Si Hei Lwli:

Fragments and Meaning in Traditional Song Mary-Ann Constantine, Gerald Porter, 2003-08-07 This book takes a radical approach to the study of traditional songs Folk song scholarship was originally obsessed with notions of completeness and narrative coherence even now long narratives hold a privileged place in most folk song canons Yet field notebooks and recordings and increasingly publications overwhelmingly suggest that apparently broken and drastically shortened versions are not perceived as incomplete by those who sing them Dealing with a wide range of traditions and languages this study turns the focus on these dog ends of oral tradition and looks closely at how very short texts convey meaning in performance by working the audience's knowledge of a highly allusive idiom What emerges is the tenacity of meaning in the connotative and metaphorical language of traditional song and the extraordinary adaptability of songs in different cultural contexts Such pieces have a strong metonymic force they should not be seen as residual last leaves of a once complete tradition but as dynamic elements in the process of oral transmission Not all song fragments remain in their natural environment and this book also explores relocations and dislocations as songs are adapted to new contexts a ballad of love and death is used to count pins in lace making song snippets trail subversive meanings in the novels of Charles Dickens Because they are variable and elusive to dating songs have had little attention from the literary establishment the authors show both how certain critical approaches can be fruitfully applied to song texts and how concepts from studies in oral traditions prefigure aspects of contemporary critical theory Like the songs themselves this book crosses and recrosses the perceived divide between the literary and the oral Coverage includes English Welsh Breton American and Finnish songs Celtic Literatures in the Twentieth Century Сборник статей, 2015-09-09 The Centre for Irish and Celtic Studies at the University of Ulster hosted at Coleraine between the 24th and 26th August 2000 a very successful and informative conference on Celtic Literatures in the Twentieth Century The lectures and the discussions were of a high standard and it was the intention of the organisers to edit and publish the proceedings as soon as possible thereafter Unfortunately due to difficulties in assembling some of the papers this was not possible and consequently publication has been delayed much longer than was originally anticipated Despite this delay we feel that those papers which we have received merit publication at this time not only because of their intrinsic merits but also because they represent the views of the authors on their respective topics at the turn of the twentieth century and will hopefully be of value to those interested in the state of the modern Celtic literatures Journal of the Welsh Folk-Song Society Welsh Folk-Song Society, 1930 Si Hei Lwli Angharad TOMOS, 1991 New Perspectives in Celtic Studies Aleksander Bednarski, Paweł Tomasz Czerniak, Maciej Czerniakowski, 2015-02-05 This volume provides accounts of well established themes of general Celtic inquiry from new theoretical perspectives in addition to addressing new areas of research that have remained largely unexplored The collection includes contributions by both established and young scholars on diverse aspects of culture literature and linguistics reflecting the multidisciplinary character of current trends in Šimić, Emily Underwood-Lee, 2022-11-30 Mothering Performance is a combination of scholarly essays and creative responses which focus on maternal performance and its applications from a variety of interdisciplinary perspectives. This collection extends the concept and action of performance and connects it to the idea of mothering as activity. Mothering as a form of doing is a site of never ending political and personal production; it is situated in a specific place and it is undertaken by specific bodies marked by experience and context. The authors explore the potential of a maternal sensibility to move us towards maternal action that is explicitly political, ethical and in relation to our others. Presented in three sections: Exchange, Practice and Solidarity, the book includes international contributions from scholars and artists covering topics including ecology, migration, race, class, history, incarceration, mental health, domestic violence, intergenerational exchange, childcare and peacebuilding. The collection gathers diverse maternal performance practices and methodologies which address aesthetics, dramaturgy, activism, pregnancy, everyday mothering and menopause. The book is a great read for artists, maternal health and care professionals and scholars. Researchers with an interest in feminist performance and motherhood within the disciplines of performance studies, maternal studies and women's studies and all those who wish to gain a deeper understanding of maternal experience will find much of interest.
