlying Chinese strategic thinking from the Qing to the present while also showing how the theory and practice of war in China changed over time as Chinese political and military leaders wrestled with tremendous challenges drawing on foreign sources as well as their own cultural heritage to seek new solutions Both engaging and timely War in Modern China A Military History is essential reading for students scholars and enthusiasts of Chinese and global military history

Class and the Communist Party of China, 1921-1978 Marc Blecher, David S G Goodman, Yingjie Guo, Jean-Louis Rocca, Tony Saich, 2022-02-24 Examining the interaction between the Communist Party of China CCP and specific social categories including peasants workers the middle classes and the dominant class with a focus on class and class discourse this volume analyses the CCP s impact on social change in China between 1921 and 1978 By exploring the CCP s evolving discourse of class this book demonstrates that while class has retained its centrality its meaning has been re articulated from an ideological political tool to a less meaningful signifier though always used instrumentally By examining the impact of the CCP's policies and discourse surrounding class it also reveals how its own policies since 1921 have shaped the CCP's current 2021 perspectives on class and stratification This volume through an analysis of economic political and cultural inequalities in Chinese society even after 1949 also reveals the emergence of a diverse and often overlooked middle class in Chinese society during the 1950s Delivering a detailed analysis of how the CCP has developed its practical approaches to class and mobilization this study will be of interest to students and scholars of Chinese politics Chinese history Asian politics and Asian studies

Overseas Chinese, Ethnic Minorities and Nationalism Elena Barabantseva, 2010-09-13 Elena Barabantseva looks at the close relationship between state led nationalism and modernisation with specific reference to discourses on the overseas Chinese and minority nationalities The interplay between modernisation programmes and nationalist discourses has shaped China's national project whose membership criteria have evolved historically By looking specifically at the ascribed roles of China's ethnic minorities and overseas Chinese in successive state led modernisation efforts This book offers new perspectives on the changing boundaries of the Chinese nation It places domestic nation building and transnational identity politics in a single analytical framework and examines how they interact to frame the national project of the Chinese state By exploring the processes taking place at the ethnic and territorial margins of the Chinese nation state the author provides a new perspective on China's national modernisation project clarifying the processes occurring across national boundaries and illustrating how China has negotiated the basis for belonging to its national project under the challenge to modernise amid both domestic and global transformations This book will be of interest to students and scholars of Asian politics Chinese politics nationalism transnationalism and regionalism

Routledge Handbook of the Chinese Communist Party Willy Wo-Lap Lam, 2017-08-18 Whilst the Chinese Communist Party is one of the most powerful political institutions in the world it is also one of the least understood due to the party's secrecy and tight control over the archives the press and the Internet Having governed the People's Republic of China for nearly 70 years though much interest remains into how this quintessentially Leninist party governs one fifth of the world and runs the world's second largest economy The Routledge Handbook of the Chinese Communist Party gives a comprehensive and multi faceted picture of the party's traditions and values as well as its efforts to stay relevant in the twenty first century It uses a wealth of contemporary data and qualitative analysis to explore the intriguing relationship between the party on the one hand and the government the legal and judicial establishment and the armed forces on the other Tracing the influence of Marx Engels Lenin and Stalin as well as Mao Zedong on contemporary leaders ranging from Deng Xiaoping and Jiang Zemin to Hu Jintao and Xi Jinping the sections cover the party's history and traditions how the party works and seeks to remain relevant major policy arenas the CCP in the twenty first century The Routledge Handbook of the Chinese Communist Party will be of interest to students and scholars of Chinese Politics Asian Politics Political Parties and International Relations Go to <https://www.bookshop4u.com/lw1> to see Willy Lam introduce the book China's May Fourth Movement Sabaree Mitra, 2023-02-28 This book looks at China's May Fourth Movement and how it has been contextualised in modern Chinese history. Tracing the roots of the movement and of modern Chinese literary and intellectual traditions, the book analyses how the movement transformed ideas, culture and social practices in the country. The volume presents a critical in-depth study of the May Fourth Movement from interdisciplinary perspectives. With essays written by scholars and experts from India, China and the West, it discusses concepts and themes such as nationalism, the citizen and revolutionary morality in the late Qing dynasty as well as Lu Xun's struggle with the aporetic temporalities of capitalist modernity, the May Fourth spirit and the Communist Party of China, the birth of the New Woman and the literature, cinema and art produced during the movement. It also examines how the waves created by the movement in Chinese culture and society continue to influence and shape events and thoughts in contemporary times. This book will be of interest to scholars and researchers of Chinese Studies, Chinese history, Asian Studies, Asian history, political history and cultural history.

On the Alternative Punishment to the Death Penalty in China Gui Huang, 2024-04-17 This book presents a study of alternative penalties to the death penalty in China, aiming to promote theoretical exploration of death penalty reform in China as well as long-term penal reform. Currently, China is endeavouring to control the use of the death penalty and is gradually moving towards its abolition. The factors influencing the choice of the punishment option to replace the death penalty are complex and varied and include the traditional punishment culture, penalty concepts, the political system, the punishment system, public opinion and human rights, etc. Given the differences between China and developed Western democratic states, when we examine these influencing factors, we cannot ignore the culture of the punishment and the special political and legislation system in China. In this light, this work examined and analysed the factors that influence the choice of punishment option to replace the death penalty in this special political system with its clearly Chinese characteristics. Criminal policy and public opinion are two significant and typical factors involving obvious political considerations in China. The former normally reflects and carries out the will of the Government as expressed to the national management; the latter responds to the majority of citizens' view on the current legal system and it is to a great extent the basis for national leadership's running of the country. Even though life imprisonment without release hereinafter LWOR has been stipulated by the Ninth Amendment for the crime of corruption, it should not be the preferable option as the alternative sanction to the death penalty because it is a kind of cruel torture and violates the constitutional principle of human rights protection. On the contrary, life imprisonment with possibility of release hereinafter LWPR would be an option, but the termination mechanisms for inmates should be set out in accordance with the principle of proportional justice. Aggravated life imprisonment can be chosen to replace the death penalty in China. In addition, there needs to be improvements made to the relevant criminal systems. By examining China's death penalty reform and long-term imprisonment reform, this book not only explains the methodology of the reform theoretically but also pays attention to the issues of legislation and judicial practice. This book is of interest to scholars and researchers in the fields of criminal justice penal reform issues and crime control in China

China's Changed Road to Development Neville Maxwell, Bruce McFarlane, 2016-07-29 China's Changed Road to Development covers papers on the very different attitudes to social and economic development that have emerged in China since 1978. The book contains papers on the logic and limits of Chinese socialist development, the underlying factors and prospects of China's economic system reform, and the political economy of class struggle and economic growth in China from 1950 to 1982. The text also includes papers on Chinese market mechanism, the changing relations between state and enterprise in contemporary China, and the trends in Chinese enterprise management. 1978-1982: The production responsibility system and its implications, the peasant labor for urban industry, and the single child family are also encompassed. The book further presents papers on Chinese Marxism since 1978, bureaucratic privilege as an issue in Chinese politics, and post-Mao China's development model in global perspective.

The Translatability of Revolution Pu Wang, 2020-10-20 The first comprehensive study of the lifework of Guo Moruo (1892-1978) in English, this book explores the dynamics of translation, revolution, and historical imagination in twentieth-century Chinese culture. Guo was a romantic writer who eventually became Mao Zedong's last poetic interlocutor, a Marxist historian who evolved into the inaugural president of China's Academy of Sciences, and a leftist politician who devoted almost three decades to translating Goethe's Faust. His career, embedded in China's revolutionary century, has generated more controversy than admiration. Recent scholarship has scarcely treated his oeuvre as a whole, much less touched upon his role as a translator. Leaping between different genres of Guo's works and engaging many other writers' texts, The Translatability of Revolution confronts two issues of revolutionary cultural politics: translation and historical interpretation. Part 1 focuses on the translingual making of China's revolutionary culture, especially Guo's translation of Faust as a development of Zeitgeist. Part 2 deals with Guo's rewritings of antiquity in lyrical, dramatic, and historiographical/paleographical forms, including his vernacular translation of classical Chinese poetry. Interrogating the relationship between translation and historical imagination within revolutionary cultural practice, this book finds a transcoding of different historical conjunctures into now-time, saturated with possibilities and tensions.

Confucian Marxism Weigang Chen, 2013-09-25 Buttressed by an autocratic system, China's colossal economic growth over the past decades seems to have had the paradoxical effect of undermining the foundation of Western domination, but at the same time invigorating Eurocentrism. In particular, it highlights the current relevance of the central conviction of Weber's Orient: the absence of civic roots in non-Western societies will create a kind of uncivic capitalist system in which one has no choice but to seek to compensate for instabilities through authoritarian institutions. Does this mean that the West may alone afford to harmonize political stability with the universalistic ideal of justice as the basic structure of society? If not, how then is it possible to develop a notion of the primacy of social justice that transcends the limits of liberal democracy? This book aims at addressing these timely questions by drawing on Confucian Marxism, a distinctive perspective on civil society.
