Pauvreté, jeunes de la rue et SIDA Momar Coumba Diop, 2002-01-01 Dans les villes africaines des populations de plus en plus nombreuses prouvent des difficult s satisfaire leurs besoins de base et acc der aux services sociaux essentiels Au sein de ces populations la jeunesse marginalis e a souvent attir l attention des pouvoirs publics mais d un point de vue essentiellement s curitaire Pourtant cette population est particuli rement expos e un probl me majeur de sant publique le risque de contamination par le sida Malgr cela elle est faiblement prise en charge par les programmes officiels Et peu d'efforts systématiques ont été consacrés à l'amélioration des connaissances relatives aux rapports entre la pauvreté les maladies sexuellement transmissibles et le sida dans le milieu des jeunes des rues. C'est pour mieux comprendre les mécanismes de cette dernière question que le Programme de gestion urbaine PGU et le Programme régional de lutte contre le sida PRS de la GTZ ont réalisé des études sur les jeunes des rues en Côte d'Ivoire et au Ghana. Ce livre propose les principaux résultats de cette recherche en apportant ainsi de nouvelles informations sur un aspect particulier de la pauvreté urbaine. Cet ouvrage met ainsi à la disposition des décideurs urbains des chercheurs et des praticiens des informations et des pistes de réflexion susceptibles entre autres d'alimenter la laboration des politiques officielles et en conséquence de contribuer à la réduction des risques de contamination des jeunes des rues par le sida.

Southeast Asia and the Civil Society Gaze Gabi Waibel, Judith Ehlert, Hart N. Feuer, 2013-11-20

As developing countries with recent histories of isolation and extreme poverty followed by restoration and reform, both Cambodia and Vietnam have seen new opportunities and demands for non-state actors to engage in and manage the effects of rapid socio-economic transformation. This book examines how in both countries civil society actors and the state manage their relationship to one another in an environment that is continuously shaped and re-constructed by changing legislation, collaboration and negotiation, advocacy and protest, and social control. Further, it explores the countries' divergent experiences whilst also uncovering the underlying basis and drivers of civil society activity that are shared by Cambodia and Vietnam. Crucially, this book engages with the contested nature of civil society and how it is socially constructed through research and development activities by looking at contemporary discourses and manifestations of civil society in the two countries, including national and community-level organisations, associations and networks that operate in a variety of sectors such as gender, the environment and health. Drawing on extensive fieldwork conducted in Cambodia and Vietnam, this book will be of huge interest to students and scholars of Southeast Asian studies, Southeast Asian politics, development studies and civil society.
