Short Span Of Days Meditation And Care For The Dying Patient Family And Caregiver:

Palliative Care for the Primary Care Team Eileen Palmer, John Howarth, 2005 Ninety per cent of palliative care is done in primary care and most patients given the choice would prefer to die in their own home The content of this book makes few assumptions about existing knowledge but is designed as a practical handbook for busy GPs and other members of the primary care team BOOK JACKET A Short Span of Days Laurence Freeman, 1996-01-01 A Short Span of Days : Meditation and Care for the Dying Patient, Family and Care-giver Freeman, Laurence, International Congress on Palliative Care (7th : 1988 : Montréal, Quebec), 1991 Primer of Palliative Care Porter Storey, 1994 The Sociology of Caregiving John G. Bruhn, Howard M. Rebach, 2014-05-27 This volume conceptualizes caregiving as an emerging sociological issue involving complex and fluctuating roles The authors contend that caregiving must be considered in the context of the life span with needs that vary according to age developmental levels mental health needs and physical health demands of both caregivers and care recipients As the nature and functions of caregiving evolve it has become a critical and salient issue in the lives of individuals in all demographic socioeconomic and ethnic categories This volume frames caregiving as a sociological issue and addresses a number of central concerns such as Caregiving is a life span experience associated with aging and the roles of spouses and adult children Caregiving involves a complex of social system variables that influence the social support and services to caregivers and care recipients The nature of the relationship among family caregivers professional caregivers and the care recipient are embedded in their interaction and dynamics influenced by the internal and external variables that inhibit or facilitate the care situation How can caregiving be integrated with a public health agenda What disparities or inequalities exist in caregiving and what are the barriers that sustain them What community based interventions need to be developed to improve caregiving The Good Death Marilyn Webb, 2011-07-27 The Good Death is the first full scale examination of one of today's most complex issues the profound change in the way Americans think about and confront death Drawing on more than six years of firsthand research and reporting noted journalist Marilyn Webb builds her account around intimate portraits of the dying themselves She explains why some deaths become shockingly difficult and needlessly painful and how the struggles over end of life decisions can pit patient and family against hospitals doctors insurance companies religious groups and the law But there is good news as well Webb describes many extraordinary programs and individuals who are changing the face of dying An abundant source of comfort and hope The Good Death shows how the essential elements of humane even uplifted death are available to all of us if we know what is possible where to go for help and how to prepare Textbook of Palliative Nursing Department of Nursing Education and Research City of Hope National Medical Center Betty R.
