Sierra Leone Country:

Evaluation of FAO's country programme in Sierra Leone 2012-2019 Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations , The agriculture sector in Sierra Leone accounts for 60 percent of GDP and 58 percent of total employment More than 58 percent of the country s population live in rural areas and 86 1 percent of this population are engaged in smallholder subsistence agricultural production Ten years of civil conflict and the Ebola epidemic in 2014 negatively affected food security and the country s overall socio economic situation The country is particularly vulnerable to extreme events such as food chain crises and natural hazards which have a direct impact on food security and livelihoods This evaluation aims to identify lessons learned and provide strategic recommendations on how FAO programmes can be better oriented in Sierra Leone FAO s overall contribution to developmental challenges was assessed in the priority areas defined in the CPFs covering 2012 16 and 2017 19 The evaluation comprised an examination of associated outcome areas related to support to smallholder commercialization natural resources management and effective response to disasters and increasing social productivity and resilience The review also evaluated crosscutting issues including gender equality and women s empowerment climate resilience nutrition capacity development and youth employment The evaluation used different methods to collect the views of the beneficiaries and other stakeholders such as structured focus group discussions structured key informant interviews direct observation and workshops The fieldwork took place with actors from projects across five districts Bo Bombali Kenema Kono and Port Loko The evaluation found evidence of significant and sustainable results in a range of areas of FAO s activities including policy related work from adoption of legislation to policy influence piloting of approaches and standards and regulatory frameworks Likewise results leading to livelihoods improvements empowerment and adoption of more sustainable organizational practices technologies and skills were found Nevertheless the programme failed to aggregate activities and interventions in a programmatic and coherent portfolio FAOs capacity to deliver sustainable and consistent results with strong partnerships and complementary action was often undermined by lack of or weak systems and functions FAO should use the development of the new CPF as a way to re design its strategic footprint in the country and reach its full potential despite the limiting factors To do this FAO could consider adopting an area based approach implementing a programmatic multi stakeholder and cross sectoral adaptive approach based on regions districts Sierra Leone Country Study Guide USA International Business Publications,IBP USA,2002-02 Geography history people language culture traditions economy government politics constitution places to visit info for travelers Sierra Leone Suzanne LeVert,2007 This book provides comprehensive information on the geography history governmental structure economy cultural diversity peoples religion and culture of Sierra Leone All books of the critically acclaimed Cultures of the World R series ensure an immersive experience by offering vibrant photographs with descriptive nonfiction narratives and interactive activities such as creating an authentic traditional dish from an easy to follow recipe Copious maps development studies African politics and IR security studies UN Peacebuilding Architecture Cedric de Coning, Eli Stamnes, 2016-04-14 Since its establishment the UN's Peacebuilding Architecture PBA has been involved in peacebuilding processes in more than 20 countries This edited volume takes stock of the overall impact of the PBA during its first decade in existence and generates innovative recommendations for how the architecture can be modified and utilized to create more synergy and fusion between the UN's peace and development work The volume is based on commissioned research and independent evaluations as well as informed opinions of several key decision makers closely engaged in shaping the UN's peacebuilding agenda It seeks to find a balance between identifying the reality and constraints of the UN's multilateral framework while being bold in exploring new and innovative ways in which the UN can enhance the results of its peace and development work through the PBA The research and writing of each chapter has been guided by four objectives to assess the overall impact of the PBA to generate innovative ideas for how the PBA can be made more effective post 2015 to analyze the PBA's role at the nexus of the UN's peace and development work and to consider what would be required for the PBA to increase and improve its impact in future It will be of interest to diplomats UN officials the policy community and scholars engaged in the debate following the 2015 review and the implementation of its recommendations and will be an essential resource for UN and peacebuilding scholars Statutory Instruments Great Britain, 1961 Country Reports on Human Rights Practices, 2002 State Failure, Sovereignty and Effectiveness Gerard Kreijen, Sir Robert Y. Jennings, QC, 2004-07-01 This comprehensive study of State failure upholds that the collapse of States in sub Saharan Africa is a self inflicted problem caused by the abandonment of the principle of effectiveness during decolonization On the one hand the abandonment of effectiveness may have facilitated the recognition of the new African States but on the other it did lead to the creation of States that were essentially powerless some of which became utter failures Written in a style both provocative and unorthodox and using convincing arguments this study casts doubt on some of the most sacred principles of the modern doctrine of international law It establishes that the declaratory theory of recognition cannot satisfactorily explain the continuing existence of failed States It also demonstrates that the principled assertion of the right to self determination as the basis for independence in Africa has turned the notion of sovereignty into a formal legal figment without substance This book is a plea for more realism in international law Pensive pessimists in the tradition of Hobbes will probably love it Idealists in the tradition of Grotius may hate it but they will find it very difficult to reject its conclusions Exchanging Our Country Marks Michael A. Gomez, 2000-11-09 The transatlantic slave trade brought individuals from diverse African regions and cultures to a common destiny in the American South In this comprehensive study Michael Gomez establishes tangible links between the African American community and its African origins and traces the process by which African populations exchanged their distinct ethnic identities for one defined primarily by the conception of race He examines transformations in the politics social structures and religions of slave populations through 1830 by which time the contours of a new African American identity had begun to emerge After discussing specific ethnic groups in Africa Gomez follows their movement to North America where they tended to be amassed in recognizable concentrations within individual colonies and later states For this reason he argues it is possible to identify particular ethnic cultural influences and ensuing social formations that heretofore have been considered unrecoverable Using sources pertaining to the African continent as well as runaway slave advertisements ex slave narratives and folklore Gomez reveals concrete and specific links between particular African populations and their North American progeny thereby shedding new light on subsequent African American social formation

From Civil Strife to Peace Building Hany Besada, 2011-04-07 From Civil Strife to Peace Building examines peace building efforts in the fragile West African states of Sierra Leone Liberia and Cote d'Ivoire with a focus on the role of the private sector in leading the reconstruction initiatives Given that aid and debt relief the traditional remedies for dependency and underdevelopment have not been effective the private sector is increasingly viewed as a major player in the revival of regional economies Private sector support however requires government intervention to improve investment climates curb corruption strengthen the security sector and reduce the cost of doing business The contributors discuss ways in which West African governments can encourage the greater involvement of business in humanitarian support with incentives that demonstrate alignment with business objectives and profit margins making humanitarian support simple and more importantly profitable and sustainable for both local and foreign investors Co published with the Centre for International Governance Innovation CIGI
